Rotary Fellowship Awarded Waser To Study In Norway

Charles D. Waser, 126 West Donegal street, has been awarded a Graduate Fellowship from the Rotary Foundation of Rotary International for the 1974-'75 academic year.

He plans to study mathematical sociology at the University of Bergen, Bergen, Norway.

Waser, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Donald Waser, and a 1970 honor graduate of Donegal high school, obtained his degree in mathematics at Elizabethtown college, graduating in 1973.

He is one of a very few academically outstanding Donegal seniors who have been granted the privilege of taking at this time, is provisional, awaiting final acceptance at Bergen university, and language requirements.

In the meantime, Waser is employed at the David Martin store in Elizabethtown, where he worked during his Elizabethtown collegedays, and next semester he plans to take part-time Temple university courses.

One of more than 700 young men and women who recently received educational awards from the Rotary Foundation, Waser was sponsored by the Rotary club of Mount Joy. Dr. David E. Schlosser is president of the club.

The Rotary Foundation was created by Rotary International to provide educational and vocational study programs for qualified young people in countries other than their own. Award recipients strive for academic excellence while serving as ambassadors of good will through contacts with Rotary clubs and others in the host country.

The Foundation award covers costs of round-trip transportation, tuition, meals, lodging, intensive language training, and educational travel during the year abroad. Mitchell Albert and Richard Heisey have been other recent recipients of Rotary Graduate Fellowships.

The Foundation is supported by contributions from individual Rotarians and Rotary clubs throughout the world. Since 1947, more than 5,900 young men and women have pursued studies in a new cultural environment.

Delay Ice Alley Decision

Whether or not to close Ice alley continues an unanswered question!

Although action was expected on Monday, Nov. 19, and borough council held a special meeting for that purpose, the matter was tabled until Dec. 10.

Two principal parties involved in the proposed closing of the alley did not appear at the meeting and neither communicated with the council.

Lancaster Leaf Tobacco company is asking for the use of the land and the Mount Joy Co-op is a party related to the proposal. But, whether the farmers' organization will join in a petition to close the alley, will oppose the closing or will take no stand at all remains the principal unanswered question.

The matter of vacating the thoroughfare has been before the council of many months and the feeling this week is that on December 10 - the monthly meeting - council will attempt to finally resolve the matter.

At the Nov. 19th meeting, council applied to the county for a delay in accepting $2,000 of highway funds. A total of $4,300 was available for 1973 but only $2,300 had been used.

The request is to accept the remainder in its 1974 allocation.

FORESEE NO REAL ESTATE TAX HIKE IN MOUNT JOY BORO'S '73 BUDGET

Mount Joy Borough's 1974 budget - the tax rate and the expenditures - are in the making!

Although final passage of the new budget ordinance, setting or rates etc. is not expected until late in December, borough councilmen have held several meetings in November, attempting to forge an acceptable financial pattern for '74.

Late last week, about the only part of the total picture which was certain was that no change in real estate tax is planned.

However, the borough does have other sources of income which are set by ordinance.

Budget making includes certain steps - preparation, first draft, official presentation, acceptance, a waiting period for public inspection and, finally, official adoption.

The entire procedure must be completed - by law - prior to the end of December.

First draft - not a public presentation - was to have been ready on Thursday of last week.

Senior Class To Give Play Friday And Saturday Nights

The grim future of George Orwell's "1984" is the setting for Donegal high school's senior class play, to be given Friday and Saturday evenings, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1, in the high school auditorium.

Curtain time is 8 p.m.

Trapped in a web of governmental regulations, which control thought, and language, two young people, played by Jay Kopp and Cindy Miller, try to find love and freedom under the ever-watchful eyes of the party leader, "Big Brother," whose voice is that of David Arnold.

The young people struggle to maintain their convictions of freedom as they watch their comrades (Suzanne Meter and Diane Gilchrist) being dragged away to suffer the ultimate crime of "thoughtcrime."

With the aid of O'Brien (Jonathan Bridgette), an inner party member who they believe is a fellow conspirator, the two lovers plan their marriage and their involvement in the Brotherland, a secret organization devoted to the overthrow of the party.

Post Office Birthday

A birthday - a very unusual birthday -- will be marked in Mount Joy on Saturday, Dec. 1!

The occasion is the 155th anniversary of the establishment of a post office in Mount Joy.

According to official government records - copies of which recently were received by Joseph Schaeffer, former postmaster, - the office was established December 1, 1818, and Okey Hendrickson was postmaster.

Schaeffer, who is one of the town's most avid historians, has had a long-standing hobby of collecting things and information about Mount Joy and the immediate area.

Because he was a part of the postal service here for many years, rising from a substitute clerk to become until only recently the postmaster, he has combined his interests and is now accumulating information concerning the local post office.

The government lists the following postmasters and the dates they assumed office:

Okey Hendrickson	December 1, 1818;
James Laird	June 6, 1837;
Okey Hendrickson,	May 8, 1841;

Since August 24, 1973, Gerald Hostetter has been postmaster. He had been named officer in charge of the local office July 1, 1972, when Schaeffer retired. Like his predecessor, Hostetter began his postal service employment as a substitute (April of 1950).
