Invitation*To Brides and Bridegrooms

Following what might well be termed a "liberated" approach to wedding pictures, the Bulletin is inviting young couples to submit for publication photos which include both the bride and the bridegroom.

In the past it has been traditional that only the bride's picture is used in newspaper accounts of the wedding.

Because the bridegroom is as much a part of the occasion as is the bride, we will accept a picture which includes both young people.

Pictures must be of studio quality in black and white to use with the normal account of the wedding.

Ground Broken By P.P. & L.
For Substation on Road 230

Ground has been broken at the east edge of Mount Joy for a new P.P.&L. substation.

Located along the south side of Road 230, east of the Little Chiques creek bridge, the site is between the highway and the Penn Central railroad.

High-voltage power will enter the site along a new line which follows the railroad form the east. Lowered voltage will be fed into the local system on existing lines along Road 230.

The new installation, known as a 138,000 KW station, will be very similar to the P.P. & L. substation located just south of Donegal high school along Road 141.
