TEN CENTS

Mount Joy Borough Council is considering the possibility of marking Apply Alley, a one-way thoroughfare. The proposal is to allow only traffic traveling west from Jacob to Manheim.

One of the problems is at Apple and Market, at the fire house corner.

Council is interested to know what the public's reaction is to such a proposal.

Also under consideration is a proposal to make Patterson alley one way south.

The borough, apparently, has tapped two first rate water wells west of town along Donegal Springs road. One - drilled last summer - has been tested and will produce about 500 gallons per minute. The other, which is about 165 feet deep, has been tested for about 650 g-p-m.

That is more than a million and a half gallons per day, if the tests hold up over a long period. Ratings were established on a 24-hour test program.

Next step in the water development program is to harness the two, tie them together, provide water treatment necessary and finally to pipe the water to a

by the editor's wife

Perched high in a tree in one of Hershey's most attractive residential areas, a big white Owl has been a sight seeing attraction for several weeks.

Nicknamed "Charlie" by his friends in the neighborhood who enjoyed watching him, the white owl would sit for hours very quietly on an upper limb of a tall tree. He would change trees occasionally, but always in the same general area. Sometimes he would be gone for a few hours, but he always came back to his "home" neighborhood.

We had a good look at him one afternoon. From our

The Donegal high school music department will present Lerner and Loewe's musical fantasy "Brigadoon," on March 28, 29 and 30, at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

A cast of about 60 will sing and dance through this delightful musical about an 18th century Scottish town Brigadoon, which magically appears for one day every one-hundred years. Two vacationing Americans, Jeff Douglas and Tommy Albright, played by Steve Hassinger and Keith Smith, accidentally stumble upon the quaint little village and become quickly enmeshed in the antiquated charm of these Scottish people.

Romance ensues when Tommy meets a pretty and captivating Scottish lassie named Fiona MacLaren, played by Gloria Longenecker.

Other cast members are: Timothy Eshleman, Newton Kendig, Donald Witman,

Mount Joy's Betty Groff Honored At Authors' Party Monday At Hotel Hershey

Mrs. Betty Groff, who, with her husband, Abram, has made Groff's Farm on Pinkerton Road internationally famous for superb Pennsylvania Dutch food, was one of four authors honored Monday night at a reception and dinner party held at the Hotel Hershey.

Mrs. Groff's book, "Good Earth and Country Cooking," has just been released by Stackpole Books, a publishing company based in Harrisburg, which was host for the party. Clyde Peters, general manager of Stackpole Books, was master of ceremonies.

Approximately 200 people attended the reception in the Fountain Lobby of the Hotel and the buffet dinner following in the main dining room. The menu, prepared by the Hotel Hershey chef, included several delicious recipes from Mrs. Groff's book.

Special guests for the evening included, besides the author and her husband, their two sons; Charles, 16, and John, 12, and Mrs. Groff's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Herr of Ronks, R1, near Strasburg.

At the informal reception before the dinner, a surprise presentation of a brand new cornet was made to Mrs.

Groff, the gift of her parents, to replace one she has played since high school days often entertaining her guests at Groff's Farm with special numbers for birthday or anniversary occasions. After graciously acknowledging the gift, Mrs. Groff played the new horn and led the guests in the singing of her father's favorite song, "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Other authors honored included W. Franklin Moshier, whose book "The Alice Faye Movie Book," has also just been released; John Scarne for his book, "Scarne on Dice," and Edward Bernard Glick, with his book, "Between Israel and Death."

Guests at the dinner received autographed copies of all four books.

Program for the evening included an amazing slight-of-hand performance with playing cards by Mr. Scarne,

One of an unusually large number of father and son business combinations in Mount Joy, they have been working together for many years.
