

Rotarians To Attend Annual District 739 Conference

As many as a score or more members of the Mount Joy Rotary club and their wives, headed by President David E. Schlosser, are expected to attend sessions of the organization's 60th annual district conference.

To be held April 26 and 27 at Harrisburg, the conclave will include representatives from most major cities and communities in central Pennsylvania, comprising Rotary District 739.

Official hosts will be George Reimer of New Cumberland, District Governor, and Robert J. Delaney of Harrisburg, conference chairman.

Between five and six hundred Rotarians and their wives are expected to attend sessions. There will be sightseeing and fashion shows for the ladies and golfing and tennis, as extra activities, for the men.

Council Sifts Applicants For New Boro Manager

Selection of a new borough manager for Mount Joy to fill the place left by the resignation of George Ulrich, is not yet, but is nearing!

From a field of approximately 300 applicants, the Borough Council is making its first winnowing - choosing and discarding.

Three formal meetings of the council's selection committee have been held, the most recent on Wednesday night, April 10.

Until about two weeks or 10 days ago there had been relatively few applications but by early last week the number had swelled to about a score.

At present, councilmen are anticipating that there probably will be an interval of two or three months between the time Manager Ulrich leaves, on April 26, until a new man can be selected and finally installed.

It was revealed last week that at least one applicant is a Mount Joy resident.

It has been asked, "How are applicants attracted to seek the job?" One of the principal sources for finding qualified possible managers is through advertising in trade publications which are circulated to municipalities across the country. These magazines normally print numerous advertisements by boroughs, towns, cities, townships and other who are in need of trained people to administer at various levels of government.

Ulrich, after serving Mount Joy for nearly three years, has resigned to accept a position with a township at the edge of Sharon, Pa.

Mayor to Hear Citizen Concerns

Continuing his series of open-door, faceto-face talks with citizens who may have problems, Mayor James A. Ginrich will be at the borough building Friday night of this week.

He will be available between 7 and 8:30 p.m. to talk with any person who has a matter of concern which involves Mount Joy Borough.

Study Apple Tree Alley Traffic

How to comfortably handle traffic on Apple Tree alley long has been one of the worrisome problems of Mount Joy borough.

Although no decision has been made, one of the proposals being given serious consideration by borough Council proposes a "No Entrance" arrangement at Market street.

One of the principal problem spots is at the "fire house" corner, where on occasion traffic is disrupted as vehicles attempting to enter and exit come into conflict.

The proposal being studied would prohibit either left or right turns off Market onto Apple Tree Alley. But, any traffic originating at any point on the alley either west or east of that point may exit there.

At its monthly meeting on April 8, council voted to make Patterson alley traffic one-way south and "Sloan's" alley, one way north. Both alleys are only one block long from Main to Apple Tree Alley.

Borough Enacts New Bicycle Law Amendment at Special Session

Meeting in special session Monday night, April 15, Mount Joy Borough Council passed on final reading an amendment to the town's bicycle law.

Basically, the amendment provides that bicycle fees and registration shall be on a two-year cycle instead of a one-year basis, as in the past.

Only question raised to the amendment passage was whether or not bike riders must carry with them, at all times, their registration certificates.

It was explained that actual possession is not the important feature of the action. What was viewed as important is that the bicycle rider be able within 48 hours after being asked - to show that he did have a registration as required by the ordinance.

Council, for an hour, heard arguments concerning whether or not to approve proposed sub-division plans submitted by Jones & Zink for a development south of Donegal road and west of Market avenue, to be known as Pennsbury Manor.

Although other items were involved, the matter of how drainage of surface water from the area is to be handled was the major problem.

Engineers have provided that water from the development area be discharged through a drain under Donegal Springs road - as it presently does - but through a larger pipe.

Objections have been raised to the amount of water which will flow onto two vacant lots on the south side of Donegal Springs road and then flow farther down the drain pattern.

The matter was tabled for further study.

The public Utilities Commission has notified the borough that a hearing will be held Thursday, May 23, in the county court house concerning the railroad bridges over the Penn Central tracks which are
