In other business Monday night:
—Council accepted three bids for the installing of a new heating system at the Florin Fire company building. Low bid was by the Roy Ressler company of Mountville at $8,627. The matter was placed in the hands of the borough engineer for review and for report at the next council meetings.
—Council expressed a concern about "The Meadows" development at the east edge of town along Road 230. Handling of surface water is one principal concern. A proposal is to use holding ponds to release water slowly toward Little Chiques creek was questioned and it was decided to ask for a meeting with Rapho township supervisors to discuss what may be a mutual problem. State agencies already are involved, it was said.

that this is a good time for Mount Joy to do something for itself.

Whether or not it needs it or wants it, we can't say, but it would be mighty fine if Mount Joy had a flag of its own. And, the borough should have a seal of its own.

This is not our idea, but came from George Ulrich, until a few weeks ago, the town's first borough manager.

We don't know what a borough flag or a borough seal should look like, but we can imagine both would show a ship as part of the design.

Come to think of it, if Mount Joy and Marietta both had flags, wouldn't they look good as part of the band front of the Donegal high school marching band?

Maybe someone — the borough or some patriotic organization — would be interested in sponsoring an effort to design flag and seal.

More about the albino squirrel — Last week we mentioned an all-white squirrel which "lived in the neighborhood of St. Luke's Episcopal church".

It turns out that the little fellow actually lives in an elm tree on the property of Mr. and

Mrs. Warren Heisey.

The Heiseys have watched the very unusually colorless animal for several weeks and report that the albino and some of his littermates are "very tame" and frisk, frolic and caper with abandon in their yard.

5 more ways to Save on your phone bill (Part 4)

16. The time at the calling point determines the applicable rate period for long distance calls. Save money on these calls, including Overseas calls, by referring to your call guide in the front of your telephone directory for the most economical rate period.

17. Want to avoid excessive long distance charges in general? Try timing your calls, so you can "say it all" without overtime charges. To help you, just jot down the things you would like to discuss.

18. Before you place a long distance call to a business, check to see if they have a toll-free number. You can recognize it because it has an 800 prefix instead of a regular area code. If they have one, it's usually displayed in their advertising, or you may find it listed in your own local telephone directory. If so, the call's on them, and you save.

19. The information pages at the front of your local telephone book are a good source for tips on how to place your calls and how to save time and money in using your telephone. Look in the book, and save.

20. If a coin phone takes your money but doesn't give you your call, you're, of course, entitled to a refund. Just find a phone that works, dial "Operator" and tell her what happened. We'll send you a refund in the mail. (We'd also appreciate it if you'd tell the operator the telephone number and location of the phone that's out of order so we can get it fixed as soon as possible.)
