—EDITORIAL—

Many people, apparently, continue to blame the press for "Watergate".

Everything from "the press made it up" to "the press stirred it up" is said even now that the Watergate mess is supposed to be "behind us".

What is certain is that the press did not cause the situation which is now known and identified as "Watergate."

The press did not break into the national headquarters of the Democratic party. The press did not twist anyone's arm to raise political contributions illegally. The press did not manipulate to cover up the mess. The press did not use government to assert power for power's sake.

What the press did was to report — perhaps with sometimes too much unrelenting pressure — the facts which finally were proved.

And, by so doing, the media fulfilled one of the highest functions for which the press exists — to protect the public from its own government and to inform the people about its government.

It is because of these two functions that the press does have certain privileges and enjoys certain status.

Two years or more ago, Watergate was the name of a Washington, D.C. building complex in which the Democratic party had its national headquarters. Before that, watergate referred to various kinds of "gates" for handling the flow of water.

But, as of now, "Watergate" stands for the abuse of power, shady manipulations in government, crafty secrecies and flim-flams within government which in the long run cost the taxpayers money.

THE Mayor Reports

I would like to comment on the behavior of our children through the past Halloween weeks. It certainly gives one a feeling of pride to be able to drive through Mount Joy and see that the citizens of our borough were providing their porch lights for our small children's safety Halloween night. I thank you for your efforts and concern.

There have been times when the police find stray dogs. If you have lost your pet, I would suggest that you call the police department. This would help eliminate taking these animals to the dog shelter.

I would like to mention again that some of our citizens still want to get involved. We had an incident, where some of our young people witnessed, a hit and run accident. It sure is good to know that people will report these incidents to our department and take the responsibility of being involved.

There were concerned citizens asking to verify our curfew hours. They are as follows - Sunday thru Thursday, 10:00 p.m. to 6:00 a.m. - Friday and Saturday, 11:00 p.m. to 6:00 a.m. - up to the age of 18 years old. If there are any questions regarding this I would appreciate hearing from you.

A reminder—I will be in the borough office Nov. 22nd., if there are any citizens having problems that need to be discussed I urge you to come in between 7 and 8:30 p.m.

Dates to remember: Zoning Board Hearing - November 20th Borough Council Mtg. - December 9th

Dr. Pierce Getz To Give Concert With Brass Group

Dr. Pierce Getz, director of the Concert Choir and professor of organ at Lebanon Valley College, will join with four students of the school in a Sunday afternoon recital on Nov. 24, at 4 o'clock in the sanctuary of St. Mark's United Methodist Church.

Rodney Miller and Robert Meashey, trumpeters, and Stephen Hoy and Robert Yinger, trombonists, will share in a program of music representative of the 17th, 18th and 20th centuries.

The brass quartet and organ will perform Johann Pezel's "Sonata No. 2 in F Major" and Giovanni Gabrieli's "Canzona in the Seventh Tone." Organ and brass will play a three part work by the contemporary

Young Hunter Gets Two for One

While hunting with his father in Cameron county, 13-year-old Mike Zeller shot a gray squirrel and a black squirrel with one shell.

Earlier in the season he shot a fox squirrel and a red squirrel. We wonder how many other Penna. hunters ever accomplished this.

composer, Vaclav Nelhybel. There will be two selections for trumpet and organ: "Voluntary in C Major" by Henry Purcell and Johann Ludwig Krebs' setting of "Blessed Jesus, We Are Here."

Dr. Getz's solo work will include "Prelude and Fugue in E Minor" by Nicolaus Bruhns, "Fantasia" on 'How Lovely Shines the Morning Star' by Dietrich Buxtehude, "Two Chorale Preludes" from the 'Organelbuchlein' by Johann Sebastian Bach, "Carillon" by Leo Sowerby, "Theme and Variations" by Jean Langlais, and — in conclusion — "Allegro (Finale of Symphony No. 1) by Louis Vierne.

The congregation will join the organ and the brass quartet in the singing of "Now Thank We All Our God."

The concert is an endeavor on the part of the worship commission of the church to bring the best of good music to the Mount Joy Community. The public is cordially invited. No admission charge; a freewill offering.
