Susquehanna bicentennial

by Hazel Crankshaw
 Area organizations and churches will be contacted in an effort to have each group represented at next week's meeting of the Susquehanna Bicentennial Committee. The time has come for making definite plans and setting up committees, and it is hoped that the community will be well represented at the meeting scheduled for April 14, at 7:30 p.m. at the Marietta Community House.

Overall plans were discussed at the April 3rd meeting, but definite decisions will not be made until the area organizations are given the opportunity to participate in the planning.

The Committee is comprised of members from Marietta, Maytown and East Donegal Township, and plans for the bicentennial celebration will include the entire area.
