Lucy Haines continues the fight for a safe bridge over the Chiques

Mrs. Lucy Haines continued her fight last Thursday for improving the bridge over the Chiques Creek on Route 230 at the east edge of Mount Joy.

Mrs. Haines had invited everyone to come to bridge on Thursday to see for themselves how dangerous it was for pedestrians and bicyclists, especially children. She had sent personal invitations to Rep. Brandt and Sen. Manbeck.

The only official to show up was Mount Joy Borough Manager Joseph Bateman.

Mrs. Haines had also invited parents to bring their children. As an incentive the children were treated to free "slushies" at the Twin Kiss across the bridge.

One thousand slushies were handed out, but little attention was paid to the bridge.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Haines maintained a lonely vigil on the western side of the bridge, taking a traffic count of 2193 vehicles passing in a two-hour period.
