Guests at buffet table

Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Stokley

Doris Asleson becomes Mrs. Blaine Stokley

Are outdoor weddings becoming the thing to do?

Locally, there have been two in the last couple weeks.

Two weeks ago Deborah Kelly was married to James Reuter in an outdoor ceremony at Donegal Church, and this past Saturday Doris Asleson was married to Blaine ("Gus") Stokley outdoors near Marietta.

Rain is the most obvious possible interference with having an outdoor wedding, and it almost spoiled the Reuter wedding on June 7.

But the Stokley wedding was performed under sunny skies, a pretty, happy, relaxed occasion.

After the ceremony, there was good food (barbecued chicken), drink, and companionship for all the genial guests — on a spacious lawn near the site of the marriage rite.

(Editorial comment: The Bulletin thinks outdoor weddings are great.)

For your own rights and protection, please contact your State Legislatures and find out about these bills, and urge them to pass them.
We all know we need more laws and more laws are badly needed by Mobile Park residents, and the only way to help ourselves is through the people we elect to pass these bills. We hope to help ourselves if we want fair treatment, and better living conditions.
