People insure against floods

Residents of East Donegal Township, Marietta, Mount Joy Borough, and Mount Joy Township are all eligible for Federal Flood Insurance.

The third anniversary of the Agnes Flood is a convincing time of the year to be reminded of the possibly great benefits that could be derived from flood insurance.

Hurricanes, such as Agnes, are most likely to occur from June through September.

Coverage up to $35,000 is available for single-family homes and up to $100,000 for other residential buildings. Coverage up to $10,000 is available on contents of residential buildings.

Flood insurance can be obtained through any local property or casualty insurance representative.

Will children lose $60,000?

In the future, pupils in Donegal schools may not get the special training in reading which they have been receiving.

The reason they might lose this special training is because of the lack of interest shown by their parents.

The federal government, which has been contributing $60,000 to pay for the special training in the Donegal school, insists that parents participate fully in planning the program.

But at a meeting last Tuesday for parents of children in the program - only one parent was present. Parents could have suggested changes, other uses for the $60,000.

But because of their lack of interest, their children might lose the benefits of the federal money.
