Balt named to museum committee

A local man, Joseph R. Balt of Maytown, Pa., has been appointed to the Museum and Exhibitions Committee of the National Association of Watch and

Clock Collectors, Inc., by N.A.W.C.C National President Evers Hushman at the Association's National Convention held in Cleveland, Ohio recently. The N.A.W.-

C.C. has its National Office and Museum in Columbia, PA.

Mr. Balt received National acclaim after restoring the famous David Rittenhouse Astronomical Clock at the Pennsylvania Hospital in Philadelphia. The clock was under construction for about 6 years, while he had to make many broken and missing parts.

It was made in the 1760's by David Rittenhouse, who was our Nation's first and foremost astronomer and the first director of the U.S. Mint in Philadelphia and for whom Rittenhouse Square is named.
