

Donegal Band tunes up at camp

by Hazel Baker

The band at attention

Approximately 150 Donegal High School band members, personnel, chaperones and directors attended the third annual band camp at Gettysburg College last week. New routines, drills and practice sessions under the direction of Glen Leib filled the hours from 7a.m. until 9:30p.m. daily.

The band also had free time for swimming, ping pong or rest periods from the schedule. Albert Sako, drill master from West Chester, was guest instructor. His daughter Helena assisted with the drills as did Debbie Myers or Elizabethtown, and Arthur Bachman of Mount Joy, a former drum major. A demonstration of what the group learned was presented Saturday morning.
