Wivells tour South America

by Hazel Baker

An East Donegal Township mother and daughter spent their summer in South America.

Pam Wivell, a Donegal High School sophomore, spent four months in Brazil visiting her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ranch. While on the South American continent she attended the American School of Recefi and stayed at the unit house where her relatives are administrators of a government-sponsored project. While a guest of her sister, Pam traveled inland visiting 16 to 20 couples who are volunteers with the above plan.

Mrs. Clyde Wivell joined 19 Americans in Miami airport and flew to South America on a church-sponsored tour. Mrs. Wivell met officials, ministers and leaders of rural and urban communities in Chile. The group visited in all types of homes where owners were affiliated with a church.

The tourists were housed in a 16th century monastery where they slept on straw mattresses. In Chile they were rocked in their beds by a horizontal earthquake. A horizontal eruption is considered not as damaging as a vertical one.

"An emotional experience", according to Mrs. Wivell, was an Umbanda Spiritualistic Service where 500 followers classify victims as to their evil spirits. Rituals are performed to cast out the evil in this new movement. The participants are charged a fee for transferring evils to "workers".

A Lutheran Church Women's Seminar, fishing villages and a boat trip were also highlights of the journey.

Mrs. Wivell, terminated her tour in Recefi, Brazil where she was met by members of her family and saw her grandson for the first time.

TRUSSES

Surgery, of course, is the accepted treatment for all types of hernia.

There are times, however, when physicians find surgery counter-indicated for one reason or another.

The solution then becomes a properly selected and well fitted TRUSS.
