

7-WAYS TO CUT HOME HEATING COSTS

...No matter how you heat your home!

Energy is money. Big money as far as home heating is concerned... whether it's by oil, gas, electricity or coal. So, here's how to save. Seven ways, starting now.

INSULATE!

Insulating an uninsulated home can reduce fuel bills up to 50 per cent. Even if you have insulation, do you have enough? Fact is, today's higher energy costs often justify adding more.

Your insulation should be at least 3½ inches thick in the walls and 8 inches thick in the attic.

USE YOUR FIREPLACE WISELY

Don't let household heat go up the fireplace chimney. Always make sure the damper is closed when not in use. Also, don't use your fireplace to help heat your home if the difference between inside and outside temperature is more than 30 degrees. If you do, you may lose more heat from your house than you gain from the open fire.

ADD STORM WINDOWS AND DOORS

Storm sash and doors can cut heat losses through windows and doors in half. And, just like adding insulation, this is an investment that can pay for itself.

ADJUST THAT THERMOSTAT

Set thermostat no higher than 68 degrees during the day and lower it a few degrees at bedtime. Generally, for each degree you can reduce the setting you'll be saving about 3 per cent. Also, if you can, lower heat or turn it off in rooms seldom used.

SEAL THOSE CRACKS

Don't throw heating dollars to the wind. Caulk or weatherstrip for a tight seal around windows, doors and foundation sills.

KEEP HEATING SYSTEM IN TIP-TOP SHAPE

With warm-air heat, clean or replace furnace filters at regular intervals. Some blower motors or water circulating pumps may require a drop or two of oil at the start of each heating season. Vacuum-clean registers, baseboard units or radiators. Even a thin layer of dust can impair heat radiating ability. For top efficiency in fuel-fired systems, don't forget the recommended cleanings and adjustments by your serviceman.

MAKE DRAPERIES FUNCTIONAL

Insulated drapes help hold heat in, cold out. Draw your drapes at night... open them on sunny days to take advantage of heat from the sun.

Remember, energy is money. Plan for home heating savings now.

An Energy Saving Message From

Visitation for Job's Daughters

On Wednesday, October 22, Bethel #15, Elizabethtown, of the International Order of Job's Daughters will hold its Grand Visitation. During this special meeting of the Bethel Ms. Jacqueline Steele of Latrobe, Grand Guardian of All Job's Daughters in the State of Pennsylvania, will be present to observe and to meet the daughters. She will be accompanied by the Associate Grand Guardian, Mr. G. Clayton Seaman. During their terms in office, the Grand Guardian and Associate Grand Guardian of Pennsylvania visiting each of the 15 Bethels in this state.

One of the highlights of this visitation will be the initiation and reception of three new members. Eligibility for membership into Job's Daughters is based on Masonic relationship. Girls desiring to join this organization must be between the ages of twelve and eighteen and must be related to a Master Mason in good standing.

Bethel #15 is a small but active group of Job's daughters. In addition to regular meetings held twice each month, some of the many social activities on their fall calendar include: a slumber party, a hoagie sale, a rollerskating party, a mystery supper, a Halloween get together, and numerous charitable projects.

'DARE,' the word for readers

The Donegal Elementary School Reading Program, under the direction of Linda Boozer, has started DARE (Donegal Adventures Reading Program). Under DARE awards will be given for excellence in reading.

Symbol for DARE is the "Wonder Worm".

Tutor training classes started today at 9 a.m. in the Farm and Home Center in Lancaster. Workshops will run every Wednesday morning from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Applications for people with two years of college may be obtained from Mrs. Boozer.

Workshops for parents of preschoolers will begin at Grandview on October 27 at 7:30 p.m. for parents in the Mount Joy area, and at Maytown, 7:30 p.m., November 3 for parents in the Maytown-Marietta area.

There will be a Right to Read Task Force meeting, October 7, at 7:30 in the Grandview Building.
