Girl Scouts at Happy Valley

On October 10, 11, and 12, 1975, Girl Scout Junior Troop #32, Penn Laurel Council, Mount Joy went camping at "Happy Valley" in Gettysburg, Pa. Happy Valley is an established Girl Scout Camp for the Penn Laurel Council.

The girls enjoyed a "hobo" hike, working on badges, singing in the out-of-doors and making cherry pies over an open fire with pie irons.

The girls also worked on Needleguild items in October for the Needleguild Tea.

Troop #32 held a bake and food sale to help support the troop's activities.

A Halloween party was held on October 27.

Girls are now working on badges and looking forward to selling girl scout calendars.

by Pauline E. Miller

Mr. and Mrs. Phares Miller, Elizabethtown, R.D. and Mr. and Mrs. Martin K. Miller, Mount Joy spent sixteen days in the states of the Northwest. The Miller brothers are employed by Wolgemuth Bros., Inc., Mount Joy. Leaving October 10, they travelled to Sno Shoe and took Route 180 west to Chicago and Route 94 to Madison, Wisconsin and to Rochester, Minnesota.

They visited the Robert Brubakers' and their sons' farms. These families have moved to Minnesota from Pennsylvania. The Millers also saw the farming area around Minnesota.

From there, the journey led to North Dakota and into rugged Montana. Here small grain and some corn is raised and much of the land is used for grazing. Many cattle, antelope, sheep, partridges, mule deer, eagles, magpies and jackrabbits were seen. Thousands of wild geese make their home in Rochester Park and afford an unusual sight.

The Montana Bible Institute, where Harold Longenecker (formerly from Lancaster County) is president, was visited by the Millers. They also observed a Hutterite Colony.

The beautiful full moon shone over Miles City and before long the travelers were on their way to the home of the guide for the mule deer hunt on a 3000 acre ranch. They were welcomed by a hospitable couple.

The Miller brothers were scheduled for a two day hunt October 21 and 22. They were allowed two deer apiece. Two buck and two doe were shot. The wives attended the meeting of the Montana Cowbells with their hostess and heard about the problems of ranchers.

The skies became threatening and the Millers were advised to move their car out the ten-mile dirt lane near the main road. Thousands of sandhill cranes flew over, heading for a different climate.

The hunters were hampered a bit because of snow falling the second day of their outing, but Phares was fortunate to shoot an 8 point buck before the evening. Needless to say, the brothers were happy to have these trophies to transport eastward to Pennsylvania as a taste treat for family and friends.

And of course the Millers have many photographs of the beautiful scenery as souvenirs of their trip.
