Annual dinner at Glossbrenner

The Annual Congregational Dinner of Glossbrenner United Methodist Church, Mount Joy, will be held Thursday, November 6, 6:30 p.m., in the Fellowship Hall. Over 300 persons will gather for this social event on the church calendar. Thirty-seven hostesses have extended personal invitations to members and friends of the congregation and will perform their duties at the dinner.

The Congregational Dinner this year will launch

Glossbrenner's participation in our nation's bicentennial observance. A slide presentation under the direction of Richard Peifer, chairman of the church's bicentennial committee, will share the local church heritage. Glossbrenner Church dates back to 1839, and the congregation had the first church building in Lancaster County among the former United Brethren in Christ Church. Glossbrenner Church is also "The Mother Church" of all former United Brethren

Churches in northwestern Lancaster County.

The Annual Church Conference will also be included in the program of the evening when several church officials for 1976 will be elected.

The ladies of St. Mark's United Methodist Church will prepare and serve the dinner. Persons from Chiques United Methodist Church will staff the nursery.
