

Jas. Warfel in Marines

James E. Warfel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Warfel of West Main Street, Mount Joy, left for boot camp at Paris Island on October 31.

The new Marine will be in training for 11 weeks.

Warfel is a 1975 graduate of D.H.S. He attended Mount Joy Vo-tech.

Sue Bender sells some Armstrong stock

Nanette Sue Bender, Donegal High School senior and president of the Junior Achievement Bicentennial Company, "Liberty Inspired," sold a share of stock in the company last week to Maurice J. Warnock (seated), chairman of the board of Armstrong Cork Company, which is sponsoring "Liberty Inspired."

Stephen J. Senkowski, J.A. advisor from Armstrong's Marietta Ceiling Plant stands to the right of Ms. Bender.

Also present at the sale was Douglas G. Boyd, executive director of Junior Achievement in Lancaster County.

The bicentennial notebook held by Ms. Bender will be sold by members of her company.

Mt. Joy Welcome Wagon visits at Schock

Twice a month, the ladies of the Welcome Wagon visit the Schock Home in Mount Joy. On one of the monthly visits, they just visit and run errands for guests at the home. The other visit involves a craft project. Photo shows Ruth Moore (standing) showing Grace Ann Hahn, Anna Andes and Ester Ladenberger how to make decorated pencil holders for tin cans.

Town dwellers visit Elmer Myers dairy farm

As part of the Lancaster County Farmer's Association's program to help consumers understand what farming is about, nine county farmers invited people to visit their operations last week. Photo above shows the crowd in Elmer Myers' milking parlor last Sunday afternoon.

The ultra-modern milking system features a merry-go-round of stanchions to speed milking. Mr. Myers mixed with the tourists and passed out booklets to the children.
