

Dr. Schlosser to play organ

Dr. David E. Schlosser the well known organist of St. Luke's Episcopal Church Mount Joy, and Ms. Lois Anderson Stein, formerly of Lancaster and a new resident of North Berwick, Maine, will give an Advent-Christmas Concert in St. Luke's on Sunday, Dec. 14, at 7:00 p.m.

Lois Anderson Stein was born in Leacock and began her singing career at the age of six when she took part in a Sunday school pageant. Following high school graduation, she went on to study with B. Robert Tilberg, winner of the Tetrastini Award in Rome, and baritone member of the Opera Comique in Paris. In 1952, she performed Gian Carle Menetti's opera, "The Telephone", at the first concert of the Lancaster Opera Workshop. She later studied with the Metropolitan Opera's Irene Williams.

Ms. Stein has held guest solo positions and made many appearances in Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Massachusetts, California, Texas and Maine. The past three years she has been the guest soprano soloist for the Seacoast Community Chorus' annual Messiah production in York, Maine. When time permits, she flies to Pittsburgh to extend her studies with her personal coach, Mrs. Mildred Lissfelt, who has been her mentor for the past twelve years.

Dr. Schlosser and Ms. Stein will perform works by Kellam, Handel, Wolf, Dunhill, Bach, Lowens, Clokey, Mozart, Caldwell, Rowley, Shure, and MacGimsey in their concert.

Dr. Schlosser has been organist at St. Luke's for twenty-seven years in addition to being a practicing physician in Mount Joy.

Ten years ago, Ms. Stein and Dr. Schlosser presented a concert in Mount Joy. At that time, Ms. Stein's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Anderson were in the audience. The concert on Sunday will be given in thanksgiving to their lives.

An invitation is given to the public to attend the concert. There will be no admission but an offering will be received. Following the concert a reception will be held in the Undercroft of the church to which everyone is invited.

Ventriloquist at library

On Sunday, December 14, at 3 p.m., the Elizabethtown Public Library will present Holly and Chuck, featuring Holly Rankin. It will be a holiday presentation featuring ventriloquism.

As a junior high school student, Holly Rankin, now an Elizabethtown resident, turned his admiration for Paul Winchell into a hobby of ventriloquism. He started performing at the Lancaster YMCA and fund raising activities for the March of Dimes.

As an enlisted man in the U.S. Army, he performed at more than a thousand shows for servicemen and orphanages. In Europe, he headed his own troupe, the "Kelly Key Notes" and reached the finals of the Army talent contest.

He currently presents his ventriloquism show and performs magic at campgrounds and churches. In February, he appeared on WGAL-TV's Happy Face.

The program at the Elizabethtown Public Library, corner of North Hanover and Oak Streets, is free to the public.

Refreshments will be served.

Letter to editor

I am deeply disturbed with the action taken by the Council and the Trustees of the Church of God, Mount Joy, at their meeting on Monday night, Dec. 8, when they reaffirmed their decision to demolish the railroad station to gain a few parking spaces at the expense of forever losing one of the few remaining historic buildings of the community.

This action was taken even though many concerned citizens contacted various members of the church council prior to their meeting, requesting a delay in demolition until the various organizations could formulate a plan to preserve and use this building for the benefit of the community.

The Council looks to the community to support the church, yet they are now unwilling to serve the people of Mount Joy by offering the railroad station for community use.

If you are a concerned citizen, interested in preserving the railroad station, immediately contact one of the following members of the Council of the Church of God: Jay Snyder, Ralph Geil, Robert Schroll, Jr., Harry Wiggins, Eugene Funk, Robert Stauffer, Lester Eschleman, John Weidman, Lloyd Cooke, Charles Eschleman, Cory Funk, John Gerlach, Raver Miller, and John Erb.

Sincerely,

Sincerely,
John E. Zeller

NOTICE
