Brief Items.

Coal digging in Little Germany has been suspended on account of inclement weather.

Tramps were made available on Wednesday last. They were set to work cleaning the side-walks of the snow.

Work at the Newport Furnace has been again suspended owing to depression in trade.

We think the deer hunters from this county have this season had success. We have not had our usual allowance of Venison.

Friday morning was the coldest of this winter. The thermometer at 7 A. M., was down to 6 degrees below zero.

The person or persons, who borrowed the digging iron from the Stone church, in Little Germany, are requested to return it immediately.

Several upsets occurred last Wednesday night by the sleds and sleighs going to Centre Literary Society. No persons were hurt.

A singing class has been formed at Shermansdale, with Dr. Fuget as teacher. On Christmas evening this class held a concert in Fishing Creek Valley.

Beltznickels were quite numerous in Little Germany, as several houses were visited twice by different parties the same evening.

A Centennial Literary Society was inaugurated at Ellittsburg a few weeks ago, consisting of about twenty members.

"Is the County Superintendent a benefit to our Schools," is the question for debate by the Excelsior Literary Society, next Thursday evening, at Ellittsburg.

The rain of Saturday and warm sultry of Sunday made it hard for roofs to bear their burden. Some gave way on Sunday and others were made safe by shoveling off the snow.

During the session of the Excelsior Literary Society on last Thursday evening, several young gents enjoyed themselves "hugely" riding down the hill, on a sled, past the school house in which the society was held.

The billiard room attached to the Bedford House, at Bedford, caught fire on Wednesday night the 28th ult., and burned out, but doing very little other injury. A servant connected with the house, named Mary Tony, owing to the excitement, expired on the pavement of a ruptured blood vessel.

Club Notice.—No names will be received as additions to clubs after the 15th inst. To get the benefits of club rates after that date a new club must be formed.

Singing Class.—Prof. Kurzenknecht will give six lessons in this borough next week, for 60 cents, using the Moody and Sankey book. All who will join are requested to give their names to a Committee of one from each Church and Sabbath School in town. Committee will call around early this week. All visitors will pay 10 cents entrance fee each or any evening of the week.

Weather Report.—B. McIntire, Esq., hands us the following report of the weather for the month of December, 1876. Average of Thermometer at 8 o'clock A. M., 20° and 4°, of Barometer, 30 inches minus 7 tenths. Average of the greatest degree of heat, 28° and 28° and the lowest of cold, 14° and 41°. There fell 27 inches of snow, to wit: on the 10th 1 inch, 11th 2 inches, 15th 3 inches, 21st 1 inch, 22nd 4 inches, 25th 2 inches, 29th 14 inches. The warmest day was the 15th the thermometer running up to 45, and the coldest the 10th, the thermometer falling to 2° above zero. This was the coldest month of December for twenty years. There was no rain during the whole month, which seldom occurs.

Bank Officers in Trouble.—A telegram was received in Harrisburg on Tuesday from San Francisco stating that John A. Bigler, late cashier of the collapsed City Bank, had been imprisoned in that city. Charges were made against him in Harrisburg in October for conspiracy, embezzlement and false pretence. About this time he disappeared. He was traced to New York, Chicago, Kansas City, and, finally, was arrested in California, Tuesday night. Samuel S. Bigler, late president of the bank, and Casper, his son, were arrested in Harrisburg on charges similar to those preferred against the former cashier. Each entered $10,000 bail for his appearance at court. The liabilities of the City Bank were about $350,000, while the assets will not reach $100,000.

Almost Frozen to Death.—Mr. Dougherty, the gentleman who carries the mail from McAlevy's Fort, Huntingdon county, to Reedsville, Mifflin county, and vice versa, narrowly escaped being frozen to death, on Saturday, the 29th ult., while crossing Stone Mountain on his home trip, and but for the timely aid of the Greenwood Works teamsters, in all probability would have perished. When found he was in a comatose state, and after being roused, he had to be assisted from his horse, being so much affected by the cold as not to realize his condition.

A Lykens Valley Mine on Fire.—On Monday afternoon a fire broke out in the deep workings of the Lykens valley mines, at Wisconsin. There are four collieries—the Short Mountain, Lykens Valley, Big Lick and Summit Branch. Together their workings form one of the longest subterranean galleries in the world, having a continuous communication of about ten miles in a straight line.

As nearly as can be ascertained, the fire broke out in the pumping way near the bottom of the principal slope, which is nearly 500 yards in depth. Its origin is unknown, but in less than twelve hours it had made its way along the slopes and gangways to the surface, where it burned the pumping-house containing a powerful "Bull" or Cornish engine.

Eighty six mules were suffocated by the smoke and gases. The latest despatches say that Bear Creek, which runs over part of the workings, had been turned into them, and that the fire was thought to be under control.

Junata County.—We copy the following from the Junata county papers of last week:

On Sunday a week twelve people were admitted to membership in the Lutheran church in Millintown.

On Christmas morning about 8 o'clock the two prisoners charged with the robbery of McAllister's store, at Cocolamus, and Zimmerman, convicted and sentenced for the robbery of Winey's store, at Richfield, escaped from jail.

A few weeks since, Joseph B. Thatcher, of Lack township, met with a singular accident. He had hitched a young horse to a wagon, and went to start, when the lines were found to be knotted just in front of the rings on the harness and of course the animal was uncontrollable. The wagon was broken to pieces, and Thatcher was thrown out with such force as to render him senseless for several hours. His right arm was so badly injured as to be paralyzed for several weeks.

For "The Times."

MECHANICSBURG, Pa., Dec. 29, 1876.

MR. EDITOR:—Seeing you frequently publish items of news from Cumberland, thought probably it would not be amiss to give you a little evidence of what we are doing across the mountain in these days when thermometers are pointing toward zero. Now for a few local items. During Christmas all the places of business were closed. Did I say all? Yes, so say our citizens if you ask them. But are not saloons and hotels business places? If you were to hear the hideous oaths and yells of some of our young men, and some not so young on a holiday evening you would think surely some one had done business. But then many of our friends say these must be kept open lest we have no place to enjoy ourselves on holidays. Our town became quite excited over the doings of Mr. Pig on Christmas afternoon. Mr. Pig, after having the necessary amount of the needful, was deprived of part of his caudal appendage, the remainder was shaved and greased, after this he and about twenty men and boys were turned loose in a lot for the race; the conditions being that the victor should hold Mr. Pig suspended between heaven and earth by his posterior projection. After many of the contestants having measured their full length on mother earth and tumbled around promiscuously with bleeding noses and sprained wrists, Mr. Pig was suspended in mid air by one of our young African brethren. Those who witnessed this scene were an innumerable number of boys, many gray fathers, and ladies from all the windows and porches within sight. We were not an eye witness but we have it from a reliable source, we think you will admit, when we tell you the author is a "School-master."

But while all these scenes were transpiring in the outside world, how different to be in the St. Mark's Lutheran church, the only one which had services on Christmas, and listen to the services commemorative of the occasion. St. Mark's was beautifully festooned with evergreen on this occasion. Our public schools are closed during the holiday week and our boys and girls are enjoying themselves hugely with their skates and sleds, wishing only that the school holidays might never end. On the Friday before Christmas the teachers were made happy by their pupils presenting them tokens of their respect. W. H. Hench, principal of the High School, received from the pupils of that school a six bottled silver castor, one of the best and prettiest we have ever seen. G. M. D. Eckels teacher of the grammar school was presented a four bottled tea castor. M. M. Foose, teacher of 1st intermediate school, accepted from the pupils a fine, complete glass set. The remaining eight teachers all received some gifts but of less value. W. H. Hench was for several years teacher of the Newport High School, but has been in his present position for five years. M. M. Foose formerly of New Bloomfield has held his present situation for four years.
