Things to Remember.

Remember that one can have the hands in soap-suds with soft soap without injury to the skin if the hands are dipped in vinegar or lemon juice immediately after. The acid destroys the corrosive effects of the alkali and makes the hands soft and white. Indian meal and vinegar or lemon juice used on the hands when roughened by cold or labor, will heal and soften them. Rub the hands in this, then wash off thoroughly and rub in glycerine. Those who suffer from chapped hands in the winter will find this comforting.

Remember never to leave clotheslines out week after week, but take them down and wind them on the reel, as soon as the clothes are dry. With this care, a clothes-line will last years, But if left out, wind and rain will mildew and rot the line, and it will soon become worthless. Added to this, the clothes will be colored from the line, and dirty streaks almost impossible to remove will be seen where they rested on it.

Remember that a tablespoonful of black pepper will prevent grey or buff linens from spotting, if stirred into the first water in which they are washed. It will also prevent the colors running, when washing black or colored cambrics or muslins, and the water is not injured by it, but is just as soft as before the pepper was put in.

Remember that the wings of the turkeys, geese, and chickens should never be thrown away. Many people, especially in the country, keep them simply to brush off the stove or range, but there is nothing better to wash and clean windows. Chamois or buckskin is very good, but wings are better, and cost nothing, and their use is an economyutilizing that which would otherwise be thrown away. They are excellent to clean the hearth or stove, to dust furniture, but best of all to wash windows, because the corners can be easily and perfectly cleaned by them, leaving no lint behind, as when cloths are used. Use these wings also to spread on paste when papering walls. There is nothing that does that kind of work better.

Two Important Items.

Fifty two years ago, Mr. George Cole, Sr., one of the respected fathers of our country, planted on his farm in Woodcock township, a number of peach trees. Several of them are still alive and thrifty, having borne fruit every season except when frost interfered and killed the germs. Mr. Cole had heard that tansy, planted about the roots of the trees would prevent the depredations of the borer. He planted the tansy with the tree, and where, as in fence rows, it had not been interfered with by the plow or any other cultivation, the tansy as well as the peach trees have maintained themselves against both weeds and worms for fifty-two years. As tansy perpeturtes itself, the experiment is cheap, and Mr. Colo's experience may be valuably suggestive to fruit growers. A tree, cherry or peach (they are cousinsgermane), pierced in a hundred places, and "gum" (its life blood) exuding from every puncture, can neither perfectly fructify, nor acquire or retain the stamina necessary to withstand our cold winters. We commend Mr. Cole's experience to the thoughtful consideration of fruit growers. Our second item is about cabbage. For three years the cabbage worm has made sieves not of cabbage only, but cauliflower, rutabagas, and even common turnips, have furnished nests hatching places, and larvæ food for the lemoncolored moth that flits about our fields and gardens all summer. Mr. Halph Lutton, carpet weaver, Randolph street, a few doors above Liberty, has as good a lew doors above Laberty, has as good cabbage in his garden as was ever grown in that city. There is not the sign of a worm upon his cabbages, while those of all his neighbors are riddled. The effec-tual preventive was a few tobacco plants. Mr. Lutton has secured his cabbages, cured his tobacco, and during the winter can enjoy his plue and the conduct can enjoy his pipe and the excellent esculent his pipeful of tobacco saved from the destruction.—Crewford Jour. nal
