

The Sexes in Heaven.

The Rev. E. R. Kayes preached to the Gospel number of twelve persons in the Swedenborgian Church, at Communipaw and Crescent avenues, Jersey City, last Sunday. "Rome," he said, "never twined a wreath of celestial flowers for Hymen's brow, never chanted a heavenly epithalamium, never overshadowed the nuptial couch with reverent wings, never diffused a sanctifying power to exorcise the Genii who invade and desecrate its mysteries. It leaves the sweetest of all human affection in the grave, where the body perishes and inscribes the sentence of everlasting oblivion upon its mute remains. Protestantism is corporeal. Hymen is not represented by it with winged cherubs or hymning seraphs, but with beasts and creeping things. It marries for time, it divorces for eternity. It denounces as carnal the doctrine of the union of two, kindred chastities into one beatitude. It is no church of God. It was left for Swedenborg and the new church to announce the permanence of the sexual, character. Men and women appear as men and women in heaven. The same ineffable felicity that exists among lovers here will continue to exist in heaven. Those who would unsex the sexes at death have not duly considered the resources of ennobling enjoyment that are thus denied them.—People couldn't endure existence in heaven with sex abolished. As well might we attempt to reproduce the sublime strains of Mozart or Hadyn or Bethoven without the harmonious blending of bass and soprano and tenor and contralto, or seek to bring forth from the earth the green grass, the blushing flower, or the fruitful tree without the genial showers and the fructifying light and the heat of the sun.

WONDERS OF MODERN SCIENCE.

The perfect accuracy with which scientists are enabled to deduce the most minute particulars in their several departments, appears almost miraculous if we view it in the light of the early ages. Take for example the electro-magnetic telegraph—the greatest invention of the age. Is it not a marvelous degree of accuracy which enables an operator to exactly locate a fracture in a submarine cable nearly three thousand miles long? Our venerable "clerk of the weather" has become so thoroughly familiar with those most wayward elements of nature that he can accurately predict their movements. He can sit in Washington and foretell what the weather will be to-morrow in Florida or New York, as well as if several hundred miles did not intervene between him and the places named. And so in all departments of modern science, what is required is the knowledge of certain signs. From these the scientists deduce accurate conclusions regardless of distance. A few fossils sent to the expert geologist enable him to accurately determine the rock-formation from which they were taken. He can describe it to you as perfectly as if a cleft of it were lying on his table. So also the chemist can determine the constitution of the sun as accurately as if that luminary were not ninety million miles from his laboratory. The sun sends certain signs over the "infinite of space" and the chemist classifies them by passing them through the spectroscope. Only the presence of certain substances could produce these solar signs. So also, in medical science, diseases have certain unmistakable signs, or symptoms, and by reason of this fact, Dr. Pierce, of the World's Dispensary, has been enabled to originate and perfect a system of determining, with the greatest accuracy, the nature of chronic diseases without seeing and personally examining his patients. He has spared neither pains nor expense to associate with himself, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, a large number of medical gentlemen of rare attainments and skill, graduates from some of the most famous Medical Colleges and Universities of both Europe and America. By aid of Dr. Pierce's system of diagnosis, these physicians and surgeons annually treat, with the most gratifying success, many thousands of invalids without ever seeing them in person. In recognizing diseases without a personal examination of the patient they claim to possess no miraculous powers. They attain their knowledge of the patient's disease by the practical application of well established principles of modern science to the practice of medicine. And it is to the accuracy with which this system has endowed them that they owe their almost world-wide reputation for the skillful treatment of all lingering or chronic affections. This system of practice and the marvelous success which has been attained through it, demonstrate the fact that diseases display certain phenomena, which being subjected to scientific analysis or synthesis, furnish abundant and unmistakable data to guide the judgement of the skillful practitioner aright in determining the nature of diseased conditions. The amplest resources for treating lingering or chronic diseases, and the greatest skill, are thus placed within the easy reach of every invalid, however distant he or she may reside from the physicians making the treatment of such affections a speciality. The peculiarities of this scientific system of practice are fully explained in the Appendix of "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser,"—a book of over nine hundred large pages, which is so popular as to have reached a sale of almost one hundred copies within a few months of its first publication. It is sent (post-paid) by the Author to any address, on receipt of one dollar and fifty cents. Address, R. V. Pierce, M. D., World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y.

A Puzzle for a Court.

A curious case is before the Providence courts, which it would require the proverbial wisdom of an Arabian ead to decide. A Mr. Durfee recently bought an old safe, and left it with a blacksmith to sell, who, on opening it, found a roll of bills to the amount of $165 concealed in a crack in the lining. Diligent inquiry failed to find any clue to the ownership of the money, and the question to be settled now is, does it belong to the owner of the safe, or to the blacksmith by right of discovery.

Pain in the Breast.

Kantze P. O., Snyder Co., P., July 9. This is to certify that I have been afflicted with pain in the breast, accompanied by a severe cough, for nearly five years, which had brought me so low that at times I was unable to do anything. After having tried all the various medicines I saw advertised, without the least benefit, I was induced by a friend from Danville to give Dr. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY a trial. The first bottle gave me almost immediately relief, and I was soon enabled to do a good day's work. I cheerfully recommend this article to the public as a safe and efficacious remedy for diseases of the lungs. CONRAD KANTZE. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by all druggists.
