

The Bloomfield Times.

HOUSE, FARM AND GARDEN.

We invite communications from all persons who are interested in matters properly belonging to this department.

For The Times.

Buckwheat Short-cake.

Take three or four tea-cups of sour milk, one teaspoon of saleratus dissolved in the milk. (If the milk is very sour, more saleratus is required, together with a little salt.) Mix up a dough with buckwheat flour, thicker than you would mix the same for griddle-cakes, put into a buttered dish and put directly into the stove oven and bake thirty minutes. It takes the place of griddle and short-cake, nice with meat butter honey molasses &c. No shortening is used, and no need of setting your batter over night. Wet the top a little and warm it up next meal if any is left, it is just as good as when first made while griddle cakes have to be thrown away. It is also very good cold. Was the beauty of this cake known to the majority of persons throughout the country generally, buckwheat would become as staple an article of commerce as the common wheat. Do not fail to give it a trial.—Some persons in trying it, have not had good luck the first time; they have failed from the milk being too sour for the amount of saleratus used or from making the dough too thin. I think I can say we have made it hundreds of times with success as I could eat it while dyspeptic when I could eat no other warm bread.

Cement for Cracked Hoofs.

Mr. Defay has discovered a preparation by means of which sand cracks or fractures in hoof or horn may be durably cemented up. Even pieces of iron can be securely joined together by its means. The only precaution necessary for its successful application is the careful removal of all grease by spirits of sal ammonia, sulphide of carbon, or ether. Mr. Defay makes no secret of its composition, which is as follows: Take one part of coarsely powdered gum ammoniacum and two parts gutta percha, in pieces the size of a hazel nut. Put them in a tin lined vessel over a slow fire. Before the thick, resinous mass gets cold, mold it into sticks like sealing wax. The cement will keep for years, and when required for use it is only necessary to cut off a sufficient quantity and remelt it immediately before application.

A Hint.

Never let children go to bed with cold feet. Indeed they never should be allowed to sit in the house with wet or cold feet. Many a child has died of croup whose life might have been preserved by a little attention to his feet. If a child has been out and comes in with wet or cold feet, take off his shoes and stockings, and toast his feet by the stove. Grown up people may promote their own health and comfort by drying and warming their feet; but whether they attend to their own or not, it is their duty to attend to their children's feet.

Cure for Choking Cattle.

Should cattle be at any time in danger of choking by reason of any foreign substance in the throat, take of fine chewing tobacco enough to make a ball as large as a hen's egg, dampen it with molasses so that it can be compressed into a ball and will adhere closely; elevate the animal's head, pull out the tongue and crowd the ball as far down the throat as possible. In fifteen minutes it will cause sickness and vomiting, relaxing the muscles, so that the obstacle will be thrown out.

Portland China hogs are pronounced, in the Practical Farmer, as perfect models all over, and the farmer's hog par excellence. The following is the ascertained gain in weight of three popular breeds of swine—taking them of the same age and condition for feeding, and feeding to each breed the same amount of feed and slope: Gain on Berkshires, 160 pounds; on Chester Whites; 110 pounds; on Poland Chines, 130 pounds.

Black Teeth in Pigs.

Being the cause of sickness or disease, though a very common belief among farmers, is pronounced a most thorough humbug by Dr. Johnson, a distinguished and educated veterinarian. It is a barbarous practice, a relic of old time ignorance and superstition to knock them out as a means of cure in sick swine.

Almond Sponge Cake.

Pound half a pound of sweet almond and one ounce of bitter blanch; beat half a pound of sugar with the yolks of seven eggs and two ounces of flour; beat the whites of five eggs to a stiff froth, and add the last thing before baking.

THE SUN.

1877. NEW YORK. 1877.

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, of 36 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and reprobation, and of the substitution of wisdom and integrity for hollow pretence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government in the ballot box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers—a body now not far from a million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents, its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily Sun will be 55 cents a month or $1.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.50 a year.

The SUNDAY edition, eight pages, $1.20 a year.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 36 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for THE WEEKLY SUN can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending circulation we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are hardly repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best.
