Brief Items.

Marshall Furnace at Newport is to be sold at Sheriff 's sale.

A few days since Mr. Samuel Camp-bell, residing near Milford, cut his foot severely while chopping in the woods.

As we go to press, Court is still in Session, a case being on trial that was not finished on Saturday.

C. A. C. The story you send for pub-lication was published in THE TIMES about three years ago.

The latest theory advanced in the Lebanon county tragedy case is that the late Joseph T. Miller, of Lebanon coun-ty, was murdered at his home and the body conveyed to the place where found

A body of a man was found on the bank of the Susquehanna near Rockville on Tuesday morning which proved to be the remains of J. D. McElwee who was probably drowned near Duncannon a few weeks since, and at the time suppos-ed to be Washington Dill.

≁ Oats Stolen.-Henry Foulk, Esq., of Rye twp., placed forty bushels of oats in a garner for seed, but when he came to use them a few days ago he found-nearly thirty bushels had been stolen. He says if the chap who so kindly cared for them the past winter will call on him for the balance, he can get them.

Almost a Fire .- On Monday last the roof of the Reformed Parsonage in this borough took fire from the Chimney .-There being no trap-door to the roof, the building was for a time in great danger. A man who saw it, however, knocked a hole in the roof and cut off a lath to enable him to get out, when a bucket of water extinguished the flames. No building should be without a trap-door through the roof.

Carlisle Presbytery .- This body met in Mechanicsburg on last Tuesday and concluded its sessions on Wednesday night. The churches in all six counties included in the Presbytery were generally represented those in our own county failing to be represented were Blain and Landisburg, Centre and Millerstown had Wednesday, Mr. Kistler went down to appear against him. It was then found necessary to go to Lancaster county in order to get the witnesses, and when he arrived there, the prisoner demanded a hearing in this county. Consequently he and the witnesses were at once brought here, when the prisoner waived an examination, and was committed to the care of the Sheriff.

Mr. Kistler deserves great credit, and the thanks of every horse owner in the county, for the persevering manner in which he has pursued this thief.

The arrested party is the same man who was taken from this county to the penitentiary on the 5th of May 1875, and was discharged on the 5th of March, only seven days before the last crime was committed.

The horse formerly stolen was the property of Jacob Kline near Liverpool, and on that occasion the prisoner was brought here during a Session of Court and plead guilty to the charge, and was sentenced under the name of Clarence R. Dunn.

On Saturday the Court issued an order removing Houser, the horse thief to the Harrisburg jail for safe keeping, the Sheriff feeling satisfied that it was not good policy to try to keep him here .--When here before he came near getting out the first night of his arrival.

A Bascally Husband--Last fall James

Lightner, of Richland, a town along the Lebanon Valley railroad, married a young lady who had not yet reached her majority. A few days ago the wife became of age and in company with her husband visited her guardian, who paid her $1,700 in money and a number of notes. The husband took the package containing her fortune and placed it in his pocket, stating that it was safer in his hands. When they reached home he transferred the package to his wife and remarked that he would join her in a few hours. Not making his appearance at midnight the wife became very uneasy and suspecting that she had probably been the victim of a dishonest transaction she examined the package and found that all the cash was missing. She informed her neighbors of the strange and shameful proceeding, and telegrams were sent in different directions notifying the police authorities of the swindler's operations and requesting his arrest. A reward of $200 is offered for his apprehension. He bears on one of his arms the image of a small child, formed with India ink. Lightner is about twentytwo years old .- Patriot.

Court Proceedings .- Court assembled on Monday of last week, Judges Junkin, Bair and Baker on the bench, and the following proceedings were had:

After calling over the list of constables and taking their returns—Judge Junkin decided that the old constables elected in 1876 held their office until 1st of April 1878, unless they did not wish to serve in said capacity, and in that event the Court would appoint the person elected to said office at the election held in Febuary last : The following old constables resigned

Fire in Lewistown.-On Tuesday last at about noon a fire was discovered in the boiler works of Willis & Schochs at Lewistown, which shortly spread to some stables opposite. For a time it looked as though the flames would extend to a row of frame dwellings near by, and word was sent to Harrisburg and Huntingdon for aid. This was promptly furnished, but the fire was got under control before the help arrived, and the request was countermanded by telegraph. Ten stables and the boiler works were destroyed, the loss being about $30,000.

Successful Pursuit of a Horse Thief .- Op Thursday evening last, Mr. Wm. Kistler returned to this place, accompained by Officer Anderson and several witnesses. bringing with him Charles Houser, arrested for stealing Mr. Kistler's horse on the night of the 12th of March. We gave a full account of the stealing at the time, and the pursuit that was made of the thief the day following. It appears that the horse was rode to Philadelphia, passing through Wrightsville, where the thief stopped on the night after the horse was stolen. At that place he was recognized by a former acquaintance who examined the horse, but was told so fair a story that he concluded that the man was in rightful possession of the animal. A description of the stolen horse, which he afterward saw, led to the thief's detection and arrest. The arrest was made by Officer Roat at Harrisburg on Monday evening of last week, who at once wrote Mr. Kistler. On

Cumberland County .- We copy the following from the Cumberland county papers of last week:

Last week David G. Myers, of the Second ward, who suffered the loss of a leg in the late rebellion, took a contract for digging a cistern on the premises of Mr. Stouffer, on North Hanover street. David needed some help to complete the job, and determined not to go outside of job, and determined not to go outside of the fraternity for assistance. He accord-ingly employed Robt. R. Matthews, of the Third ward, who lost a leg by an ac-cident on the Cumberland Valley rail-road some years ago. The two unfortu-nates went to work with shovel and plok and got through with the job ar plck, and got through with the job on Monday last. This, we believe, is the only instance of the kind brought to our notice, and we merely make mention of the fact because it is a matter of local in-terest.—Cartisle Volunteer.

On Tuesday of last week, John Meloy, aged fifty-five years, six feet high, weighing about one hundred and thirty pounds, grey whiskers, of a reserved dis-position, left his home in Mechanicsposition, left his home in mechanics-burg. He was last seen in Harrisburg on Wednesday walking towards the ca-nal. Any information respecting his whereabouts will be thankfully received by his wife at Mechanicsburg.

While driving some cattle at a flitting in Middlesex township, near Sulphur Springs, one day last week, Charles, son of Mr. George Jacobs, was attacked by a knocked him down, caught him upon her horns and thus carried him about a rod, then threw him down and tramped upon him. The boy was somewhat bruised on the head and scratched on the side by the cow's horns, but received no serious injury.

On Monday night there was an incen-diary attempt made to fire the stable attached to the Branch House, in the occupancy of James A. Clark. The fire, it appears, died out of its own accord, and the building saved from destruc-tion.—Shippensburg News.
