Brief Items.

Shad have made their appearance in the Juniata, several having been caught at Mitchell's last week.

Judge Gamberling one of the associate Judges of Snyder county, died on the 18th inst., of hemorrhage.

The rain which visited this section so opportunely last week, was widely spread and was as welcome in other States as in this.

Dogs have been making havoc among the sheep near Ickesburg. On one recent night, Mr. Geo. B. Sheaffer had six killed and several injured.

The People's Freight Railway with all its valuable (?) rights and franchises is to be sold at Sheriff's sale in Phila'da. on the 7th of May.

Miss Ella Burn commenced subscription school yesterday. She is an efficient teacher and we hope will be liberally patronized.

We have not received the last two numbers of that excellent christian weekly, The Christian at Work. What has become of it?

A few nights since some person forced off some of the weather boards of Messrs. Flekes & Bro's. ware house in Newport and stole a keg of fish and some meat.

On Friday a week Mr. H. C. Lewis was quite seriously injured by a pole falling on him at Losh's Run, a spike in the pole cutting his head severely.

At the late residence of Jacob Bruner, in Carroll twp., two and a half miles south of Bloomfield, on April 26th, will be sold, household goods and kitchen furniture.

Capt. Wm. Fry, formerly a resident of Liverpool this county, has removed to the state of Nebraska, where he intends giving his entire attention to stock raising. There is no doubt he will be missed very much by those who were acquainted with him as he was generally known as a gentleman and a thorough business man.

Rev. C. F. Hoffmeier, formerly of this county, died at his residence in Lancaster on last Thursday evening from a stroke of paralysis. His funeral services will take place this (Tuesday) afternoon at 3 o'clock in the 1st Ref. church at Lancaster.

The Kauffman Will Case.—In the matter of the application for a new trial in case of Henry Kauffman's Executors vs. Mary Long, in which the venue was changed from Perry county to Snyder. Judge Bucher discharged the rule for a new trial on the 19th inst., and judgment was entered for plaintiffs. This sustains the will of Henry Kauffman, and his estate, amounting to about $80,000—will be distributed in accordance with said will.

A Panic.—On Saturday evening a week while a performance was going on at Pennell's hall in Duncannon, the seats in the back part of the room broke down with a great crash and for a time it produced quite a scare, some thinking the floor had given way. Some persons received barked shins, but beyond the scare this was all the personal damage known to be done.

An Accident.—Mr. George Ernest, formerly of this county; but now engaged in the mercantile business in Elizabethville, Dauphin co., met with quite a serious accident a few days ago. He was on his way to this county, accompanied by his wife and her sister, when his horse became frightened and ran away throwing all out of the vehicle, quite seriously injuring Mrs. Ernest, and bruising Mr. E. about the face and head. The sister also received slight injuries.

A Suicide.—Leonard Falkenstein, who lives on Water street, Chambersburg, Pa., and works in the woolen mill, committed suicide on Sunday morning of last week. On Saturday he drew his weekly wages at the Treasurer's office and went away in seemingly good spirits. Later in the evening he went to Miller's drug store and bought an ounce of laudanum saying he wanted it for his wife, and that he would take a dose himself as he was suffering with the rheumatism. That his intention was to kill himself is evident from the fact that he told two of his friends that they should take care of his wife for on the morrow there would be no Leonard Falkenstein. As he was somewhat under the influence of liquor, little or no attention was paid to the statement. About one o'clock Sunday morning he went home and swallowed the fatal draught. He lingered until eleven o'clock A. M., when he died. He was about fifty years of age, and leaves a wife and two children both grown. No reasons have been given for the rash act and it is supposed that it was done while he was under the influence of liquor.

The Pull-Back Outdone by the Eel-Skin.—The "eel-skin" dress is now the great rage both in London and Paris. In the wildest days of the tie-back or pin-back mania there never was seen such a tightness in the matter of skirt as now prevails. Whatever the paucity of folds in the pin-back in its former part, in the enormous exuberance of the pannier or bustle the balance was struck. But now, not only is the bustle a thing of horror, but even the necessary under-clothing is considered de trop. To lengthen the waist far beyond its natural proportions, a stiff webbing of elastic is fastened to the stays to the depth of half a foot, and to this, at first, narrow skirts were buttoned. But even this is now abandoned for another scheme to acquire slenderness. Mrs. Swishelm's much-riduled chemise is in demand, and garments made in this way are sold at the furnishing shops, and patterns of it pass eagerly from hand to hand among lady friends. Some ladies have had regular stage tights made in thick webbing, and over these they wear nothing but the outer dress, underskirts being simulated by pleated ruffles of white muslin, sewn to the edge of the dress, which is then tied back till the woman within is shackled almost like a convict in a chain-gang. No more uncomfortable fashion ever was devised, for not only are the limbs confined by the binding dress, but the wearer must constantly concern herself about the condition of the bodice, that portion being in incessant danger of turning itself up behind, wrong side out, like an umbrella in a windstorm. The desired effect of youthful slenderness is generally obtained by the "eel-skin," but at a good deal of sacrifice of personal ease.

The Bee Question.—The following letter answers a query of a subscriber:

CAMDEN, N. J., April 14th, 1877. E. Mortimer & Co.—Gentlemen, Dear Sir:—Under Brief Items, April 10th, I noticed an item that a subscriber's bees had died, although well-stocked with honey and brood. As this is a matter of course, and I think no practical bee keeper would be able to give just direct cause of dying. It has often happened before, in different localities, and seasons, and from different causes, that we bee keepers are unable to tell. They might have been diseased, caused from impure honey, gathered from poisonous plants. Too many old bees in the hive which die on their own accord, which may have weakened them down that so few young bees remained that they were not able to keep up the natural heat during the cold spell we had, and got chilled and died. Again the swarms might have been weak altogether and the warm few days we had this spring caused the Queens to run over the comb and deposit eggs, and then turn cold again, and brood did hatch, got chilled, and remained in comb, hence caused brood found in comb.—Again there may be some other unknown cause; would be much pleased to see a Bee department in THE TIMES, &c. Also pleased to learn from bee keepers in different fields. Also their addresses, as I am manufacturing a hive to sell. No patent, no humbug to sell. All bee keepers please address T. T. Wittman, & Co., manufacturer of the Model bee hive, Camden, N. J.

ROAD PROCEEDINGS.

In the matter of the order granted at October Sessions, 1876, to view and change or vacate Juniata Creek road from near small bridge east of Montebello Furnace to intersection of old road east of Harkinson's factory in Wheatfield twp., the Court appoint John Huston, John Bear and Henry Souder who are substituted and appointed as viewers instead of the first viewers who declined to act, and the order is continued. Aaron M. Egoft, Wm. W. Snyder and Henry Rinesmith appointed to view and vacate road from near Jacob Shatto's over the hill by Joseph Black's land to a point near John Sole's church on Sandy Hollow road, in Carroll twp.

REPORT OF VISITORS TO POOR HOUSE.

"The undersigned visitors of the Poor House and premises of said county, beg leave to present this report for the year now expired.

"Our visits were made generally in a body. Some of us went individually and at different seasons of the year. We looked at everything in and about the premises, trying each time to find something to make complaint to the Steward; but are happy to say that we generally failed in these enterprises, as we found things in about as good condition as it is practicable to have them even in 'Centennial times.'

"The farm is in excellent order, and well cultivated; the crops of last year in part exceeded the average yield of the season. The main building is certainly neat and clean; and our worthy Steward and his excellent wife seem to be untiring in their devotions and attentions to the more helpless, infirm and sick in the institution. Their duties are arduous and deserve criticism sparingly.

"The barn and all other out-buildings appear to be in good repair. The smoke-house is well-filled; hay and grain are in good supply; the growing crops promise well; the cattle and mules in good condition; and nothing demands redress or correction that we could discover.—We are of the opinion that 'our Poor House' and its affairs are as well administered as any similar institution in the State. That the Steward and our excellent Board of Directors are making every effort to husband and economize our resources so as not to conflict with humanity we firmly believe. The duties of the Board at this time are very trying, as the scarcity of labor has reduced many outside poor to real want, and particularly affects that thriftless portion of the population who appear to try to be dependent on others for support.

"The defect in one of the flues or heaters, referred to by our predecessors, has not been remedied, because no man has been found sufficiently skillful to make the improvement; but still the House has been sufficiently heated; if one of the water pipes did freeze, they did not burst, and may do good service yet.

JACOB SHERBLEY, W. H. CULBERTSON, D. KISTLER."

And now, April 10, 1877, Report read and ordered to be filed and entered of record by the Clerk of the Court; and it is ordered that each of the Visitors be paid $10.00 as compensation for his services.

And for the ensuing year, Samuel Hoffman, Perry Kremer and Lewis Gillfillen, Esqs., are hereby appointed Visitors to the Poor House of Perry co., who are to examine from time to time, whether the farm is kept in good condition, and the farming operations are conducted in a business-like and profitable manner, whether the buildings are kept in suitable condition, whether the inmates of the Institution are properly cared for, &c., and suggest what improvements, in any respect, if any, should in their opinion be made. The Clerk of the Court is hereby directed to notify each of these Visitors of his appointment and of the duties devolved on them.

BY THE COURT.

Cumberland County.—We copy the following from the Cumberland county papers of last week:

It is positively announced now that Bro. Bratton has sold the Volunteer office to Hon. Samuel Wherry of Southampton, for $8,000. Mr. Wherry takes possession on Thursday next. It is also rumored that Leeds, of the Herald, will take charge of the Volunteer local department under the new management.

On Saturday morning the defendants convicted of arson were brought into court, district attorney moved the court for judgment. The court imposed the following sentences, after short speeches for clemency in behalf of several convicts.

Edward Lytle, 9 years, in Eastern Penitentiary. George McCartney, 7 years in Eastern Penitentiary. W. F. Henwood, 3 years in Eastern Penitentiary. J. A. Hatton, 1 year in Eastern Penitentiary.—Mirror.

In a recent issue we noted a painful injury which Mr. John M. Scooby, residing a short distance southwest of this place, had sustained in running a splinter into his hand on Thursday a week. Erysipelas set in the wound and notwithstanding skillful medical attendance, he sank very rapidly, suffering terribly until death came about noon on last Friday. Mr. Scooby was well known in this place and was held in high esteem by a large circle of friends.—To Harry, aged 11 years, only son of Robert Duke, of Shippensburg, Cumberland county, met his death on last Thursday evening, under the following circumstances. It seems that he had been engaged in play with some other children of the same age, and that in lying on his back for some purpose, one of the playmates fell upon him, injuring him internally from the effects of which injury he died on Friday evening.

The Mount Holly Echo says: On Thursday of last week, Mr. C. Harman, of this place, lost two valuable milk cows by an unknown disease. The animals were attacked with the disease only a few hours before they died. The disease is prevailing in some parts of Adams county and many horses and cattle have died from it.

A. R. Mateer, confined in the county prison for participation in the burning in Shippensburg, escaped from his confinement on Friday afternoon a week since. His manner of escape was ingenious, and exhibited that cunning which is ever the handmaid of criminals of note. In the first place he had a padlock to open and a large bolt to spring back before he could get out of his cell. The padlock feat he accomplished by means of a large nail, and the bolt was forced back by the use of a couple of large staples after a brick had been taken out. This accomplished his next difficulty was to get outside of the jail. This was accomplished by means of a disguise, and as the sheriff was letting out four visitors, on said afternoon, Mateer was among them in his disguise, and so complete was the deception no one suspected him. His escape was not discovered until an hour had passed, when the sheriff immediately advertised him, offering $100 reward for his capture.

Removal.—J. T. Messimer has removed his Shoe Shop to the room adjoining F. B. Clouser's office, 4 doors west of the Post-Office, where he will make to order Boots and Shoes of all kinds. Repairing promptly and neatly executed. He will also keep on hand a good assortment of Boots and Shoes, which he will sell at low prices. Give him a call. 17

Market Wagon.—Some mean persons have been travelling through this portion of the county claiming to represent the Newport Market Car. Persons wishing to deal with the market car wagon should notice that the name of Charters & Smith is on the vehicle. The wagon visits Bloomfield every Monday at shortly after noon.

Lippincott's Magazine.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE for May is an unusually varied number. Of the illustrated articles, "Down the Rhine," the first of a series by Landy Blanche Murphy, is noticeable both for the exquisite engravings and its agreeable sketches of famous old towns, romantic scenery, and the quaint costumes and primitive habits of the Alsatian peasantry. "Parisian Club-Life" is described at length by C. H. Harding, while Chauncey Hickox discusses briefly some of Schlemm's discoveries, and gives the welcome intelligence that the great explorer is about to revisit America. Walter Mitchell writes amusingly and critically of "Burials and Burial-Places," and J. Brander Matthews gives a quantity of theatrical gossip and anecdotes relative to the subject of "Damned Plays." Of stories, in addition to a long installment of "The Marquis of Lonsie," which has now reached a crisis, we have "The Abbess of Ischia," by Robert A. McLeod, which has a tragical interest; a humorous love story, called "A Superfluity of Naughtiness," by Edward Bellamy; and "A Queen of Burlesque," which is both odd and pathetic, and is evidently drawn from real life. There are poems by Emma Lazarus, Mary B. Dodge, and other writers, and the Monthly Gospel contains a number of short papers on "Bulgarian Rose-Harvests," "Sellings a House," and other miscellaneous topics. The contents are of a thoroughly popular and attractive character.
