OUR CIRCULATION.

For the information of advertisers and others who may be interested in knowing, we will state that the present circulation of THE TIMES is between eighteen hundred and nineteen hundred copies each week.

WIDE AWAKE for June has been received, and is filled as it always is with literature, especially adapted to please the children.

Government Advertising.

The Post Office Department has sent out a circular saying that it is willing to pay for advertising on business principles; and it requires every newspaper competing for the Post Office advertisements to certify precisely what its circulation is.

That is the only correct business method for getting all public advertising done, and until all public officers adopt this plan they will do business for the people on different principles from which they would conduct their private enterprises.

TRAFFIC on the Danube has been stopped by order of the Roumanian and Russian authorities. This will cause new complications. Austria and Hungary are directly interested, especially the latter, which is an integral part of the Austrian empire.

A Calamity at Chester.

The Saratoga, a large iron steamship, was launched at Chester, on Tuesday morning last, when a terrible accident occurred. When the ship started down the ways about forty men were under the vessel, and did not hear the order to come out and the result was that six were crushed to death and several more were severely wounded.

It is thought that some of the workmen were killed and dragged into the water by the ship. The bodies of the dead are horribly mangled, one being literally cut in halves, and others with their legs and arms torn off.

All of the killed and wounded were workmen employed at the yard, and were engaged in knocking the blocks from under the keel. The scene during the time the ship was going off was heartrending, the men being seen struggling to escape, while the huge blocks, rolled by the ship crushed them to a jelly.

Immediately after the accident was known the bell rang for the men to stop work throughout the yard. The gates were closed, but they were besieged by a multitude of men and women who were clamoring for news of their relatives and friends.

Geo. Woolf, a young Englishman, was the last of those taken from the fatal way. He was employed for a long time as a draftsman in the office, he possessing a thorough education, having been a graduate of a celebrated English scientific institution. His father is a wealthy tradesman of London, having but two children. Some months ago there was a reduction in the force of Mr. Roach's establishment and Woolf was among the number who were discharged.

Panic in a La Crosse Theatre.

The Dubuque (Iowa) Times of the 15th inst., contains the following: "Last Saturday night, as Miss Kate Claxton was performing in the opera house at La Crosse a fire broke out some four or five blocks away, when the boys in the gallery, hearing the shouts of 'fire' on the streets, took up the dread cry. Men, women, and children all over the house sprang to their feet panic stricken in an instant, and a rush was made for the door.

A Narrow Escape.

A few nights since a gentleman named Wakeman, and his wife, passengers on the night express, were on their way to Lawrence, Kansas. They were accompanied by their only son of 10. On arriving at Mansfield nothing could be found of the boy, who had been seen by his father to pass toward the end of the car a few minutes previous.

Was She Buried While Alive?

The residents of Pavonia avenue, near Henderson street, Jersey City, are excited over the burial of a woman of that neighborhood a few days ago, who, it is said, was not dead. The woman and her husband, a French couple named Claire, lived on the top roof of the tenement at 116 Pavonia avenue.

Latest reports say that Miss Van Lew, the energetic Richmond Postmistress is destined to lose her office after all her efforts. Miss Van Lew visited Washington and the President not long since, and left the Capital fully persuaded that her services would be retained.

attended her, but he refused to answer the summons. The County Physician and Coroner were summoned, but failed to appear. The husband called in an undertaker, and the next day the body was placed on ice.

A Brother's Sacrifice.

Several years ago William Shaw wounded Poindexter Edmondson, in a fight at Bloomfield, Mo. Edmondson had a younger brother, who was affected almost to insanity by the occurrence. Later, Shaw was murdered, and Poindexter Edmondson was convicted on circumstantial evidence as the murderer.

Ten Executions in One Day.

Although the Governor generally gives murderers about sixty days' grace after the court records on capital cases are certified to the State Department, it is believed that he will issue a warrant for the execution of Duffy and his four accomplices on the same day on which Thomas Munley, another "Mollie," is to be hanged at Pottsville.

Terrible Storm.

On Sunday a week a terrible storm visited portions of Indiana, doing great damage. At Marion houses were unroofed, trees uprooted, and fences destroyed. A brick church, nine miles north of Marion, was demolished, and at the time it was filled with people attending divine service.

Lion Hunting in North Carolina.

About sixty of the Nimrods of New Hanover county, N. C., started one day last week in pursuit of a animal supposed to be a lioness. The hunters were divided into cavalry and infantry, and armed with every variety of weapon, from rifles to pitchforks.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May, 23rd 1877.

Hon. Daniel Chamberlain, of South Carolina, once affluent spent his entire fortune in his vain fight for the Governorship of his State, and now to retrieve the same he has left his home and entered into compact with a flourishing law firm in New York.

St. Louis, May 23.—John C. Simpson of Oregon county, Mo., was convicted in the United States Court of illicit distilling, the jury finding him guilty on all five counts of the indictment.

A farmer of Monroe county, Ga., lost a calf last week, and the negro who was sent to hunt it reported finding it in a ravine where six foxes had chased it and were furiously attacking it.

On Sunday night a week a party of disguised men went to the jail at Blandville, Ky., and with drawn pistols demanded the keys. They entered the jail and seized a negro named Levi Pile, who attempted to assault and murder Mrs. Pile, the wife of his employer, last week.

Miscellaneous News Items.

Four men and three women, while on their way to church, on Sunday a week, were drowned at Malaquawake, Cape Breton, by the upsetting of a boat.

The pool-sellers in New York, in consequence of the law prohibiting pool-selling in that State, have removed all their establishments to Jersey City and Hoboken, where there is no law against the business.

James Alcorn, a Philadelphian, while getting into a wagon at Atlantic City, on Wednesday, slipped and his foot caught in a wheel, which twisted the leg off. Amputation above the knee was performed.

The one hundred and second anniversary of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence was celebrated at Charlotte, N. C., Tuesday, by salutes, ringing of bells, parades, addresses and other ceremonies.

In the Methodist Conference in Baltimore, on Tuesday a resolution was adopted that it is the duty of pastors to organize Sunday-schools in their respective churches; a neglect of this duty may be considered as sufficient cause to remove the delinquent pastors.

Five or six citizens of Reading have formed themselves into a company for the purpose of manufacturing pure Schweitzer case. The company has already purchased 300 goats in Schuylkill county for this purpose.

George A. Austin, of Bow, N. H., assaulted his wife on Tuesday night, and was fatally shot by his stepson, William J. Flanders, a lad seventeen years old. Some of the bullets wounded Mrs. Austin, necessitating the amputation of her right arm.

Five men were arrested in Syracuse, N. Y., on Wednesday on the charge of having committed a violent assault and battery upon a young lady in the Eighth ward of that city. It is alleged that this gang has been in the habit of committing similar offenses.

By the giving way of a scaffold Tuesday afternoon in the Church of the Holy Cross, West street, Baltimore, Henry Krauss, aged fifty-eight years, was killed and three others were seriously injured. The men were engaged in frescoing the ceiling of the church.

Elizabeth J. Blond, of Allegheny county, has recovered a verdict of $5,000 damages for the death of her husband, who was killed on the railroad while intoxicated. The defendant, George W. Boyd, had sold him liquor after he had been notified not to do so.

A prominent newspaper man of Worcester, on his way home the other evening, wandered into a religious meeting and fell asleep. When they came around with the contribution box the deacon touched him on the shoulder, and he roused up and gently murmured, "I pass." They looked up the church and left him.

A semi-official statement has been made that the Directors of the Pennsylvania railroad Company have recommended a reduction in the wages of all employees of the road ten per cent., and the discharge of all spare persons employed in the various departments of the administration.

There was a furious whirlwind and hurricane on Friday a week, at Riviere Rouge, St. Jacques and L'Assomption. Fifteen buildings were blown down, and the people saved their lives by taking refuge in the cellars. Trees were uprooted and fences and barns carried away. No lives were lost.

The shops in St. Petersburg have projecting sign-boards, on which are represented the principal articles sold. This is a proof of the general ignorance, for if the masses could read, such notices would not be necessary. The same custom was practised in other European countries in former times for the same reason.

At the Jefferson Market (New York) Police Court a few days since a man testified that a woman hit him over the head with a quart measure, and retorted the woman, "he hit me first with a pint cup!" "Measure for measure," replied the Judge. "Don't let me find you here again. If I do I'll have you sent to the Island. Now go!"

A farmer of Monroe county, Ga., lost a calf last week, and the negro who was sent to hunt it reported finding it in a ravine where six foxes had chased it and were furiously attacking it. The calf was nearly worried down, and so intent were the foxes after their prey that one of them was killed before they could be driven off.

On Sunday night a week a party of disguised men went to the jail at Blandville, Ky., and with drawn pistols demanded the keys. They entered the jail and seized a negro named Levi Pile, who attempted to assault and murder Mrs. Pile, the wife of his employer, last week.

A notice was posted in the Lehigh Valley Railroad round-house at Easton last Wednesday, notifying their engineers of a proposed reduction of wages to take effect on the 1st of June next. The following reductions are to be made: Those now receiving $3.50 per day are to be reduced to $3; those receiving $3.25 to $2.90, and those now receiving $3 to $2.80.

A meeting of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers will be held to take action on the proposed reduction.

This marriage may be said to have been hatched out of an egg. A young grocer in Newark, while looking over a barrel of eggs, found written on one the following verse: "If this you see, young man, Write just as soon as you can, And let me hear from my favorite egg: This great boon I humbly beg."

field, O., was attached. The grocer wrote to her, she replied, they exchanged photographs, they became mutually interested, and recently they were married.

While bartenders are closing up their drinking saloons in the East, they are encouraging the tipplers to further activity in the West. A Santa Barbara, Cal., saloon keeper offers to every one who takes a drink a numbered ticket. Every time a drink is taken a new number is given. At the end of the month the numbers are put into a lottery wheel, and the lucky number draws $25. Of course the toper who has the largest number of tickets is supposed to have the best chance for the $25.

Lippincott's Magazine.

The contents of Lippincott's Magazine for June are light and varied. The number opens with two finely illustrated articles—the second of Lady Blanche Murphy's agreeable Rhine Sketches, and the concluding paper on the Valleys of Peru. A young Italian author, Edmondo de Amicis, whose name will be new to most American readers, but whose writings are very popular in his own land, forms the subject of an interesting article, which includes a translation of a deeply pathetic story. Under the title of "Curious Couples," Rev. William M. Baker recounts some of his experience as a pastor in the South.
