THE TIMES.

New Bloomfield, August 14, 1877.

JUSTICE MILLER delivered an opinion in the Supreme Court of the United States showing that a man in prosperous business, who may purchase real estate out of profits, and transfer said property to his wife, may be held, in the event of subsequent fallure, to have withdrawn funds to which an assignee in bankruptey may lay claim in behalf of creditors.

The Eastern War in Eriof.

The campaign in Asia is a failure. The fighting south of the Danube has resulted in a moral victory for the Turks greatly in excess of the actual triumph at Pleyna. The Russian force south of the Balkaus is in imminent danger of being surrounded and compelled to surrender. To meet the new aspect of affairs, the Czar is sending forward two corps d'armee estimated at 90,000, and these will be hurried toward Tirnova to prevent the destruction of the base of supplies of the army south of the Balkans.

What is Needed.

Now that the rallroads are getting their trains in motion and will soon be moving the accumulated freight to the full extent of their carrying power, the people have one demand to make, and that is that there be no more freight wars and no more carrying freight for almost nothing to keep a rival line from

Just here is one great cause of all the trouble. By this course, which has prevailed to such an extent, every one is the loser, and there is no advantage gained by the road, the freighter, or the business public. These contests have disgusted the people with many of the present railroad managers, and convinced them that notwithstanding the immense salaries paid by the companies to their officials, the right kind of business talent is still wanted.

The interest of the commercial community is advanced by steady and uniform freight rates. No good business man thanks the railroads for a big cut in his favor. If he is doing a legitimate business he knows that his own interest is advanced by what advances the general interest, and that a fluctuating freight rate, like an un stable currency, helps to unsettle business and create confusion where there is no need of it. Besides, when a road attemps to carry freight below a profitable rate, there must come a crash somewhat, and the public is sure to suffer. -Star.

The Union Pacific Shops at Omaha in Danger.

OMAHA, August 6.-Since the river changed its course a heavy current has been setting in towards the Nebraska shore which it is thought is endangering the smelting works and Union Pacific shops. The Union Pacific company are now making strong efforts to turn the current towards the Iowa shore by riprapping. For the purpose of hauling to the spot a temporary track was laid this morning about three o'clock, and about 200 feet of this track was washed into the river. A force is kept at work night and day to avert the threatened dan-

Terrible Disaster to United States Troops at the Hands of Indians.

CHICAGO, August 8.-Official information has Just been received at military headquarters confirming the rumor received here a few days since regarding a fight between Indians and United States troops in Texas. It is ascertained that a disastrous encounter was had on the Staked plains, in which two officers and 26 soldiers were killed.— The remnant of the party continued its march after having suffered this loss, and has since reached Fort Concho with an additional loss of five privates and forty horses and mules. The unfortunate command was without water for eighty-six hours, and the suffering they endured in consequence was terrible.

Where are the Dead.

A Chicago paper says: All reports, except those from the health and Coroner's office, agree in placing the number killed in the late riots at eighteen or twenty at legst. But the health office records show that burial permits have been issued for but five, and the records in the Coroner's office's show a like number of inquests. The question arises, "What has become of the rest of the dead ?"

Some do not hesitate to account for the discrepancy by believing that the friends of the victims have buried the deceased persons in back yards at night, thinking in their ignorance that they would be held responsible for the riotous acts of those killed, and that therefore all traces must be kept covered.

Destruction Lightning in New York.

RONDOUT, N. Y., Aug. 8.-Special dispatches to the Daily Freeman give reports of the fatal results of last evening's thunder storm at Gardiner, twenty-five miles from here. A barn was struck by lightning and burned, together with its contents. The owner, Dubois Elting, was instantly killed, and two men were stunned. At Kerhonkson the barn of James O. Schoonmaker was struck and burned, Schoonmaker narrowly escaping. At the same place the barn of Levi Van Lenven was struck and consumed.

Trouble Among the New York Coal Heavers.

NEW YORK, August 8 .- There is more trouble at Port Johnson and Bergen Point among the coal heavers. This morning 25 of the old hands returned to work at the old wages. At noon they went home to dinner, and were met at the end of the plank road by their wives and the wives of other strikers, who attacked them with stones. The men did not return to work in the afternoon .-About five o'clock 70 Germans, who have been working in the strikers' places, struck, as the work was too hard and they were only making sixty cents. a day instead of $1.50, as promised,— Four hundred strikers called on Mayor Meigs, accompanied by Father Killeen, and asked him to call on the coal company and request them to pay decent prices. The mayor promised to do what he could for them, and urged 'them to keep the peace.

Whole Towns and Villages Destroyed by the Flames.

GREEN BAY, Wis., August 7.-For many weeks past this section and the outlying country has been subjected to severe drouth, which has caused much apprehension in the minds of residents, as forest and prairie fires have provailed almost incessantly.

On Saturday night last a small hurricane urged on the flames with lightning rapidity, and the brands from the flery stretches were sown broadcast by the sweeping winds. When Sunday morning came there was no abatement of the flames, but the wind had, however, moderated down somewhat. It was then thought that the worst was over, and the fears of the people in the vicinity were considerably quieted down by what they felt assured was a favorable turn of affairs.

With this feeling the greater portion, in fact nearly if not quite all the farmers in the township left their homes to pursue their avocation in the fields, leaving, as was natural, their wives and families

The flames sprung up again, however, and the women were obliged to turn to and do their utmost to fight off the unwelcome visitor, which was then upon them in all its fury.

But no matter how vigorously they labored their efforts were unavailing .-The fire flend baffled them at every point which they attempted to guard. Driven from one point to another they were compelled to seek new places of safety, with their children, as the flames swept onward, licking up everything in their course.

Where in the morning there was a thriving town before many hours had passed there were no more than three ouses left standing to mark the village site. Nothing was saved so far as to household possessions; the women and children barely escaping with their lives and the clothes they wore. In many instances these were so burned and torn as to be of comparatively little service in the matter of protection.

One of the citizens of the destroyed, town, a man named Henry Seifert, came to Green Bay yesterday. From him the particulars are gleaned so far as they are at hand. Strange as it may seem, his house miraculously escaped destruction, while everything surrounding it-fences and barns, etc .- were licked up by the fire. He reports that his house is occupied by many of the houseless and injured people, while others were without a place to lay their heads. There was, he says, a ploughed field near his residence, and there while the flames were accomplishing their fell work yesterday, about thirty families congregated to escape the ravages of the flerce

These people were from all portions of the desolated township, and their story as to the conflagration was the same.-Not one but had to relate that everything they had on earth had been swept away and they left homeless and penni-

It is reported very circumstantially that two entire familles were destroyed by the fire, and three others are missing. Nothing has been heard as to their whereabouts, and it is feared that they, too, have been consumed.

There was a settlement of seventeen houses in what is known as Benjamin's and there is not one of them left. Every one was consumed. Not a fence in the entire township is left.

All the cattle, thus freed from their confines, are roaming across the fields wild with terror and sure of destruction if they take shelter in the woods near at hand, and which are still burning.

In every direction hundreds of dead animals, such as cows, pigs and sheep, lie scattered, adding greatly to the horrors of the desolate scene.

Railroad Accident.

WATERLOO, N. J., August 8.-While the morning train West on the Morris and Essex railroad was standing at the depot, at 10 o'clock this morning, it was run into by a following special engine and the rear car broken in. No passengers were hurt, but James Wright, engineer of the special engine, jumped off and broke his leg.

Comberland County .- We copy the following from the Cumberland county papers of last week:

Rev. Jesse B. Young, pastor of the Centenary M. E. Church, of Carlisle, will vacate his pulpit next Sunday, and will sail for Europe on the 16th lust. The reverend gentleman will be absent two months.

The Newville Star, which is some on snake stories, reports that an excellent cow belonging to Mrs. Reeder, at the North Mountain, in the direction of Three Square Hollow, is regularly sucked by an immense black snake which nightly steals in from the woods to the stable which is log and much open. The cow is nearly dry in consequence. It is known that blacksnakes are very fond of cow's milk.

A sad accident occurred on Tuesday at eow's milk.

A sad accident occurred on Tuesday at the Reading ore banks, near Bolling Springs, by which a man named E. O. Webb, of Adams county, was severely injured. He was engaged at work in the mine, when about a ion and a half of ore caved in, fracturing the left leg between the knee and the hip, and badly lacerating the flesh. The unfortunate man was removed to the county almshouse, and Drs. Krise, Keiffer and Dale, of Carlisle, summoned. The doctors removed the fractured bones, and the patient is getting along well, though it is feared amputation may yet be necessary. feared amputation may yet be necessary

On Tuesday evening last at about dusk a bold attempt at highway robbery was made on the road leading to the turn-pike south of Newville, just beyond the bridge crossing the railroad. Mrs. W. bridge crossing the railroad. Mrs. W. A. and Mrs. John Meyers were in a buggy on their way home when suddenly a colored man approached them from behind and yelled whoa to the horse at the same time clutching at the lines from the rear part of the buggy between the ladies. The ladies resisted and pronounced him a villain and demanded that he leave them. By urging the horse forward and determined resistance they got rid of the scoundrel, not however. got rid of the scoundrel, not however, until he had torn one of their dresses. The ladies think they could identify him if they saw him again.—Newville Star.

Juniata County .- We copy the following from the Juniata county papers of last week.

On Saturday afternoon last, a son of Mr. Wm. Guss, residing in Milford township, aged about eight years, received serious injuries. He was riding a horse which was hitched to a cart. By some unknown cause the horse fell throwing the boy under him, by which he had his collar bone broken and received internal injuries. About a week previous a son injuries. About a week previous a son of Mr. Guss, aged about ten years, had an arm broken.

For The Times. A Granger Speaks.

In the Times of June 28th, you publish an article headed "Is it so ?" In reply, I will say: It is not so, that Grangerism is on the desline in this State, nor was it captured by politicians.—
This great and uncalled for cry that "the Grange is fast fulling and dying out," is not a new one.—
The prophecies of other years have all sunk into oblivion and we know all this to be nothing but the "Sour Grapes" of the monopolist's vine which shall shortly yield them but a broken reed. It has pained us to hear this slander, when we knew that the Grange is firmer to day, and laying her foundation more sure than could have been expected. The Grange was never captured by the politicians. Enough schemes have been set up by these political tricksters to entrap the unininful, but they have always been well posted by a good and free Grange press.

We find on examination of the official record of this State that more Granges have made reports for the past-quarter up to the present time, than under the same circumstances last year.
