"How to tell a mad dog," is the title of an article that is going the rounds.
 If you have anything to tell a mad dog the best way to do it is to drop him a postal card.

Just as the minister was immersing a colored convert near Hangor, lately, the choir broke out.
 "The morning light is breaking The darkness disappears."

A Baltimore belle, just from Vassar College, when told by the waiter in Painter's dining-rooms on Saturday, that they had no gooseberries, exclaimed: "What has happened to the goose?"
 The waiter smiled.

"If I am so unlucky as to have a stupid son," said a military officer, "I will certainly make him a parson." A clergyman, who was in the company, calmly replied: "You think differently, sir, from your father."

An Irishman, who was standing on the London bridge, said to a youth, "Faith, and I think I know ye; what's yer name?" "Jones," said the boy.
 "Jones, Jones," said the Irishman, "and I know seventeen ould maids by that name in Dublin; was ather of them your mither?"

"Ah," said a Sunday-school teacher, "ah, Caroline Jones, what do you think you would have been without your good father and pious mother?"
 "I suppose, mum," said Caroline, who was very much struck with the soft appeal, "I suppose, mum, as I should ha' been a orphan."

A Scotch witness somewhat given to prevarication, has recently given an exact and careful answer which ought to be appreciated by lawyers of every land. "How far is it between the two farms?" said the counsel. "By the road, it's two miles." "Yes, but on your oath, how far is it as the crow flies?" "I dinna ken; I never was a crow."

A few mornings since a ragged little beggar stopped at a door and plaintively suggested victuals. As the benevolent lady of the house was filling his basket, she asked:
 "What is your name, my son?"
 "My name is Grimes."
 "Is your father living?"
 "Yes, ma'am."
 "I thought old Grimes was dead?"
 "That was my grandpa."
 And the youngster walked off, thinking what a good soul the lady was.

A Highland man was tried for a capital offence, and had rather a narrow escape; but the jury found him "Not guilty." Whereupon the judge, in discharging, though fit to admonish him.
 "Prisoner, before you leave the bar, let me give you a piece of advice. You have got off this time, but if you ever come before me again, I'll be caution (surety) you'll be hanged."

"Thank you, my lord," answered Donald—"thank you for your good advice, and, as I'm na ungratefu', I beg to gie your lordship a piece of advice in return. Never be caution for anybody; for the cautioner has often to pay the penalty?"

A New Jersey granger heard a great noise among his chickens the other evening, and, thinking thieves were despoiling his roost, he rushed out, with vengeance in his eye and a shot gun in his hand, but discovered no one about.
 Then he counted the fowls; but, instead of some being missing, he found six more than belonged to him. His eyesight being a little defective, he didn't discover until the next morning that he had counted six vigorous mosquitoes of the New Jersey brand, which had been accidentally fastened in the coop with the hens. "I thought they were rather too big for chickens when I counted 'em!" he afterwards remarked.

Hoor-raw For Jim Brown.
 The Oil City Derrick has this story:
 "Jim Brown, a worthy German, died in Franklin recently, and his next friend, also a worthy German, was appointed administrator, to settle up the affairs of his estate. The administrator called at a printing-office the other day to have posters printed announcing that the goods of the late Brown would be sold at public auction. "I want you to write up dose bills in some kind of shtyle," said the administrator, whose mind runs much to business. "I want somedings dat vill attract der public eye and pring in der beoples from der kountry." The printer asked for a suggestion or two.
 "Mrs. Brown and minesself haf talked it over," continued the business man, "and we want you to head dose bills somedings dis way"—and he marked on the wall with his cane to show that he wanted big letters—"Hoor-raw! hoor-raw! Jim Brown is dead!"
