The Bloomfield Cimes.

HOUSE, FARM AND GARDEN.

We invite communications from all person who are interested in matters properly belonging to this de-

Foreign Insects.

The Entomologist calls attention to the fact that European insects and weeds are naturalized in America with far more facility than ours are naturalized there, and even crowd out the insects indigenous to us. Thus we have a native current worm very much like the one imported nearly twenty years ago from Europe; but it has never done any damage, while already the imported one has in some places almost stopped the cultivation of the currant. Our onion fly does scarcely any harm, while the imported fly, to which it is closely allied, does great damage. It is just the same with the imported bark louse of the apple tree, and the meal worm beetle. Among other pests of European origin are the Hessian fly introduced nearly one hundred years ago; the bee moth, cheese maggot, grain weevil, house-fly, cockroach and carpet and clothes moths. Among the weeds are Canada thistle, mayweed, oxeye daisy, burdock and chess cheat. In fact, the weeds the garden has to contend with are nearly all European. On the other hand scarcely an American noxious weed, plant, or insect has been successfuly introduced into Europe. If the potato bug succeeds in effecting a lodgment on European shores he will do much to help to balance the account.

Preservation of Pumpkins.

Pumpkins are valuable as food for cattle, hogs, &c., and are peculiarly grateful to milch cows in the winter season; but the great difficulty is to prevent the rot attacking them. Without presuming to have settled the question, we venture the following suggestions: Before your pumpkins have been frost-bitten, haul them to an open shed or barn floor; keep them in a dry, cool place until there is danger of their being frozen, when either cover them thoroughly with straw, or, what would be perhaps safer, remove them to a well ventilated cellar, and keep them through the very cold weather. They should be placed upon boards or shelves, and examined from time to time, and all those that have become infected should be instantly made use of.

Keeping Roots.

To keep roots sound and plump, Mr. Benjamin P. Ware, of Marblehead, a successful gardener, cuts off the fine roots close to the body, and pares away the crown of the turnip or beet sufficiently to destroy all buds or rudiments of buds. The thus doctored roots are then placed in barrels of sand or covered with earth in the cellar to prevent wilting. Removing the buds and rootlets prevents that corkiness so common with these roots when kept till late in winter, which is caused by the support of sprouts and rootlets using up much of the more tender and edible substance of the roots. Turnips and beets thus treated are as nice for the table in late winter or early spring as when first harvested.

How to Use a Grindstone.

First-Don't waste the stone by running it in water; but if you do, don't allow it to stand in water when not in use, as this will cause a soft place.

Second-Wet the stone by dropping water on it by a pot suspended above the stone and stop off the water when not in use.

Third-Don't allow the stone to get out of order, but keep it perfectly round by the use of gas pipe or hacker.

Fourth-Clean off all greasy tools before sharpening, as grease or oil destroys the grit.

Cold in the Head.

This can be cured at once, if taken care of at the very beginning. Dissolve a tablespoonful of borax in a pint of hot water; let it stand until it becomes tepid; snuff some up the nostrils two or three times during the day, or use the dry powdered borax like snuff, taking a pinch as often as required. At night have a handkerchief saturated with spirits of camphor, place it near the nostrils, so as to inhale the fumes while sleeping.

One Grain of Wheat.

In 1878, Mr. Deckar, of Centre county, found a grain of wheat in a package of coffee that he had bought at his village store. He planted that single grain and this fall he threshed twenty-nine bushels. It is a white wheat, very large in the grain and weighing sixty-six pounds to the bushel. Mr. Deckar calls it the coffee wheat. He has sown sixteen acres this fall-all from a single grain in four years ago.
