What Paul Said.

The other evening the Rev. Mr. Philacter sat down to the ten-table with a very thoughtful air, and attended to the wants of his brood in a very abstracted manner. Presently be looked up at his wife and said:

"The Apostle Paul-"

"Got an awful lump on the head 'safternoon," broke in the pastor's eldest son, " playing base ball. Bat flew out of the striker's hand when I was umpire, and cracked me right above the ear, an' dropped me. Hurt ? Golly !" and the lad shook his head in a dismal but expressive pantomime as he tenderly bbed a lump that looked like a billiard ball with hair on it. The pastor gravely paused for the interruption, and resumed:

"The Apostle Patil-"

"Saw Mrs. O'Gemine down at Greedbaum's this afternoon," said his eldest daughter, addressing her mother. "She had on that same old everlasting black silk made over with a vest of tilleul green silk, coat-tail basque pattern, overskirt made with diagonal folds in front, edged with deep fringe; yellow straw hat with black velvet facing inside the brim, and pale blue flowers. She's going to Chicago."

The good minister waited patiently, and then, in tones just a shade louder than before, said:

"The Apostle Paul-"

"Went in swimmin' last night with Harry and Ben, pap, and stepped on a clam shell," exclaimed his youngest son; "cut my foot so, can't I stay home to-morrow ?"

The pastor informed his son that he might stay away from the river and then resumed his topic.

"The Apostle Paul-" "My teacher is an awful liar," shouted the second son; "he says the world is as round as an orange and it turns around all the time faster than a circus man can ride. I guess he hain't got much sense." "The mother lifted a warning finger toward the boy and said: "sh!" and the father resumed: "The Apostle Paul says-" "Don't bite off twice as much as you can chew," broke out the eldest son, reproving the assault of his little brother on a piece of cake. The pastor's face showed just a trifle of annoyance as he said, in very firm, decided tones: "The Apostle Paul says-" "There's a fly in the butter" shricked the youngest hopeful of the family, and a general laugh followed. When silence was restored the eldest daughter, with an air of curiosity, said: "Well, but pa, I really would like to know what the Apostle Paul said ?"

" Pass me the mustard," said the pastor absently. I talked with a minion from Her Majesty's dominions: Says I, "Where are you going ?" Says be, "To hide a hoe." Says I, "What are you going to hide a hoe for?" Says he, "I didn't say hide a hoe; I said hide a hoe." Says I, "Spell it." Says he, "I-d-a-ho."

"O, says I, "Idaho." "Yes," says he,

" Hide a hoe."

A clergyman was preparing his discourse for Sunday, stopping occasionally to review what be had written, and to erase that which he disapproved, when he was accosted by his little son, who numbered but five summers: "Father, does God tell you what to preach?" "Certainly, my child." Then what makes you scratch it out ?"

The other day a New York policeman, in making out a charge against an arrested party, wrote: "The prisoner set upon me disorderly, and called me an ass, and a precious ruffian, and an idiot-all of which I certify to be true."

"Hi! where did you get them trousers?" asked an Trishman of a man who happened to be passing with a pair of remarkably short trousers on. "I got them where they grew," was the indignant reply. "Then, by my conscience," said Paddy, "you've pulled them a year too soon!"

A tourist, in search of natural curiosities, coming to a small stream, looked over bis memorandum, and asked a Dutchman near by if this was Alder Creek. "Yaw," was the reply, "dis vas all dar creek vat I knows about yest round here."

The reason why the courts are always full of patent right cases is that while Necessity is the mother of Invention it is a well known axiom that Necessity knows no law.
