

ers to be appointed to examine and recommend a uniformity of school books to be adopted by the directors of the several districts of the county,—carried 37 for, 27 against. The Pres. stated that he would appoint the committee in due time. The next in order was:

Music, "There's music in the air," by Miss Alice Conrad.

"A talk about the American Poets" by Prof. J. Willis Westlake.

Lecture, "The relation of Education to Labor," by Rev. J. Edgar.

The speaker took the word "Labor," in its widest sense, both for mental and physical employment and in this light looked upon the question as really being what should be the course of Education in the school room, since, as he claimed, the work of the school room should be to fit the pupil for the practical duties of life. With this requirement in view the speaker discussed the work of the modern school room separating studies into the ordinary and advanced, ordinary the 10 common branches. He showed what bearing they had on practical life and also how they should be modified and how taught to fit the pupil for actual life. The advanced studies were then discussed and an earnest plea made for their introduction in their common school course in a fuller manner than is now done. Though a pupil should seek perfection in lower studies yet his end can be attained by interesting him in the higher so that he would see the use of the lower, and not dropping these latter he would acquire thoroughness, and in addition he would know something of those branches in their application to real life such as Agricultural Chemistry for the young farmer, mechanics for the workman, &c. As an example of higher studies literature was cited in addition to spelling, definition, grammar, &c. The speaker asked if there are any conditions in life which the school room can not fit the person for? answered no, citing law as an example and showing that if a treatise on its commonest principles could be written and brought into the school room, much dispute and expense would be saved in life because pupils are fitted for life.

Music, "Walk in the Light," Paper—"Proper studies for the common schools and their relative importance," J. J. Hamilton.

Music, "Tinker," Friday, 8.30 A. M.

Pres. in chair. Reading and Prayer, by Rev. J. J. Hamilton, 47 Psalm.

"Methods of teaching History"—Miss Sanford. 1st, as a general exercise; 2nd, as connected with geography; 3rd, by using such text books in the school as are adopted in the district. Correct the three methods and you have a good method. Teachers inform yourselves in all possible ways. The pouring in of facts is the wrong method; you want to drop ideas; your pupils will not only come to you, they will inform themselves.

Literature—Prof. Westlake. In his talk said that in his experience he found that the "Literatures" were too prolix, hence for the common school he found it necessary to prepare a comprehensive work. In Literature there are beauties, instruction, refinement and culture.—Teachers, if you want to keep abreast of the popular wave you must prepare for the work. The time is here, and the schools are ready for the introduction of Literature as a study.

Answering of Queries. Why is the moon so far North at times and so far South at other? does this occur at regular intervals? Ans. by Judge Junkin, by a diagram on the blackboard.

What were the twelve labors of Hercules?—H. C. Gantt. 1st, killing the Nemean Lion; 2nd, capture of Arcadian Stag; 4th, hunt of Erymanthian Boar; 5th, cleaning of Augean Stables; 6th, destruction of Stymphalian Birds; 7th, capture of Cretan Bull; 8th, abduction of the Mares of Diomedes; 9th, the seizure of Hippolytis Girdle; 10th, capture of Geryones Oxen; 11th, seizing the golden apples Hesperides; 12th, capture of Cerberus.

Who was Arnold Winkelreid?—L. W. Turner. He was a Swiss patriot.

What is the effect of accidental flats and sharps in music?—L. W. Turner. They effect all notes in the measure, of the same degree.

How would you teach long division? Shown on the board by S. B. Fahnestock. Should both sexes of our schools have recess together? P. J. Kell ans. no.

Why are there no long rivers in Mexico? L. W. Ludwig ans., Because the mountains and table lands interfere.

Can a teacher work in the morning and evening and do justice to his school? S. E. Buck answered, no.

The music during the sessions was conducted by L. W. Turner, of Liverpool. Miss E. M. Morrow presided at the organ.

Fraternal addresses were made by Hon. B. F. Junkin; Jacob Gantt, a former Co. Supt. of Perry; G. W. Sanderson, of Huntingdon; W. E. Baker and Rev. J. J. Hamilton.

After singing the Long Metre Doxology, Institute was adjourned at 12 A. M., sine die.

HARRY H. M'KEEHAN,
G. E. M'GINNES,
Secretaries.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PERMANENT CERTIFICATES.

The committee met in the court room, electing Mr. G. E. M'Ginnes Chairman and S. B. Fahnestock Secretary.

The following resolution was adopted: That the papers of applicants for Permanent certificates be signed only at a regular meeting of and examination by the committee.

The Superintendent then appointed this committee to be the committee to examine school books, and to recommend a series for adoption in the county.

W. E. Baker offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted: That the members of this committee shall not allow themselves to be approached by any one, or in any way other than that those who make a business of furnishing school books, may present to the secretary for the use of the committee such books as they may wish to bring to notice.

The committee adjourned to meet at Newport at the call of the Chairman.
