"You have often, said the clergyman, 'heard the brethren say 'Amen! Amen!' while some one was praying. What did they mean? If any one knows, let him hold up his hand." Up jumped a little fellow, so eager to answer as not to wait for recognition, "I know!" he called out. "It means hurry up and get through." There was an audible smile.

"Brudrin," said an elderly colored preacher, in the course of a funeral sermon over the remains of one of his flock whose head had been caved in by the hind feet of a mule. "Brudrin", it am pow'ful strange dat arter mo'n a hundred years of 'sastrous 'speriment, a culled passon shud pusist in 'proachin' a mule fum de 'ar."

"Mamma, where do the cows get the milk?" asked Willie, looking up from the foaming pan of milk which he had been intently regarding. "Where do you get your tears?" was the answer. After a thoughtful silence he again broke out: "Mamma, do the cows have to be spanked?"

A young mother, explaining christening to her five-year old boy, told him that when he was christened he "would be one of God's little lambs." "And will I have hind legs and go laa?" eagerly asked the boy.

A good old darkey's favorite "tex" for his "boss sarmont at de camp meetin'": "De bigger de co' n de more de fur, and whar de ole hen scratches dar lie de bug also!"

A Boy's Composition on Woodchucks.

Woodchucks is a very curious animal. It is made of hair and eyes and has two front teeth, and can see a man with a gun when the eyes are shut and bolted. I have seen a dog shake a woodchuck till both were black in the face. A woodchuck can snivel up his nose, and show his teeth, and look as homely as I can without trying. They sit on one end and eat with the other. A woodchuck can get home faster than a gun can shoot. He is round all over except his feet, which are black. When eaten they retain the flavor of their nests, and seemed to have been cooked without being pared. A fat woodchuck, when eaten properly, is no laughin' matter. They come under the head of 'domestic animals,' and think there ain't no place like home when a dog goes for one of 'em.

Not Very Complimentary.

One of our young men who visited Europe a short time since stepped ashore at Liverpool with a beard the growth of the voyage, long hair, and looking and feeling decidedly rusty generally. He at once repaired to the nearest barber shop, and having entered, said to the native artist in charge, "I want you to shave me, cut my hair, brush me up, and make a good looking man of me." The barber looked the young man over for a moment, and very deliberately remarked, "Hi can shave thee, and hi can cut thy hair, and brush thee h'up but the Lord H'Almighty 'imself can't make a good-looking man of thee."

Didn't Know the Difference.

"See here, Parker, what's the difference between a ripe watermelon and a rotten cabbage?" asked one letter carrier of another the other day.

"You've got me there. I don't know," he returned with a look more puzzled than an illiterate man at a cross-roads guide-board.

"Then you'd be a mighty nice man to send after a watermelon, you would," remarked the quizzer as he moved on.

She Means Well.

An old colored lady of one of the back counties sings all the good old Methodist hymns, but she gets them mixed sometimes. She sings: Sweet prospects, sweet birds, and sweet flowers Have all lost their sweetness but me, And another:

Am I a shoulder of a hoss, A quarter of a lamb, She means all right, though, bless her good heart.

"You have often, said the clergyman, 'heard the brethren say 'Amen! Amen!' while some one was praying. What did they mean? If any one knows, let him hold up his hand." Up jumped a little fellow, so eager to answer as not to wait for recognition, "I know!" he called out. "It means hurry up and get through." There was an audible smile.
