

An Unbiased Opinion.

From Comley's Biographical Encyclopedia of the distinguished men of the Empire State, we clip the following: "Every nation owes its particular character, its prosperity—in brief, every thing that distinguishes it as an individual nation—to the few men belonging to it who have the courage to step beyond the boundaries prescribed by partisanship, professional traditions, or social customs. In professional, no less than in political life, there occasionally arise men who burst the fetters of conventionalism, indignantly rejecting the arbitrary limits imposed upon their activity, and step boldly forward into new fields of enterprise. We call these men self-made. The nation claims them as her proudest ornaments—the men upon whom she can rely, in peace for her glory, in war for her honor. Of this class of men the medical profession has furnished a distinguished example in the successful and justly celebrated physician, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., and any history treating of the industries of the Empire State would be incomplete without a sketch of his useful life and earnest work." Dr. Pierce is well known to our readers by his popular Family Remedies and his excellent manual of domestic medicine, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser."

A poor woman lay very ill in her scantily-furnished home in Sheffield, England. The doctor was sent for and came. He at once saw that hers was a very grave case, and that she had, as he thought, little chance of recovery even if she could get the nourishment her illness required. As he was about to leave, the question was put, "When should we send for you again, doctor?" "Well," was the reply, as he looked at the poor woman and then at her wretched surroundings, "I don't think you need send for me again. She cannot possibly get better, and to save you further trouble, I'll just write you out a certificate for her burial." And he did. After the doctor departed the woman got better rapidly. She has now completely recovered, and goes about carrying her burial certificate with her. At least so says the Sheffield Telegraph.

One More Unfortunate.

Almost every day the papers chronicle the suicide of some poor unfortunate whose mind has been enfeebled by dyspepsia, or whose earthly horizon a heavy gloom has gathered from the untold and untellable agonies of this cruel complaint. Dyspepsia is one of the most depressing diseases afflicting humanity. It is cosmopolitan in its nature—no country is exempt from its visitations, no family free from its attacks. There is a balm in Gilead; it comes in the shape of the Peruvian Syrup. For years it has been scattering its blessings abroad. There is probably no disease which experience has so amply proved to be remediable by the Peruvian Syrup as dyspepsia. The most inveterate forms of this disease have been completely cured by this medicine, as ample testimony of many of our first citizens prove. Sold by all druggists.

MEMPHIS, TENN., February 5.—About 10.30 this morning a negro called at the jail and demanded permission to see a comrade confined there. Jailer Dawson refused and the negro began abusing him in a violent manner, and Dawson drawing a revolver fired, but missing the negro the ball went through a glass door of Cornelius Griffing's family grocery store, on the corner of Overton and Front streets, some two hundred yards distant, and struck Mr. Griffing just below the heart as he was standing in the room, and falling into the arms of his wife exclaimed: "Oh, Katie, I'm killed!" and soon expired. He was a respected citizen, and his sudden death causes great excitement among his neighbors.

Convicting a Regiment of Horse Thieves.

The Anti-Horse-Thief Association numbers 361 lodges and 8,000 members in Missouri, Iowa and Illinois. It secured the conviction of 1,000 horse-thieves last year. Number disposed of without conviction not stated. It does not recommend lynching except where there is good reason to believe justice will not be done in the courts. Several cases have occurred where horse-thieves have fallen into the hands of the Association and were never seen or heard of afterward. No questions asked.

Recently three men entered Peter Picht's residence, Easton, by means of a ladder, one end of which they placed at the second story window. Mr. Picht was awakened and struck by one of the robbers with a revolver. The thieves carried away a box containing $730, a gold watch, three silver watches and a number of other articles, nearly all of which belonged to an orphan boy in the house. One of the supposed robbers has been arrested.

Last week two hunters found in a cave about two miles north of Alexander, in this State, the corpse of a woman of twenty-two, fastened by a chain and padlock to an iron ring in the wall. In the cave were found some packages of clothing, books, cigars and eleven oyster-cans. A shelf held a lot of bottles and tumblers and a broken kerosene lamp. The matter is being investigated by the Coroner, and the result will soon be announced.
