Three peddlers arrested in Carlisle last week, for selling goods through the county without license were fined $100 each. A little such medicine would do the peddlers good in this county.

Mr. Austin Lane has greatly improved his house, (formerly the Moore property,) on Main street, by newly weatherboarding and adding a neat porch to the

There will be a Murphy Temperance meeting in Mt. Gilead, on Tuesday evening the 30th inst. Speakers from New Bloomfield will be present, also the choir belonging to the New Bloomfield

By a mis-calculation in throwing a small piece of timber, on Wednesday afternoon last, Charles Fenstemaker, while at work in the cellar of the building to be erected for THE TIMES, was hit along side of the head, the blow knocking him insensible and badly cutting his left car. Dr. Ard sewed up the cut and Charlie was at work again the part day.

On Saturday morning the people of this community were startled by the an-nouncement that Stewart Beaver was dead. On Wednesday evening he was seen upon our streets, apparently in the enjoyment of good health. On Thurs-day evening he took his bed, and con-tinued to grow worse until Saturday morning, when death relieved him of his sufferings.

A post mortem examination, which was conducted by Drs. Sterrett, Graham and Shelley, revealed the fact that his death was occasioned by concrete matter forming around an orange seed, which had been swallowed by the deceased while in health .- Port Royal Times.

Runaway.-On Tuesday last, Mr. B. F. Leonard, of Rye twp., drove to Marys-ville and hitched his horse at Leiby's store. A passing train scared the animal and caused him to break loose when he started for home at such a rapid rate, that the hind spring of the buggy was shook out. Mr. Valentine ran out to stop the horse, when he turned into a small gate making a general smash up. He then ran against the pig pen which threw him square on to a fence on his side when he was secured. The animal was not hurt but the buggy and harness were a total wreck.

Fire in Millerstown.-At an early hour on Wednesday morning a fire was discovered in the store room occupied by Mr. Thomas Cluck in that borough. When first seen the fire had obtained such headway that it was impossible to extinguish it and the building and contents were entirely consumed. The flames also extended to the house occupied by Mrs. Jennings as a residence and the post office, which building was also destroyed.

The building recently completed, belonging to Mr. Wm. Everhart, which was built of brick, was saved by great exertion and the flames were prevented from extending to other buildings.

The fire was first seen coming out the cellar window and it is supposed that It was the work of an incendiary. The loss on stock and buildings is estimated at about $18,000, on which there is a partial insurance.

Mrs. Cathcart who occupies a portion of the store building as a residence lost much of her furniture, on which there was no insurance. Mrs. Jennings' loss is about covered by an insurance in the Fire Insurance of Philadelphia, Mr. Cluck had an insurance of $8000, divided smong the Ætna, Fire of Philadelphia, the British, and the Lycoming.

Found Dead .- On Sunday morning a week, Mrs. Barbara Whitmore, residing near Shady Grove, Franklin county, was found dead in her house, by her sons C. H., and I. H. Whitmore. She had not been seen since Monday of last week, and was supposed to be absent in Harrisburg, where she proposed to go on that day. Her son Henry living close to her, supposed she had gone away from what she told him, and gave the matter no further thought. But on Sunday morning her children, becoming alarmed at her supposed absence, went to her house to see if she had returned, and finding it locked up, concluded to force an entrance when they found her lifeless body lying near the stair-case, and where it is supposed to have lain since the day she was supposed to have gone on a visit. A Coroner's Jury decided that she came to her death from natural causes. She was about 70 of years age .- Repository.

Where Did They Come From .- In the month of February of this year Albert Sheaffer discovered a blouse, a pair of duck overalls, a linen shirt and a handkerchief all tattered and torn from coming in contact with passing drift wood, rubbish, &c. The articles were found lodged in a fish basket that had been set in a small run that flows into the Buffalo creek a short distance above Thomas Lenig's, in Juniata township. A short distance above the basket two sacks containing coffee were also found. Early last week or late in the week previous Michael Stutzman while hauling sand came across a pair of new boots, with the strings uncut, lying in the same stream where it empties into the Buffalo.

Probably the goods were stolen and hid underneath the banks of the stream, or secreted in some spot in close proximity to the water, which during the freshet, washed them out to where they were discovered. But where they came from remains unsettled, no one having as yet been able to identify the goods .-

Important Opinion .- In an opinion delivered on Monday week in Norristown, in the case of the commonwealth vs. Francis M. Kane, Judge Ross adhered to the ruling that the sale of liquor on election day is illegal, whether sold before or after the closing of the polls. A day in law is twenty four hours and no regard is had for a fraction of a day. It was contended that the defendant was ignorant of the law, but the court said such ignorance excused no one.

Cumberland County .- We copy the following from the Cumberland county papers of last week:

This community was startled on Monday by the announcement that Capt. Samuel Megaw, of Mifflin township, had committed suicide by cutting his throat. Capt. Megaw was well and favorably known throughout this county, having been one of the County Commissioners some years since. For several years past, we are informed, he has been in a melancholy state of mind, which will account for his rash act. He was always regarded as one of our best citizens, and few men enjoyed the friend-ship of those who knew him best, to a greater extent than did Capt. Megaw.

'On Monday morning of last week, Dr. J. C. Claudy, of Newville, (brother of Samuel R. Claudy, of Carlisle), was thrown from his sulky by the breaking of an axle as he was turning the corner of an alley near his residence. The Enterprise says he clung to the lines and was dragged some distance, but succeeded in stopping the mare. He also was severely hurt, sustaining a sprain of the ankle joint.

ankle joint.

On Sunday last, about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the frame stable of Mr. Isaac Hykes, Shippensburg, was discovered to be in flames, and, before relief came, was burned to the ground. The building was fully insured. This is a clear case of incendiarism, and is supposed to have been prompted by the active part which Mr. Hykes has taken in the arrest and conviction of criminals of the town.

Scarcely had Mr. H. gone to sleep, after witnessing the destruction of his stable, before some miscreant or miscreants endeavored to break into his store-room on North Railroad street. Fortunately, the barking of a dog awakened those living close by, and the bungling burglar was driven away. These transactions are all of a piece, and the officers of the law have so woven the web of circumstance around the criminals that it is searcely possible for them to escape.

A Card.

Mu. Epiron:—We wish to inform you and your numerous readers that on Saturday evening, the 18th inst., during the absence of Rev. J. Potter, Pastor of the U. B. congregation of Liverpool, a number of the citizens of Liverpool, about forty, chiefly of the U. B. church, entered the residence of their pastor without announcement. Thinking resistance futile, peaceful possession was given, when, to the astonishment of the family, baskets were opened, and package after backage of rice, sugar, astonishment of the family, baskets were opened, and package after package of rice, sugar, coffee, ham, sausage, butter, dried fruit, &c., also a lot of very fine cakes were heaped on the table, till it literally ground beneath the load. Many of those present being young people, they naturally engaged in the harmless amusement of young gentlemen and ladles. The more elderly passed the evening in conversation. Vocal and instrumental music, added much to the pleasures of the evening. At ded much to the pleasures of the evening. At about 11 o'clock, the company left, all seem anout II o'clock, the company left, all seeming to have enjoyed themselves, carrying with them the thanks and best wishes of the pastor's wife and family. The pastor hopes all will accept his kind regards, hearty thanks for those expressions of their love add his best wishes for the future.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE.

In Lippincott's Magazine for May an Illustrated paper on Roumania, by Edward King, will attract attention by its timeliness, Roumania being, as a leading New York journal remarks, "just now the pivot of political interest in Eastern Europe." Another well-illustrated article, entitled "A Mountain Holiday," gives a thrilling account of the first trip over the recently completed Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, which penetrates to the heart of the Rocky Mountains, attaining an elevation scarcely inferior to that of the great Peruvian road, with still steeper gradients and sharper curves. Its construction is probably the greatest feat of engineering yet accomplished in the United States.

There is a variety of short and interesting est feat of engineering yet accomplished in the United States.

There is a variety of short and interesting articles in this number. H. A. Huntington summarizes the entertaining career of Colley Cibber; G. H. Putnam describes the quaint streets and houses of Old York; Mary Dean utters a humorous "Counterblast at the Married Folks;" Frank Furness, the architect, gives some useful "Hints to Designers;" and Charlotte Adams has some reminiscences of Gustave Courbet, the Communist artist; while Mrs. R. H. Davis writes about Cremation, and Mrs. Lucy Hooper about the Paris Theatres.

"Theodoline," by Heury James, Jr., is a story of Parisian life, in the author's peculiar vein; "Hephzibath Guinness" is by Dr. S. Weir Mitchell; "His Excellency 'Old Ugly,'" by Rev. Wm. B. Baker, and "A Tragedy of Sedan," which is a story in verse, by Anna C. Green; the whole forming a most delightful and entertaining number. This Magazine is steadily improving with each issue, and the numerous illustrations that embellish the text make this a peculiarly attractive number.
