A Darkey's Difference.

"Does eny of the gem'lem understand what ferlantropy means?" said Brudder Gardner as he rose and folded his arms across his noble breast. It was a long time before Fenix Smead lifted his body and replied: "I 'spects dat a ferlanthepist am a pussun dat feel a heap sorry for de poor and is allers wantin' to better the condition of his nayburs. You is mo, dan six-fifths kerect,' continued the president. De ferlantherpists sits down befo' a rousin' good fire on a cold day an' wishes dat every body else had such a fire. He don't take money out'n his pocket to buy wood an' coal for de poor, but he figures up some scheme by which all de money an' all de po' folks is to be divided up somehow, so dat ebery dollar will hab a man and ebery man a dollar. It he hears dat any one starved to death he figures up the amount ob de crop, divides the bushels by de number o' populashum, an' makes it plain dat ebery pussun is 'titled to ober thirty bushels ob wheat dis year .-De ferlantherpist wishes dat the po' chil'en had clothes, but he don't buy 'em eny. He wishes dat all de bad folks would reform, but he does't walk 'roun among dem for fear of gittin' de shine off'n his boot. He adverkates assistance to the unfortunate, and next day signs a petishun to throw a onearmed soldier out'n a posishun paying a dollar a day. Gen'lem, de cull'd race am graded down even below de Turk, but I is ob de solum opinyum dat a good square niger am forty rods ahead of a ferlantherpist, an' againin' at ebery ar An old Scotch lady slept in the house of a friend in town. Her bed happened to be a plain, hard mattress, so much recommended as healthier to lie upon than a bed of down. Next morning the old lady was asked how she slept over night. "Not very well," was the reply, "for my auld banes are sair wi' that hard bed o' yours." "Oh, but, Janet, do you not know that all the great physicians say that it is healthier to sleep on beds as hard as a board ?" replied the host. "On, ay," said Janet; "and I suppose that's what you toon bodies ca' board o' health."

"I wish to ask the Court," said a facetious lawyer, who had been called to the witness stand to testify as an expert, " if I am compelled to come into this case, in which I have no personal interest, and give a legal opinion for nothing?" "Yes, yes, certainly," replied the mild-mannered judge; "give it for what it is worth." 🐼 An Irishman, on being asked why there was no record or trace of any of his race being found in Noah's Ark, replied that all his countrymen at that time were very rich and had boats of their own. "And, besides," he added, "they would not sail with beasts, any
