"Awful Hot, Isn't It ?" was the question asked by every one you met on Thursday last. With two exceptions it was the hottest day we have had since we kept a record. In the door of our office from which point all our records are taken, the thermometer recorded 98 degrees. At the same place on the 29th of June, 1874, it was 100 degrees, and on the 10th of July, 1876, it was 991. On Thursday last, under a tree in front of our office, the thermometer reached 102 degrees. The highest it had been this year previous to that day, was 92 degrees. On Friday the highest point reached was 95.

White Hall Orphan School. - One of the most successful schools for the education of soldiers' orphans and the children of disabled soldiers in the State, is the one located at Camp Hill, Cumberland county, known as White Hall, of which Capt. J. A. Moore, is now sole owner and principal. There are at present in the school 216 pupils-76 girls and 140 boys. The youngest pupil is five years of age. Served Right .- On Thursday a villainous looking tramp found his way into Halbert's printing office, in a search for old newspapers. In answer to his inquiry Dave Smith, the only one in the room, answered that they had none, and the tramp turned to go, on his way to the head of the stairs reaching for and capturing one of Mr. Halbert's coats from a coat hook. Dave told him to drop it, but the turnpike sailor laughed at him and gave him some friendly counsel as to the way he should talk to his elders, winding up the lecture by the assertion that he would do as he pleased. A val-uable setter, "June," belonging to Mr. H., was in the room and Dave being by no means a match for the tramp, gave her the "seek him," which command was obeyed with alacrity, the tramp turning to fly (or jump) down thestairs, retaining the coat. The dog was too quick, caught him by the clothing between the shoulders, and hung on until the tramp reached the second landing, when the tender fibre of the coat gave way and the tramp escaped. He dropped the coat when the dog grabbed him. Our imp suggests that a man caught stealing from a printer ought to be forthwith sent where printers throw their old type.—Carlisle Mirror.

The School Board of Carlisle, has reduced the yearly expenditures about $2,000, principally by reduction in sala-ries. Prof. Eckels has been elected teach-er of the colored high school at a salary of fifty dollars per month.

On Friday Mr. Wm. Richwine, of Boiling Springs, went into his hay-loft to throw down some feed for his stock, and gathered up, in an armful of hay, a large copperhead snake, which bit him in the finger. He at once went to a physician for treatment. The arm, however, became swollen and discolored,and on Saturday the affection had reached his face and neck. On Saturday evening he was considered in a very critical con-

The 'Squire went quietly to work and traced the letter to its author, one Jacob Spoonour, of Black's Gap, Franklin county, who was promptly arrested, and was bound over in $700 bail for a further hearing. hearing.

On Tuesday a constable from East Pennsboro, township, brought Edwin Amber to this place and committed him Amoer to this place and committed him to jail for Court on a charge of rape. The particulars, if as alleged, are as usual revolting. The information made before the justic by the girl's father states that Minnie Luther, the victim, is under thirteen years of age; that she had a disagreement with her father; that while broading over the trouble she was while brooding over the trouble she was in company, in Marysville, Perry Co., with Amber, who is a married man having a wife living; that he promised or purchased her some articles of wearing; that he asked her to return and stay at his house until the trouble blew over; that when on the return home, near William Wise's, after dark, he committed the crime for which he was arrested. This makes three cases of this kind for disposal at August Court.—

Our police were kept very busy on Sat-turday night, and the dawn of Sunday showed an increase of eleven when Sheriff Gill looked over the roll of sojourners with him.

The principal event was a rumpus that occurred at the corner of East and Louther streets, and which very nearly gave us a murder to record instead of an gave us a murder to record instead of an aggravated assault. Of this affair there are many versions as to origin and progress, but they differ only in trivial details. The different versions all agree on the following points: Mrs. Fesler, a resident of North East street, complained to Mr. Richards, of the same neighborhood, about his wife, Melinda, loitering about Mrs. F.'s door. Mrs. Richards hearing of it, became involved in a wordy quarrel with Mrs. F., and such a wordy quarrel with Mrs. F., and such a noise was raised as to attract Chief Sheafer's attention, that gentleman quieting the disturbance. No sooner had he dis-appeared than they were at each other again and Mrs. Ruggles happening by, not liking the conduct, remonstrated and became involved in the quarrel. Her daughter Sade seeing and hearing her mother armed herself with a hatchet, ran across the street, and, addressing a remark to Mrs. Richards, struck at her head with the hatchet. Mrs. Richards threw up her arm, and received the handle of the hatchet on the guard thus formed, breaking the force of the blow. The blade of the hatchet struck her above the right eye, making a large, deep wound, and the arm was cut and bruised by the stroke of the handle. Chief Sheafer arrested Sade and took her before Esquire Shryock, who com-mitted her for Court in default of $500

Some weeks ago, a Miss Wildman, residing in Slim Valley, Fermanagh twp., fell down a flight of stairs, by which fall her spinal column was injured to such an extent that her lower limbs were paralyzed. She died on Friday.

Tuesday afternoon, as Lawrence Miles, captain of a boat named Beaver, Marsh & Co., of Newport, Perry county, which was lying at Buyers & Kennedy's coal wharf, was putting on the hatches of the boat, his feet caught in the running boards, which caused him to fall into the boat head foremost, a distance of seven or eight feet, receiving very serious injuries about the head and shoulders. ## New York Aquarium.

Among the places of note which visitors to New York should not fail to see is its magnificent Aquarium. This establishment was opened to the public nearly two years ago, and has continued in successful operation ever since. This experience has suggested various improvements, and without doubt it is now the most complete and attractive place of its kind in the world. It has been adapted both to the scientific and popular mind. Not only is there a large and varied collection of fishes and other marine wonders, but these objects are so classified as to make them additionally interesting to the student of Natural History. This helps to bring into contrast their instinctive habits, curious and often grotesque forms, and their

to the student of Natural History. This helps to bring into contrast their instinctive habits, curious and often grotesque forms, and their gaudy and sombre colors. The tropical tanks show great brilliancy of color and curiosity of form. These tanks are filled with collections from Bermuda and Bahama Islands. They alone would repay a day's close examination, because nothing similar, nor half so beautiful can be found on our coast.

The series of marble tanks, for lake and other fresh water fishes, are hardly less interesting than those that contain marine objects. Closely akin to them are those for turtles, alligators, lizards, snakes, etc. This description would be incomplete if we omitted to mention the monkey room and aviary. Very rare specimens of both monkeys and birds are constantly on exhibition, and the variety is constantly increased by importations from Europe, Africa and South America. A very enstertaining and pleasing comic performance is given every afternoon and evening. This i-found to be a suitable relaxation from the examination of the tanks. The object of the proprietors being to combine innocent amusement with instruction. But a description, if space permitted, can give only a faint idea of either what is to be seen, or of the pleasure that such a sight affords, and the greatest favor we can confer upon our readers is to advise all of them who visit New York to go and see the Aquarium.
