Among the shipments to Europe by the Waltham Watch Company was a lot of 200 stem-winding watches, by order of the British Government, for the use of conductors and engineers on the State railroad of India. This order was obtained in direct competition with foreign manufacture.

Owing to the numerous applications for registered 4 per cent. bonds of small denominations, the treasury department has been unable, with all the clerical force which could be employed thereon, to fill the orders as rapidly as received. Purchasers of the bonds should understand, however, that interest will run from the date of payment for the bonds, and not from the date of their issue, and that the little delay from time to time, on account of suddenly increased orders, will result in no loss or injury.

RUSSIA has eighty millions of people and eleven thousand miles of railway, while the United States has forty-five millions of people and eighty-three thousand miles of railway. But not a single railway can be found in this republic like one in Russia, on which it is said a regular train is only run twice a week ! The difference is in the spirit of the two nations. There isn't a line of railway in Russia that earns a profit, and most of them do not pay expenses. The case is similar in British India.

An awkward but somewhat amusing case to everybody but the parties immediately interested is reported from Farmington, Fulton county, Illinois .-There was an election for police magistrate there on the 15th instant. The eminent respectables took no interest in the same, so the bummers, for a joke, elected one Thompson Fountain, who is just out of jail. Now these influential citizens who did not vote, ask the Governor if he will withhold the commission of a bummer's choice if a majority of the citizens of the town will address him a remonstrance. The Governor does not see how he can interfere, and will probably intimate to the citizens of Farmington that they will have to put up with the jail bird magistrate. Moral-go to the poll and do your duty.

THE POTTER investigating committee is showing up a very disgraceful state of public morals in Louisana, So far they have only succeeded in showing that most of the witnesses called are persons of little character. A lot of chaps once before swore that certain things happened, while others swore they didn't. And now those who swore things didn't happen, swear they lied before, while the other chaps who swore they did happen, now swear just as positively that they didn't. How the public is to be benefited by stiring up so much moral filth we are unable to understand. It does prove that missionaries are more needed in Louisana than they are in Central Africa, but the country is paying a high price for the information.

pectedly last summer. Preparations are being made for a simultaneous strike all over the country, on railroads, at mines, and in many of the largest manufacturing establishments, and nothing but the utmost vigilance on the part of the State authorities-and such preparations as will make it possible to crush out such a movement instantly-will prevent one of the worst calamities that has ever befallen this country. The 15th of June had been actually fixed for the strike, and the outbreak would certainly have taken place then, or soon after, but for the preparations made to preserve the peace by Governor Hartranft when he called out the militia and made arrangements to obtain uniforms and equipments for them at the Franklin arsenal. Those who were to have managed the strike called a committee meeting at Philadelphia and voted to postpone the attack until the 15th of August, when it was hoped the country might be taken by surprise. A Chicago representative of the strikers, on his way to New York, stopped over at Hornellsville and said to his friends : "They ought to take the property of the rich, and they ought especially break open the banks and take all the money and divide it."

The large party from Northampton, Westfield and other places along the line of the New Haven Northampton Railroad had an otherwise enjoyable excursion to the Sound Saturday spoiled on the return by outrages unparalleled in this section. When the train reached Cheshire, Conn., at night, it was boarded by a gang of forty or more roughs, said to be from the Southington rolling mills, beside several tramps, who, by flourishing revolvers and other weapons, overawed both excursionists and train hands. They uncoupled the rear car, which was filled, and the train had to run back a mile for it. Afterward they stopped the train several times by pulling the bell cord, and divided themselves into four gangs, each of which took possession of a car and ruled with a high hand. Both men and women were struck by the roughs, clothes were snatched from the person and kept, and the women were otherwise insulted, and many of them fainted from fright.

Among the women they abused was the mother of Superintendent Yeamans, and the men were powerless to avenge the affronts. In the front car, however, where there were less of the gang, a few men headed by Editor Converse of Easthampton, pitched into the roughs and cowed them. Several of them who chanced to be separated from the rest of the crowd were caught and thrown from the train, and a few left at Southington, but most of them kept on as far as Plainville, where they got off. As it was, the train was four hours running to Westfield.

It is said that many of the roughs are known to the conductor, and the road probably take measures to arrest them. Certainly it is bound to do so .--Sumner's regular train south two hours before was served in similar style, even, it is said, confining the conductor in the baggage car, while they ruled the train. A somewhat similar, but less aggravated affair occurred in the same vicinity on the last year's excursion. - Springfield Republican.

A Horrible Marine Mystery.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23. - The schooner Parallel reports that on the 7th inst., off the coast about ten miles north of this port, she fell in with a Japanese junk. There was not a living person aboard, but a number of corpses were found, some shackled together. They must have been dead a month at least. Some of the bodies were dressed in costly material. There was no food on the vessel.

A Bill to Punish Vagabonds.

CONCORD, N. H., July 24 .- A bill for the punishment of tramps passed the House to-day. It provides for punishment by imprisonment of from fifteen months up to five years, the former penalty being provided for any person proved a tramp.

A Very Strange Suicide.

A special dispatch to the Times from Capron, Ill., says: "A dramatic suicide occurred there on Tuesday night. Geo. W. Burleigh, a barber, published a card last Sunday informing the citizens that he would on the evening of the 23rd inst. deliver a lecture in Thornton hall and at its conclusion shoot himself through the forehead. The price of admission would be one dollar and the amount realized to be invested in the works of Huxley, Tyndall and Darwin for the town library. At the appointed time the hall was crowded and after delivering an infidel lecture of wonderful power he suddenly drew a derringer, placed it to his forehead, fired and fell lifeless into the arms of two friends."

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 25, 1878. General and Mrs. Fremont, who have been here for some months, have gone to their new home in the West with cheerful happy hearts. The General could not have chosen a more agreeable office for himself than that of Arizona's Governor. As for "Jessie" she was born to be a belle, though a most uppretentious one. She is a favorite wherever she goes, with young and old alike. Her hair is now snow-white and she rolls it back a la Martha Washington. Her expression is the same sweet one that won her so many friends years ago, and her hands are still as dainty and wonderful as when Vinnie Ream modeled them in marble in her youth.

That General Fremont's circumstances have been much reduced is true, but that he has been living in absolute penury and has been obliged to sell his furniture, pictures, &c., is incorrect. His present salary is $2,500.

The Fremont family is a very genial, happy one. The little escapade of the oldest son recently, when he anticipated his wedding day by six months and married his lady-love on the sly, was but a repetition of his father's little game, and modified at that. The General took his Jessie from her chamber window and effected a first class elopement. The older parties position, rather than run a risk of being represented by a weaker one.

Congressman Smalls, of Beaufort, S. C., was met with a fine ovation from the people of his District upon his return home a few weeks since. Commenting upon it the Charlestown "Courier" says : "It is perfectly astonishing to witness the increasing influence of this negro. He seems to posses the confidence of his race to a degree that no other black man may hope to attain. The men, women and children seem to regard him with a feeling of worship." OLIVE.

Miscellaneous News Items.

BALTIMORE, July 22. - Mrs. Annie E. Perkins, of Templeville, Md., was instantly killed by lightning yesterday afternoon at Spaniard's Neck, Queen Anne's county, Maryland.

137 Wednesday morning a farmer named George Smith, living near Rockland, Norfolk county, was murdered by his son, who also beat his sister, it is supposed fatally, and then hung himself.

17 Minnie Warren, the youngest, brightest and prettiest of Mr. Barnum's dwarfs, died in Middleboro, Mass., on Tuesday evening, in childbed. The child, which weighed seven pounds, also died.

Richmond, Va., July 28 .- A special says that Wilson Howchins, residing near Fluevanna Court House, in this State, yesterday murdered his wife, mother-in-law and one child, and then killed himself. A son, seven years old, who saw his father attack his mother, took the baby out of its cradle, and fied to a place of safety.

St. PAUL, Minn., July 24 .- A report was received here last night that a farmer pear Faribault shot and instantly killed two tramps, whom he caught in the act of setting fire to the harvesting machine in his wheat field. He gave himself up, but was instantly released.

137 A remarkable case is reported from Greene county. On the 28th of June Mrs. G. W. Lantz, residing near Greensboro, gave birth to a fine, healthy boy, and in a few days the mother was up and attending to her household duties. On the 14th inst., sixteen days after the boy was born, Mrs. Lantz became the mother of a girl.

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., July 22 .- A boy named Green, driving a team this morning from Sheffield to Canaan, was met by two tramps, who demanded the team .---He whipped the horses and managed to escape. One of the tramps, however, fired at him, the ball entering his breast. A crowd pursued the tramps and captured them and brought them to Canaan. Green's condition is critical.

Mr. Perkins was a Boston widower, having lost two wives. Miss Carlton was a spiritualistic medium. She went into a trance, and the spirits of the two dead wives, speaking through her, said that she and Mr. Perkins ought to marry. Of course Miss Carlton was astounded, after coming to herself, on being told of the communication she had delivered, but she was willing to obey. The ceremony was performed the next day.

137 The curate of Siapiccia, Sardinia, was not at breakfast on a recent morning. The door of his room was forced open by the police. The bodies of the clergyman and a servant were found of the floor. Her skull had been fractured with the butt end of a pistol, which lay by the side of her antagonist, whose left hand was still clutching her hair. In her head was a knife, with which she had stabbed him five times. New Yone, July 22 .- Harris Lowenburg, an old man, was arraigned to-day in court charged with being the receiver of about $20,000 worth of jewelry stolen from the store of Simon J. Radberg, of Baltimore. The thieves who stole the property are now serving terms in the Auburn State Prison for petty larceny. The hiding-place of the goods was discovered through a quarrel Lowenburg had with his daughter, who was a pal of one of the thieves. The two young men of Valatie, in York state, who quarreled about a young lady, and determined to settle their rivalry with pistols, but after reaching the field threw away their pistols and fought with their fists until one cried enough, may have made fools of themselves, but they showed more sense than if they had shot at each other, and perhaps finished their quarrel as a tragedy instead of a farce.

An absurd story has been published throughout the country to the effect that the Grand Army of the Republic was about to " re-enter politics," and had arranged " a slate to cover all the offices in New York State." The committe which was supposed to have charge of the matter stopped in Philadelphia on their way to the encampment at Gettysburg to deny the story, and to say that " the Grand Army of the Republic is not in politics, and does not propose to get in." That this is true, no one who has a supercial knowledge of the membership of the order and of its work will seriously question. The members represent all political parties, factions and cliques, and they find no difficulty in working harmoniously together, simply because there is no partisan politics in Grand Army work. The several Posts find enough to do in caring for the widows and orphans of their late comrades and for those who were disabled during the late war, without attempting in any way to control or influence partisan political appointments.

Shrewd Trick of English Thieves.

A fashionable dressed man went into Hunt & Roskell's large jewelry store in Bond street, London, selected articles worth $4,000 and tendered a thousand pound note in payment. Mr. Roskell ascertained that the note was a forgery. As he was about to summon assistance, a cab was drawn rapidly up and two men in police uniform hurriedly entered, saying that the man was an old offender of whom they were in search. Directing a porter to place the jewelry in the cab and to come along with them as a witness, the men in uniform said that they would inform the firm when their attendance would be required to press the charge. Then they drove off with their prisoner, leaving the jewelers loud in their praises of the proficiency of the police. Next day, however, their porter, brutally beaten, returned with the informatiou that the two supposed police officers were thieves in disguise.

A Singular Transaction.

One of our vigilant contemporaries mentions a suggestive fact and its explanation in the following terms :

planation in the following terms: "A Londop journal very naturally thinks it a singular coincidence that on the same day, the 16th Instant, $500,000 of silver should be shipped from Liver-pool to New York and $250,000 from New York to Liverpool. The larger amount is understood to have been destined for the United States Government, while the lesser was leaving the market in which the Government might naturally be expected to buy. The explanation appears to be that the builton dealers on this side, finding the Government had to buy, put up silver to an abnormally high price; when the Secretary of the Treasury applied to the Rothchilds for a price, and, on receiving an offer below the terms of the home dealers, purchased $2,000,000 from the London bankers.-- appreciated the younger ones impatience and love of independent action, and accepted the situation with real cordiality.

The changes in the New York Custom House form the only bit for political discussion of late. Republicans are depressed by it and the Senate members feel particularly put upon, aud are reported as meditating retaliation upon the administration next winter.

Congressman Levi Warner, of Connecticut's 4th District, has lately published a letter declining re-nomination, which has called forth numerous comments concerning the honorably gentleman, some of which are as amusing as they are characterietic. Warner is represented as the personification of country innocence, utterly devoid of worldly wisdom. Of course the stories of his doings are distorted and exaggerated. It seems that directly upon his first arrival here he fell into the hands of lobbyists and sold his influence in two days' time for $2,500. By voting for the payment of the Southern claims, and against the Burchard resolution he made not a few enemies, and those are they who declace that Levi voted both ways on the Bland Silver Bill ; that his neighbors had to tell him when it was time for him to leave home for Washington ; that he boarded the wrong train at the start ; and that arriving here at the Rigg's House, he shook hands with the head-waiter, saying, "How do you do Mr. Riggs?"

Nothing is so delightful to the world in general as personal gossip concerning public people, and especially concerning politicians. Rumor is still busy with Senator Conkling and his prospects. It is said that the Administration is determined to undermine him and oust him from the political world, and that the recent changes in the New York Custom House was a move for that effect. The best hope of Conkling is the fact that New York appreciates his statesmanship and prefers to hold one who she knows to be a strong man in
