Miss Ella E. Sands has the thanks of the hands in THE TIMES office, for the basket of beautiful flowers presented to them last week.

Some person a few nights since entered the potato patch belonging to John Acker, of Oliver twp., and dug a large quantity of those useful vegetables. A Western preacher who believed that fire insurance was defying the Lord, is now living in a barn until his congre-gation can find him another house.

During the storm on Sunday a week the residence of Mr. I. D. Wallis, in Walker township, Juniata county, was unroofed, and the family were compelled to take refuge from the rain in the barn.

It is not often that farmers have as nice weather for harvesting their oats as they had the past week. The crop is far above the average, as to quantity but not in quality.

Messrs. Traver & Bro., of Marysville, while unloading a hogshead of syrup, a few days since, were unfortunate enough to drop it, bursting the hogshead and spilling the entire contents.

A boy named Oliver Bailor while working for Frederick Barnett on Mon-day of last week, had the end of his finger caught by the pulley of the hay-fork and nearly torn off.

The barn of Jacob Nerhood in Adams township, Snyder county, was struck by lightning on the evening of the 18th inst., and was ignited and burned to-gether with all the crops.

An exchange says, with a good deal of truth: Whisky don't put the devil in a man, it only unlocks the door and lets the devil out. What is in a man when he is sober, comes out when he gets drunk.

Mr. Joseph Freed, of Rye twp., lost a Mrs. F. had given the animal a drink of water, when the calf seemed lively enough but found it dead about two hours later.

Mr. Wm. Kough had a singular mis-fortune happen to his watch recently.— His laid his vest having the timepiece in the pocket upon the ground, and then dropped a board endways on the watch, knocking it nearly to pleces.

"A newly discovered mine in the South mountain," says the Carlisle Mirror, "near Monterey, in Franklin county, is said to contain by far the richest vein of copper ore yet found in this State."

The Ariview Literary Society will hold a Basket Pionic in John Moore's woods, half a mile east of Oliver Rice's residence, on next Saturday, August 3rd. Mr. H. H. McKeehan, will address the Society at 11 A. M. The public is cordially invited.

At this season of the year many valuable cows die from what is known as the "clover bloat," and it may be well to know some simple remedy. A physician in Davenport, Iowa, says turpentine will cure nearly every case. One-fourth of a gill is an ordinary dose.

A Western politician gave this advice to his son-in-law, who was nominated for office: "Lean a little toward everything, and commit yourself to nothing. Be round; be perfectly round, like a bottle, and just dark enough so that nobody can see what's in ye.

A horse driven by Squire Farnsworth, dropped dead while going from this place to Marysville on Saturday, the 20th inst. The horse was probably disgusted at—the heat. On the same day a colt belonging to Mr. Wm. Dum, of Spring twp., dropped dead while running in the pasture.

A few days since Mr. Wm. Moyer of Rye twp., in running a wagon out of the barn, hit the hub on the door-post, causing the wagon pole to strike him in the breast with such force as to knock him senseless, in which condition he remained some time. He is around again, but suffers considerable pain from the injury.

Band Festival at Blain,-The Blain band will have a festival on Saturday Aug. 3rd, the proceeds being for the benefit of the band. Refreshments of all kinds will be furnished on the ground. Should the day be unpleasant it will be held on Monday or first fair day. For further particulars see posters.

List of Letters remaining in the Post-Office, at New Bloomfield, Perry county. Pa., July 10th, 1878:

Isanc S. Bull, W. A. Housler, Mrs. Martin Heil, Lewis Hoffman, Mrs. Annie Rake, Mr. Thaddeus Zimmerman, Mr. Ellsworth Williams.

Persons calling for the above letters please say they are advertised. SAMUEL ROATH, P. M.

Mill Robbed. - On Friday night last some persons entered Barnett's mill, near this town, and stole the flour made from five bushels of wheat. Three bushels belonged to Mr. Thos. J. Stuart and the balance to Samuel Comp. The scamps entered the mill by using a pair of hay ladders to reach the second story window, when they removed the sash entire, by taking off the outside strips, This is the third time that mill has been robbed within a year or so.

Runaway.-On Wednesday last Geo. A. Rouse, of this place, had an unpleasant experience. While driving from the Juniata bridge into Duncannon he arrived alongside the railroad just as a freight train came along. His horse became frightened and started to run, but George managed to stop the animal by pulling him up to the fence. The result was a very sudden getting out of the driver, a breaking of the shafts, and harness, some slight wounds to the horse and a scattering of the palings of Mr. Hochlander's fence. It was a fortunate termination to what promised to be a very bad accident. This was his second runaway that day.

Work Resumed at the Chesapeake Mill .-Yesterday the six furnaces in the peddling mill of the Chesapeake nail works, which have been idle since the explosion, were put into operation. The mill has been repaired, with the exception of one of the wings-the one in which the explosion occurred. The puddlers are ordered to work four "turns"—three heats to a "turn"-until the destroyed portion is rebuilt. The nail factory, which has been idle for two days, will resume operations to-day .- Patriot of the 24th inst.

The Newport Post-Office. - The post master at Newport has been missing for a couple of weeks, and it is reported that Dr. Clark is to be appointed to fill the vacancy. In refering to this matter the News says the bondsmen of Mr. Zinn have been looking over his accounts, and until the new appointment was made, deemed it incumbent upon them to assume control of the office.— Acting upon this conviction application Acting upon this conviction application to this effect was made to the proper authorities, who granted the privilege desired, and on Wednesday evening Capt Zinn's sureties met at J.W.Frank's hardware store and selected Jesse L. Gantt post master pro tempore, Notary Public. Captain B. F. Miller administering the oath of office. It is understood that Mrs. Zinn and Mr. Light, formerly clerk in the office, will have charge of the business until the anticipated commission arrives. sion arrives.

The Andersonburg Soldiers' Orphan School.-This school is to be closed next month. Mr. Hall having notified the department that "owing to the small number of scholars he could not afford to keep them at the rates paid by the State," the following circular has been sent to parents and guardians of children now at that school:

Several days ago a horse owned by the Wilson brothers, at Oakland Mills, Fayette twp., got crazy, and had to be killed. The growing corn was almost entirely destroyed in parts of Walker twp., on Sunday, by the storm that passed over Port Royal.

Mr. Browand, residing in Fermanagh township, was overcome by heat in one of his fields, on Friday, and carried to his house in an unconscious state. He is recovering from the effects of the pros-

Fast line west, on Saturday evening, knocked two cows off the railroad track, at Wilson's barn, below Patterson. One of the cows belonged to Dan Kauffman, residing in Patterson, the other cow belonged to Jacob Sulouff, in this place.—Both the animals were so badly hurt that it became necessary to kill them to end their misery. end their misery.

Last Thursday a heavy horse backed his weight against David Beshor, Sr., who was standing in the stable of his barn, in Fermanagh township., and so squeezed Mr. Beshoar against the wall of the building that his breast and rib bones made a cracking noise as if breaking. A painful soreness about the chest is the result, but death might have followed the jam.—Sentinel. lowed the jam .- Sentinel.

We learn that the wife of David B. Dimm, Esq., of Delaware township, died very suddenly on Monday night. Our informant states that after retiring to bed Mrs. Dimm took suddenly ill.
Mr. Dimm ordered a young man who was living with him to get a horse ready and go for a doctor; but before he had the saddle and bridle on the horse Mrs.
Dimm expired.—Democrat and Register.

A bolt of lightning struck the large water spout on the Jacobs House, at the north-west corner of the building, flattening the spouting at that point, but fortunately for the building the fluid did not leave the spout, but coursed down inside of it to the ground. It is con-jectured that the paint on the outside of the spout was the reason that the passage took the inside for its course. At the joints in the spout the paint was cracked off.

Cumberland County .- We copy the following from the Cumberland county papers of last week:

On Saturday afternoon James Townsend, colored, of the Second Ward, sent for our inspection a chicken just coming from the shell, said fowl having been hatched in a quart fruit can with no other heat than that afforded by a bunch of curled hair. The chicken was lively and will doubtless live.

On Monday last, Mr. Moses Eberly, who lives one mile south of Mechanics-burg, was threshing grain. About five o'clock in the evening, his daughter, sixteen years of age, was driving the horses in the power, and while attempting to arge up a flagging horse, stemped ing to urge up a flagging horse, stepped beyond the platform and plunged one foot and ankle into the master wheel of the power. Before she could recover her position the limb was drawn between the revolving wheels and broken and mangled in the most horrible manner. As soon as possible she was rescued from her perilous position, and Drs. Day, Musser, Brandt, and Long summoned to consider her case. The sad result of their consultation was that amintation was necessary to save the life of the unfortunate girl.

On Tuesday evening last Wm. Geese, of Frankford township, attacked Amos Swigert, of same township, near Watt's bridge, with a large knife, and cut him severely, making a wound in the left breast six inches long and within a hair breadth of severing the main arteries, and cut a piece out of the left arm, covering two inches or more. After striking down his victim, the would be assisting threatened to tramp the brains out of sin threatened to tramp the brains out of him, but on reconsideration made no further attack, but went off and informed the neighbors that Mr. Swigert was lying along the road, ripped open and dead. Next morning he made confession of what he had done. On the deposition of Mr. Swigert Mr. sition of Mr. Swigert, Geese was arrested and is now in jail.

Jacob Ecket, aged 76 years, and his wife a few years younger, reside in Silver Spring township on their farm, near the Cumberland Valley railroad, two miles miles west of Mechanicsburg. They, with Hannah Fagan, a lady about the same age as Mrs. Ecket, were the only occupants of the house.

Between 11 and 12 o'clock Monday night last, six men with masked faces knocked for admission at the front door. When Mr. E. attempted to run for his gun he was seized by a powerful man who had ascended the stairs, and had a pistol thrust in his face. Some of the other robbers came to the assistance of the first outlaw, when Mr. E. was thrown upon a bed and securely bound with a leather strap. Mrs. Fagan was next tied, and threats were uttered to the effect that they would kill the first person who gave the alarm.

The robbers next struck a light; made Mrs. Eckert go with them to search the

The robbers next struck a light; made Mrs. Eckert go with them to search the house, brandishing a butcher knife across her throat; took her down stairs; forced her to tell where some money was put away in a bureau drawer in the front room— $235—which they stole; then took her up stairs, threw her upon the floor and securely tied her.

The scoundrels then commenced operations up stairs, taking a watch belonging to John Eckert, son of Jacob Eckert, and robbing a valise of $80; tore up beds

and carpets, ransacked drawers, scattered papers and created general disorder all around. They removed the back of an eight day clock (stopping it at twenty minutes of twelve) thinking they could find money concealed in the case. They went to the cellar, stole a number of ples, then left the premises.

When they had gone Mrs. Fagan managed to untie the knots with her teeth, got her hands free and released Mrs. Eckert. The woman then began to seream, which brought to their assistance Mr. Benjamin Albright, a neighbor, who lives one-eighth of a mile from the scene of the outrage. He released Mr. Eckert, and among other neighbors two sons of Mr. Eckert were immediately sent for. No identification of the robbers was had. The women say that one was a tall, stout man, that another was a short, stout man, with a heavy black moustache.

Mr. and Mrs. Eckert are feeble as well as old, having lately recovered from serious illness; the latter is nearly blind, and Mrs. Fagon is quite deaf. Considering the treatment they received, they

On Wednesday of this week as one your townsmen. Mr. Roush, was driving along Front street his horse became frightened at a passing train of cars, and the young lady who was in the buggy commenced screaming which frightened the animal still more, which became unmanagable and threw the lady out behind, and the gentleman in front of the buggy, he being a very stout young man, held on to the horse, and strange to say, no one was injured, nor was anything broken, and after gathering up, and fixing things in their proper places, they again entered the vehicle and went on their way rejoicing. Great credit is due Mr. Rouse for his coolness during the whole exciting accident, and also great sympathy for the young lady, who was thoroughly frightened.

By the energy of our enterprising citizen, Mr. Uhler, we have a ticket office at Juniata Bridge station, P. R. R., at this place, there is an effort being made to have a post office, which would be a great convenience.

For The Bleomfield Times The Woods Festival.

MR. EDITOR :- The Grand Festival in the

Mr. Editor:—The Grand Festival in the woods, like all others great events which mark epochs in history, has had its day, was well attended, and in every respect, exceeded its loudly heralded promises.

The grand old Camp ground is a beautiful spot well worth visiting. For fifty-six years it has been quietly growing in public favor, until to-day there is not a more popular grove in the "Upper Edd." Located almost on the summit of what is known as Sandy Hill, its fine old oaks respond by gentle rustlings of the zephyrs blowing almost continually from the shady Conecocheque.

In this grove the festival tents were pitched, and within the tents the tables were conveni-

In this grove the festival tents were pitched, and within the tents the tables were conveniently and tastefully arranged.

There was an abundance of provious, and judging by the way the vacant seats at the dinner tables, were taken, the viands were well-appreciated. Notwithstanding the great number of those seeking admittance to the tables at one time, I was surprised to see so little confusion. Some unavoidable delays occurred, but nothing that could be construed into intentional neglect.

By 9 o'clock many persons were on the ground enjoying the cool breeze and listening to music will-rendered by the Biain band. Although a new band and deprived of many of the advantages accessible to bands in larger of the advantages accessible to bands in larger towns, they are still capable of discoursing excellent music, and I am sure that their efforts on the 20th of July, were well appreciated and unstintingly commended.

At 10 o'clock, according to programme, the "silver tongued orators" were on hand, and after a short prayer by the Rev. Piper, that whole souled, genial, Nestorian orator — Prof. Rentz, of Andersouburg, gava us one of his characteristic speeches. "Dare to be a Daniel" was his theme. His exordium was well-timed, and had he began it with a reference to the age of Pericles or the metempsychosis of Pythagoras, it might have been mistaken for the prelude to one of the Rev. Jos. Cooke's Boston Monday Lectures. I mean it was exceedingly apropos.

Boston Monday Lectures. I mean it was exceedingly apropos.

Music by the band was next announced by the President, Mr. Wm. Culbertson, after which to the front of the rostrum, stepped our old and esteemed friend, Rev. Luther Kistler. The grutteman is no longer was nearest orator as his speech amply proved. His remarks were appropriate and well received.

Rev. R. McPherson was the third speaker, and ably maintained his reputation as a successful speaker. Rev. Piper, the life and soul of the festival enterprise, was the last speaker. His words were carnest and to the point and fair exponents of the great energy of the man.

By this time the various departments of the festival were in complete working order, and they were working with all their strongth.

Scattered promisenously through the grove were straggling parties of ladies and gentlemen.

It was an animated picture and well-worth a few minutes attention. In the back-ground might be seen a few personsthat had evidently come to perform what seemed a duty. That was the proper place to look for the dignified, sedate and contemplative man. On the green sward in front of them our young folks were doing their best to have a good time, but on account of the "thermal flend," were practicing the golen rule of political economy with a vim—attaining "the maximum of utilities with the minimum of human efforts." Here and there a would-be Bean Brummel would appear on the scene whose sequestic get up helped to It was an animated picture and well-worth on the scene whose exquisite get up helped to give variety to the scene. In the evening the grounds were brilliantly lluminated, and the demand for ice-cream and cake was kept, up until a late hour. August Magazines.

"Peterson's Magazine" for August is a splendid number, and opens with a fine steel-plate engraving, entitled "The Wedding Ring," which is followed by a beautiful colored fashion-plate, and a large number of pattens for fancy work. The literary matter will greatly interest the ladies, and is just the kind for the summer months. The price is only $3 a year, and is one of the best magazines in the country for the ladies. Address Charles J. Peterson, No. 306 Chestant Street, Philadelphia.

The August number of "Ballou's Magazine" is on our table. The leading illustrated article is from the pen of the author of "Life in the East Indies," and gives a very interesting account of the sights and scences in Persia. The poetry is usually good, and many other things combine to make it a first-class number.

What the Marshal of Mew York Says.

The following indorsement will be of interest to many who have not yet tested these esseptial aids to the full development of the speed of a trotter - Benton's Speed Accelerators-the price of which has been reduced to $3 per pair or $5 for two pairs:

OFFICE OF PATRICK DAILY, City Marshal,
New York, June 11, 1878.
Wilbur C. Benton, Esq., Brownstown, Ind.—
Dear Sir: I have given your Speed Accelerators a thorough test, single, double, attached them to the reins, to the saddle, overdraw and check-rein. In my judgment they are the most excellent things ever invented to produce speed and comfort for horses.

Horsemen and humanitarians have for years sought to invent attachments for horses.

sought to invest attachments for horses' mouths, the former looking principally to speed, the latter seeking relief for the horse from the strain of checks, and bits on the mouth. The Accelerators accompilab both, for mouth. The Accelerators accomplish both, for they remove the permanent strain of checks and bits from the mouth and head of the horse hy imparting the proper elasticity, which the horse feels immediately, and improves at once in style and speed. Owners of horses, whether trotters, roadsters, coach or business horses, should use them. Any horseman who gives your Accelerators a trial will not only indorse what I say, but recommend them to every one owning horses.

Hoping you will succeed in establishing what I firmly believe to be the best thing ever devised for horses, is the wish of one thoroughly convinced of their usefulness.

Yours truly.

Yours truly,
PATRICK DAILY, City Marshal.
