Agents Wanted. JOB PRINTING of every description neatly and promptly executed at Reasonable Rates at the Bloomfield Times Steam Job Office.

Dr. Holmes says that crying widows marry first. There is nothing like wet weather for transplanting.

Why is a ten-mile walk like a six-foot vagrant? Answer—Because it's a long tramp.

What is the difference between a hungry man and a glutton? One longs to eat and the other eats too long.

A barefooted little boy stepped on a bee and shortly after said to his mother: "O, ma, I didn't know that bees had splinters in their tails."

An artist once painted an angel with six toes. "Who ever saw an angel with six toes?" people enquired. "Who ever saw one with less?" was the counter question.

Cider may be a good temperate drink, but I can manage to get so drunk on it that I can't tell one of the 10 commandments from a byelaw of a baseball club, says Josh Billings.

A man very much intoxicated was taken to the station house. "Why didn't you bail him out?" inquired a bystander of a friend. "Bail him out!" he exclaimed, "why you couldn't have pumped him out."

"I should just like to see somebody try to abduct me," said Mrs. Smith, with some warmth, at the breakfast table the other morning. "Hem! so should I," said Mr. Smith, with peculiar earnestness.

"No," said a thoughtful boy, "I don't think Solomon was so rich as they say he was." "Why, my dear, what could have put that in your head?" "Why the Bible says he slept with his fathers; and I think if he had been so very rich he would have had a bed of his own."

A gentleman carried a letter of introduction from a friend to a stranger. The stranger received him coolly and showed him the door. A little investigation showed him the reason. The letter said: "Treat him like a tramp;" but the stranger read it, "Treat him like a tramp."

An exhorter in a camp meeting in Georgia was telling his congregation of the wickedness of the world, and how many people cheated, and lied, and backbited, and all that sort of thing, when an old storekeeper jumped up, and said: "I know who you are hintin' at. 'Tain't no such thing."

"What is the defendant's character for truth and veracity?" asked a Maine lawyer of a witness. "Wall, now, squire, she allers used me furstrate, I'll be blowed if she didn't. As for voracity, 'squire, why, bless you, that was her big holt. Why, I've seen that air gal eat a whole!"—Here the Judge asked the witness if he understood the question.

A good old farmer found himself one day with his boy at the further end of the row when the dinner bell sounded. Anxious to make every step count, he commenced to hoe his way back, saying to the boy as he did so, "Thomas, do you ever think about dying?" "Yes," said Tommy, "I think I'll die pretty quick if I don't get some dinner."

A skeptic, who was badgering a simple-minded old man about miracles and Balaam's ass, finally said: "How is it possible for an ass to talk like a man?" "Oh, well," replied the honest old believer, with meaning emphasis, "I don't see why it ain't as easy for an ass to talk like a man as it is for a man to talk like an ass."

He Wanted to be There. The Boston transcript has heard of a case where a young man applied to his employer for a short leave of absence. The employer, having his own views of his business, suggested, for a reason, that the young man delay his vacation for a few days. "I would," replied the young man, "but the fact is, I am going away to get married, the day is appointed, and I want to be there when it comes off." He was there on time.

A bachelor the other evening being twitted by some ladies with his single state, and asked why it was he never married, replied: "I don't know exactly how it is, but I have always felt an endisposition to marriage, and I can't see why it should be, either. I surely don't inherit it, for my father and mother were both married people."

And he actually never saw the bull he had perpetrated till his hearers burst out laughing at him.
