Very Strange.-On Sunday last as a Mr. Rambler was crossing the Shade Mountain about three miles east of Peru Mills, he found a fine large light bay stallion on the top of the mountain dead. The horse had a bridle on and from appearances had pawed a shoe off just before dying, as the place where he stood the ground was considerable dug up by his pawing and the limbs of the trees were all eaten off as far as the animal could reach. How the horse got there and to whom he belonged is involved in mystery. He must certainly have been placed there by some person as he could not have gotten there himself, but what the motive was that would prompt the fiend to place a poor brute in such a place to die is hard to tell.-Port Royal Times.

A Comical Situation.—Several days ago Al. Steininger traveling for C. C. Seebold with the White Sewing Machine, made a trip along the Susquehanna. He overtook an old boatman whom he invited to take a seat in his buggy. Proceeding down along the canal engaged in conversation the horse suddenly became frightened at an object in the road, and ran to one side and tumbled into the canal. The old man fell backward and at the same time seized Al. by the coattail, Al. fell in an opposite direction and here the two hung kicking and struggling until the old chap let go. Fortunately the horse was hitched to one of the Patent Single Trees and was soon disengaged from the buggy and was rescued. The picture would have been interesting in a comic Almanac.—Middleburg, Post.

Peterson's Magazine.

Peterson's Magazine, the cheapest and best of the Lady's Books, is on our table for November: The principal steel engraving, "For Mother's Fire," is rarely beautiful. Bo, also is the mammoth colored steel fashion plate.—But, as a cotemporary says, the stories, the fashione, the patterns, in short, everything in Peterson is the best of its kind. For 1879 a monthly Supplement will be given, containing a Full-sized Paper Pattern for a lady's, or child's dreas, thus giving to every subscriber twelve such patterns, extra, during the year. These patterns alone will be worth the subscription price. Five original copy-right novelets will also be given, besides a hundred shorter stories. Among the novelets will be one by that celebrated author, Frances Hodgson Burnett, and another by the author of "Josiah Allen's Wife." The price of this Lady's Book is but $3 00 a year, the postage pre-paid by the publisher. To Clubs the prices for $3 50, with a superb Mezzotht (24 inches by 20), "Chirst Blessing Little Children," the finest and costilest ever offered, to the person getting up the club. Never were such terms offered before! Specimens of the Magazine are sent, gratis, if written for, to those wishing to get up clubs. Subscribe to nothing else until you have seen a copy of this popular Magazine. Address C. J. Peterson, 303 Chestnut street Phil'a., Pa.
