Manhood! How Lost, How Restored!

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine) of Spermatorrhoea or Seminal Weakness, Voluntary Renital Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., also, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual excesses, only six cents. Price, in a sealed envelope, only six cents. The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically. This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the country. Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, post paid, on receipt of six cents or two postage stamps. Address the Publishers, 417 THE CULVERWELL MEDICAL CO., 41 Ann St., New York. Post Office Box, 4596.

DOE-SKINS. Our Stock of NEW GOODS for Men's Wear is complete.—Prices from 12 1/2 cents up. F. MORTIMER, New Bloomfield, Pa.

Some days ago I saw an article in a paper stating that dried apples were an effective remedy for the goat nuisance. I tried it yesterday. A goat got into my yard and I fed him with seven pounds of dried apples. After that I set him out a bucket of water, and he drank it dry. Then he began to swell, and in half an hour he was as big as a bass drum of a circus. His skin stretched out so that when he got to the sunlight you could count his ribs. He kept on swelling until I supposed he'd burst and blow things to pieces. But he didn't.—Finally I got tired waiting for him to burst, and I tried to drive him out of the yard with bricks. The first brick I biffed him with bounded back as if it had struck India rubber, and knocked one of the lights out of a French plate-glass window. He's swelled so big that I can't get him through the gate, and the swelling refuses to come down. If I take down the fence it will cost me $25 to put it up again. What shall I do? JOHN DONSON.

Answer.—Keep cramming him with dried apples and water until he explodes. Make a grand 4th of July salute of him.

Job, the good man of the Bible, who, as everybody knows, keeps a second hand clothing store, in Jerusalem, was generally supposed to be a patient man. One day a stranger called in and asked to look at some ulsters. Job showed him one of the nicest kind, with pockets in the sleeves and silver buckle. The man hinted that the coat was not all wool, but Job simply smiled. And even when he said something about a bad fit and pockets out of style, Job didn't get mad. But when the stranger insinuated that the buckles would fetch about a dollar and a half, then Job didn't smile worth a cent, but rose up and made a place on that man's forehead for a first-class boil.

Just before the public schools in New Haven closed for vacation, a lady teacher in one of the departments gave out the word "fob" for her class to spell. After it was spelled, as was her custom she asked the meaning of it. No one knew. The teacher then told the class that she had one and was the only person in the room that had. After a little while a hand went hesitatingly up. Teacher—"Well, what is it?" "Please ma'am, it's a bean."

A teacher in Greenock, during the Bible lesson, when speaking about Cain and Abel, asked one of his scholars: "Where did Cain go after he killed Abel?" "He went to bed, sir," was the reply. "Went to bed! Where did you get that information?" said the teacher. "It's in the chapter, sir, that Cain, after he had killed Abel, went to the Land of Nod."

A little fellow at whose house hens have been kept for but a few weeks, visited a neighbor's to find a playmate, when he was informed that his young friend was suffering from the chickenpox. The lady of the house, in tones of curiosity and solicitude, asked the little fellow if they had had the chicken-pox over at his house. "No," replied the youngster, gravely, "we haven't had our hens long enough yet."

"What does transatlantic mean, mamma?"—"O, hold your tongue, and don't bother me with any more questions. But I'll tell you this, and then you keep still. Transatlantic means across the Atlantic, there!" "I wanted to ask you what transparent means, mama, but I guess I know now—it means a cross parent."

"Don't you love her still?" asked the Judge of a man who wanted a divorce. "Certainly I do," said he; "I love her better still than any other way, but the trouble is she will never be still." The Judge, who is a married man himself, takes the case under advisement.

"So," said a lady, recently, to a merchant, "your pretty daughter has married a rich husband?" "Well," slowly replied the father, "I believe she has married a rich man; but, I understand, he is a very poor husband."

"I wish you would not give me such short weight for my money," said a customer to a grocer who had an outstanding bill against him. "And I wish you wouldn't give me such long wait for mine," replied the grocer.

"Walk in love." Put a comma after in, and see how much the sense will be altered.
