Manhood! How Lost, How Restored!

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine) of Spectatorship or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance, &c.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only six cents. The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the country. Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, post paid, on receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps.

THE CULVERWELL MEDICAL CO., 41 Ann St., New York; Post Office Box, 468.

"Spell love," said a young man to his girl the other night. "Y-o-u," she timidly essayed. The courtship had been a protracted one, but they are to be married now.

"Won't you ladies tell me what you are talking about," said a fop. I'm all ears." One of the ladies looked at him sharply, and said: "So you are; you ought never to get your hair cut."

A justice of the peace issued an attachment, and sent it to the constable of a neighboring village for service. In a few days the writ was returned, with the following explanatory note: The party named within started for heaven last week. He is now out of my jurisdiction, and left nothing subject to attachment except a widow.

C—B—, Constable.

The other day an Irishman was passing the grave-yard, where he saw two men, friends of a countryman who had just died. They were seeking for a burial lot.

"Who's dead?" he asked. "John Leary," was the reply. "When did he die?" "Yesterday." "Well, bedad, he had a foine day for it."

A Thoughtless Chap.

They were talking about the weight of different individuals in a certain family, and the daughter's young man, who was present, spoke up before he thought, and said: "I tell you that Jenny isn't so very light either, although she looks so." And then he looked suddenly conscious and blushed, and Jenny became absorbed in studying a chromo on the wall.

A Wife Wanted.

A San Francisco paper has received a letter from a soldier in Idaho stating that he wishes to secure a wife. "My time," says this Benedict, "is nearly out, and I intend to settle in this country, I intend to start a chicken ranch. I want a wife to take care of young chickens. I have got money. My wife will not have much to do—only milk nine cows, feed 600 young chickens, chop her firewood, cook three meals every day, and the rest of the time she can go out among her neighbors."

A Cincinnati man is responsible for the following: Some years ago, at the funeral of a friend, I was seated in a carriage with a person who in face carried all the habiliments of woe. I was not aware he was acquainted with the deceased. I became inquisitive. Says I, "Are you a relation?" "No." "A friend?" "No." In Yankee fashion, I said, "Why attend his funeral and look so sad?" He said, "In fact I am troubled with dyspepsia. My doctor advised me to ride. I am too poor to hire a carriage and therefore ride free to funerals." A cheerful situation for a dyspeptic we should say.

A good story is told of one of the leading clergymen of Albany, who is a devoted equestrian. A new horse had been sent him from the livery, and to quiet its friskiness the gamin who brought it was shouting; "Whoa, Emma!" The reverend gentleman, in all innocence, asked if that was the animal's name, and met with an affirmative response. Riding through the park the animal became restless, and the bystanders were convulsed with laughter to hear the good dominie repeating in the most earnest and somewhat excited tones: "Whoa, Emma!—Whoa, Emma!"

A Too Sudden Conversion.

An elderly gentleman of benign appearance has of late been distributing religious tracts in the street cars, and yesterday at least one case of quickened conscience was brought to public notice. A young man entered the car, paid his nickel, and was handed a tract headed, "Are you a sinner?" He turned pale at once, read a few lines, and suddenly called out—

"Yes, I am! I put a bad nickel in the fare-box but now I'll begin a new life by being honest. Here, driver, charge this half dollar and I'll pay my fare over again!"

The change was given and he paid, but after riding a block or so he left the car to see a man on the walk. The passengers thought it a wonderful case, and all were deeply interested, when the driver suddenly called out—

"Hang me, if this 'ere half dollar ain't bogus!" So it was.
