Brief Items.

On Wednesday night some fellow broke into the shoe shop of Henry Comp. in Newport, and stole two pair of boots.

Mrs. Bowman, of Lebanon county, who was recently immersed on the cold Sabbath two weeks ago, has since died from the shock.

The burgess of Huntingdon has had a lot of young men of that place arrested and fined for serenading and making night hideous.

We are glad to have our friends send us items of news, but don't wish any articles that are personal or calculated to injure the feelings of any one.

The funeral of Mr. Meredith Darlington will take place on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. The remains will be buried in the cemetery in this borough.

Poor people can now get married, as the fee for performing the ceremony has got down to hard pan. A couple were married in this town a few nights since who paid the sum of fifty cents.

Mr. Jerome Toomey was considerably hurt on Friday week by being thrown down by his horses, which scared at a locomotive while he was unloading ties at Messrs. Fickes' yard in Newport.

Friday and Saturday came very near being the coldest days of the winter. On Saturday morning the thermometer was at zero. In some parts of Canada the mercury stood at 30 degrees below zero on Friday.

On Thursday last, at Newport, Chas. Bateman, a tramp, being full of "benzine," fell on the railroad track and dislocating his shoulder. Dr. Sweeney, of Bloomfield, attended the tramp, and started him on his way rejoicing.

The "soap man" is now the object of much execration in the rural press.—Peddlers of soap made of deleterious matter are regarded as imposters and are doing much harm among the ignorant. Persons should buy of responsible persons.

Dr. Shull, of Markleville, was thrown out of his buggy on Thursday, the 13th inst., while on his way from Markleville to Newport. He was severely injured. One of the Bloomfield physicians, happening to be near at the time, attended to his wants.

J. S. Corman, Esq., and his wife and child were thrown out of a sleigh when near Newport on Saturday week by the runner going down suddenly into a chuck. His horse "lit out" for home and the party walked into town. The sleigh was badly upset.

Mr. Robert R. Haldeman, of Harrisburg, of the firm of Fagan & Haldeman, has sent an order to western Wisconsin for two bushels of wild rice, which he intends sowing in the spring along the margin of the extensive island known as Haldeman's island, above Green's dam, at Clark's Ferry.

The Middleburg Post says: On Thursday night about 12 o'clock the Furniture Room of Chas. Katherman located on lot adjoining the late residence of Dr. J. W. Rockefeller and formerly occupied by "The Post" was discovered to be on fire. The location of the fire when first discovered seems to indicate that it was the work of an incendiary. There was an insurance of $1,000 on Stock—no insurance on buildings. Twenty dollars invested in Hooks, Ropes and Ladders would have saved the dwelling house which was in appearance as fine a building as one in town. The means for protection against fire in our town consists of three or four syringes. Estimated loss not covered by insurance $2,000.

I. W. S.—We don't pretend to be posted sufficiently to reply to your questions, and do not desire to open up our columns to a discussion of the subject of your letter.

Last.—On Saturday the 8th inst., on the road between Landisburg and Falling Springs, a large dark double blanket shawl. A reward of one dollar will be paid for its return to Wm. Bousam, Landisburg, Pa.

Arm Broken.—This morning (Monday) Mrs. Roth, wife of Conrad Roth of this borough fell while passing from their stable to the house and broke her left fore-arm, the fracture was adjusted by Dr. M. B. Strickler.

Elbow Dislocated.—On Wednesday last Miss Ellen, a daughter of Mr. Jno. Balr, of Carroll township, stepped on the ice while at school and fell, dislocating her elbow. The dislocation was reduced by Dr. Sweeney.

Hon. Joseph Casey, formerly Chief Justice of the Court of Claims, died at the Riggs House in Washington on the 10th inst., at the age of 64. He was a native of Maryland, and in 1836 began the study of law under Honorable Chas. B. Penrose, of Carlisle, this State, where two years later he was admitted to the bar. He settled at New Bloomfield, Perry county, but in 1845 removed to New Berlin, Union county, where he became prominent as a lawyer.

A New Landlord.—On next Thursday Mr. John Newcomer, the new landlord at the Eagle Hotel in this borough will move here with his family. John has not only had considerable experience as a landlord, but has traveled enough to know how things are done elsewhere, and we have no doubt he will give his customers entire satisfaction. Mr. Newcomer asks a share of the public patronage, and promises that those who patronise him shall have no reason to complain.

A Query.—Supposing that from San Francisco to New York is a distance of 3,200 miles, and that two trains leave each city daily, Sundays included, at 7 A.M. and 7 P.M., traveling 400 miles every twenty-four hours, thus making the journey precisely in eight days. A train leaves New York on Monday morning for San Francisco: how many trains coming eastward does it meet during the trip? We are ready to receive answers.

Forgery.—We are sorry to have to record the fact that Robert Patterson, a man who, although possessed of many bad habits, never injured any one but himself, forged the name of Milton Clemson to a note for $21, payable at the People's Bank, the cashier of which promptly discounted it, the long-haired Robert leaving for parts unknown, in the evening of the same day, and he has not been heard of since. Only a few days before Mr. Clemson endorsed a note of $5, for Patterson at the Newport Deposit Bank.—Newport News.

Wouldn't Stand Cooked.—On Thursday evening, while a number of persons were sitting in the office of Joseph S. Smith, Esq., of this borough, a young man by the name of Campbell entered and said he had traded his watch on a revolver, which he, at the request of a young man named Lightner, exhibited. Lightner while looking at it attempted to cock it, when the load was discharged, passing through the door of the room into the street, at about the height of an ordinary man's head. Fortunately no one was injured, but a number were pretty badly scared. Why are young chaps allowed to run around with loaded pistols when there is a law against it?

Robbed Again.—Since the store of Eter & Shanklin was robbed on the morning of January 18th of $1,600 and a watch, the officers of the police force have kept close watch in that vicinity with a view of preventing similar acts. Last night as Officers Wm. Cilley and Hockley were on their beat on State St., the former heard a slight noise which attracted his attention in the vicinity of Eter & Shanklin's store. On going to the store door, they discovered something on the step, and Cilley requested Hockley to get a light while he kept guard, as he thought something was wrong. Hockley had scarcely started for the light when Cilley discovered a man's head rise slowly over the door window and then suddenly disappear.—Telling Hockley to guard the rear door, Cilley prepared to go into the store and capture the burglar, when the latter, hearing the instructions given, sought safety by jumping through the door window, alighting almost in Cilley's arms. The robber was quick in recovering, and dashed down State street followed by Cilley, who discharged five shots at him, and finally succeeded in getting hold of him near Canal and Walnut St. On reaching him the officer saw that his prisoner was "Cull" Crothers, a young man aged about nineteen years, whose parents reside on Canal St., near State. Crothers remarked when arrested: "Did you see me in that store?" and was informed that he had been seen there. He was taken to the Mayor's office and searched, and twelve dollars in pennies and nickels found in his pockets, which he had taken from the money drawer, prying it open with a large cheese knife. He had evidently tried to open the safe and desk in his search for money, as marks were made where he had attempted to pry open the latter. Crothers gained entrance to the store by breaking a window in the door, and after he had robbed the money drawer he took a box of tobacco and overcoat and placed them on the front step and then prepared for his exit. It was the box and overcoat that attracted the attention of the police. He had another box ready to drop on the step when interrupted. Crothers was then sent to jail to await a hearing. He admits the crime, but says he was drunk and does not know how he did it.—Harrisburg Telegraph of 13th inst.

FOR THE TIMES. BLAIN, February 11th, 1879.

Mr. Editor:—The mystic reaper has again appeared in our place and gathered two more sheaves into the garner. Mrs. Otto, wife of William Otto, died during the past week; also, Mr. William Roth, son of Bernard Roth, lately deceased. Mrs. Otto was a quiet, unassuming lady, and commanded the respect of all who enjoyed her acquaintance. Mr. Roth was a young man of strict integrity and irreproachable character, and was highly esteemed by the people of this section. It is sad to think that he was called away when the roseate hues of early life were yet upon him. He was lately married to a Miss Moore, of Madison township, and no doubt was looking forward to the enjoyment of a long, useful and happy life. The remains of both the deceased were interred in the Lutheran graveyard in this place. The afflicted ones have the sympathies of the community in their sad bereavement.

The Tin shop so much talked of has not yet made its appearance, but we are looking for it every day, and as opposition is the life of trade, I presume business will be brisk. Probably great efforts will be made to secure custom, and perhaps oil chromos and steel engravings will be presented to customers buying liberally. Whilst I hope the new firm will succeed, I am under the impression they will have a hard road to travel, as the Moreland Bros. are old hands at the business. They will extend to the new firm the right hand of friendship and endeavor to make it as warm as possible. The Messrs. Morelands have been in the business for 20 years, are excellent mechanics and will not surrender the trade without a struggle. Yours Respectfully, J.

Juniata County.—We copy the following from the Juniata county papers of last week.

Sheriff Walls took the Rev. Alecutt, to the Western penitentiary on Monday morning for horse stealing.

Mrs. Heck, an elderly lady, fell on the icy pavement one day last week, and broke her arm at the wrist.

William McManigal, of Port Royal, on Tuesday evening, got into a difficulty with Clarence Maxwell, of Mifflintown, in the establishment of Hagan & Hamilton, which resulted in the former being cut on the face and head with a hatchet. Eight cuts were found on his head. The wonder is that he was not killed.

Samuel VanOrmer, of McAllisterville, we learn, was seriously hurt on Saturday night. He was in attendance at prayer-meeting in the Lutheran church of that place and on his way home, while walking in the road, a man driving in a sleigh drove against him which knocked him down and injured his back very badly. He is confined to his bed. Mr. VanOrmer is an old citizen of Fayette township and well known in the county.

Cumberland County.—We copy the following from the Cumberland county papers of last week:

On Thursday last, David Boserl caught fourteen suckers in the Lebert Spring, by hand. Some of them measured eighteen inches in length, and were the largest fish of the kind we ever saw.

After the Ecker robbery last summer it was generally circulated that but $20 was offered as a reward for the apprehension of the guilty parties. We have been requested to announce that the reward is $100, and has been that amount since shortly after the robbery, but was only announced to the officers and not made known through the papers.—Volunteer.

Monday evening about six o'clock while the down passenger train, No. 8, of the Cumberland Valley railroad, was running along at regular schedule speed, and when in the neighborhood of the first crossing west of Oakville, Mr. William McClune, aged seventy nine years, and a servant girl in his employ came driving along the road which was parallel with the track. When within a short distance of his house, Mr. McClune turned to go over the crossing not having heard the crossing signal sounded by the engineer—on account of both himself and the girl being very hard of hearing. The engineer seeing the danger, sounded the danger whistle and tried to stop his train, but before he could accomplish this, the engine struck the horse, and killing it instantly by breaking its neck and carrying the buggy and occupants down the track say 50 yards to a cattle guard, where they were found with the buggy box. The old gentleman had a deep gash cut on the temple and received several severe bruises, but the servant was found to be only insensible for a short time, with no bruises or broken bones. The buggy was broken into fragments. Conductor Miller sent his engine down to Oakville for a physician, who arrived in a short time and attended to the injuries of Mr. McClune and the servant, who had been carried to their homes in the vicinity in the meantime. The escape from instant death was a most providential one to the occupants of the buggy. The man died the following day.
