A LECTURE To Young Men! Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope. Price 6cts.

A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment and Radical Cure of Seminal Weakness, or Spermatorrhea, induced by self-abuse, involuntary Emissions, Impotency, Nervous Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Consumption, Epilepsy, and Piles; Mental and Physical Incapacity, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M.D., author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that that the awful consequences of self-abuse may be effectually removed without medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials; pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands. Sent, under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps.

John Rest and Mary Jane Weary were married the other day. "There is rest for the weary," sure enough.

Young ladies think they Miss it by not, and many a married lady thinks she Mrs it in being, married.

A Paducah (Ky.) paper says money is so scarce in that place that even a change in the weather is hailed with pleasure.

"Good morning, Smith; you look sleepy." "Yes," replied Smith, "I was up all night." "Up where?" "Up stairs in bed."

"What are you chewing that nasty tobacco for?" said a benevolent looking gentleman to a twelve-year-old boot-black to whom he had submitted his boots for a "shine." "I chaws it, sah, to git de strength out ob it, sah."

A musician, George Sharpe, had his name on the door thus: "G. Sharp." A wag of a painter, who knew something of music, early one morning made the following undeniable and significant addition: "Is A flat."

Hold your breath— here comes a conundrum: "What is the difference between Alex. Stephens and the man who was shot some months ago while playing whist?" Give it up? Why, one is skilled at what and the other was killed at it too.

They were out riding. Said Theodore, "What tree, Angelina, bears the most precious fruit?" Angelina— "Oh, Dory! I can't tell unless it is a cherry tree." Theodore looks unutterable sweetness as he gazes into Angelina's eyes and says, "The axletree, darling."

Sympathetic old lady (giving money to a solemn-looking tramp): "Is it your inability to procure work, my good man, that causes your dejected air?" "No, mom; it is my inability to git suthin' to do that keeps me all the time pensive and cast down."

"Gentlemen of the jury," said an Irish barrister, "it will be for you to say whether this defendant shall be allowed to come into court with unblushing footsteps, with a cloak of hypocrisy in his mouth, and draw three bullocks out of my client's pocket with impunity."

It is not true that Bertha Von Hilern has paralysis of the l—. Now, before we complete the word let us reflect. If we go on and say "—egs," some awfully particular folks will stop their subscriptions, and if we say "—imbs" the other crowd will accuse us of mock modesty. Guess we won't finish the sentence. Anyhow, she hasn't got paralysis.

A western editor wrote the following item for his paper. "From the sample trunks in the halls of the hotels, we should judge the drummers from New York houses have arrived in town," but the compositor made it read; "From the sample trunks in the hallways of hotels, we should judge the drunkards from New York houses have arrived in town." The following evening the drummers called on the editor and a free fight was the result.

Wanted to be Clothed. Joseph had been engaged as man servant the night before, and at 7 A. M. was still in bed, enjoying a pleasant waking dream, when his master rang the bell, rang it again, rang a triple bob-major, and finally, receiving no answer, burst into the room like a whirlwind.

"Here I've been ringing for you for the last hour, you lazy brute; what do you mean, sir, by this conduct? What do you mean?"

"You hired me and agreed to board, lodge and clothe me. I was waiting for you to come up and clothe me. Hand me them pants, will you, now that you're here."

A Pun on Authors' Names. "Where were you last night?" said the judge, "Carnival Authors," said the prisoner. "Stayed till nine o'clock; was a little Dryden, and went out and Goethe drink. I couldn't pay the Scot, and a Longfellow at the Wayside Inn asked my name." "Robert Burns," says I; "Put him out," says he; "The Dickens you will, says I; "my Holmes in the Highlands a drinking the beer." "You'll get no Moore here," says he; and the Little Boy Blue came along and ran me in. That's Watts the matter, judge, I would not tell you a false Hood; "I'm innocent as a Lamb."

And the judge thought so too, for he sent him behind the bars for thirty days, a wiser if not a Whittier man.
