Andrew Cramer, who in company with three other boys ran away from the Soldiers' Orphan School at McAllisterville, on Saturday a week, while attempting to board a freight train near Birmingham, Huntingdon county, had one of his legs crushed and died four hours afterward.

March Weather Report.—B. McIntire, Esq., hands us the following report of the weather for the month of March, 1879. Average of thermometer at 8 o'clock A. M., 34° 38', and of barometer 30 inches minus 6-tenths. Average of greatest heat 42° 9', and of cold 20° 50'.

Spring Schedule.—The new schedule went into effect on Sunday night, but the only trains materially interested are Philadelphia express, east, and Fast Line west. The former passes through Newport a few minutes before 12 o'clock at night, arriving in Harrisburg at 12:35.

A Good Entertainment.—On Monday night of last week, Weston's Philadelphia Concert and Comedy company gave an entertainment in the court house, that was so heartily appreciated, that another one was given on Tuesday night, at which they promised an entire change of pieces.

The company return to this place and give another entertainment on Tuesday night of this week when we hope they will have a crowded house, for they deserve it. In addition to being good in their profession, the members of the troupe are gentlemen, and we take pleasure in commending them to the public.

A Live Firm.—Messrs. Stephens & Beetem, the enterprising carpet dealers of Carlisle, have been putting up advertising boards throughout this county. As they keep a large stock, they take pride in letting people know it, and as they believe in quick sales and short profits, people take pleasure in buying from them. For further information see their advertisement in another column.

Charged with Horse Stealing.—On Wednesday last, a man refusing to give his name, but saying he was from Middletown, was arrested, charged with horse stealing. He had hired a horse of Mr. J. Cromleigh at Duncannon, and failing to return at the time expected, Mr. C. followed him up. In this place he had pawned the robe for his hotel bill, and had then driven to Newport, where he was arrested. He subsequently said his name was John Snyder.

Change of Church Relations.—Revs. A. H. Spangler and A. F. Yeager, of the U. B. Church, having made application for admission into the Lutheran ministry, a committee was accordingly appointed by the President of the Central Pennsylvania Synod to examine the applicants. This examination was held at the Lutheran parsonage, of this place, on Wednesday, the result of which was the recommendation of the applicants to the President of Synod for reception; subject, however, to a final action of Synod at its annual meeting in September. The committee on examination consisted of Revs. Shindel, Berry, Copenhaver, Lentz and Colver.—News.

P. R. R. New Superintendent.—Mr. Chas. E. Pugh, who succeeds Mr. G. Clinton Gardner as general superintendent of the Pennsylvania railroad, assumed the duties of the office on April 1st. The elevation which Mr. Pugh has now attained through a series of promotions is evidence of what hard work and merit must bring to pass. Mr. Pugh began railroad life as a freight agent at Newport, this county, in 1859. In three years he was made conductor of a passenger train running between Philadelphia and Pittsburg. After serving one year he was promoted to the responsible position of train dispatcher of the Philadelphia division. Two years later found him assistant train master of the same division and six years later he was appointed general agent of the company at Philadelphia. In this last position his satisfactory performance of its exceedingly onerous duties during the centennial year, justly increased his already established reputation. During the year over one hundred and fifty thousand cars were moved and more than three millions of passengers transported without a single accident. In his present position Mr. Pugh possesses the confidence of all the employees who know him.

Fatal Railroad Accident.—Early yesterday morning while the Empire train west was approaching the crossing at Hanna and Race streets, south Harrisburg, the engineer noticed the body of a man lying alongside the track, and he accordingly gave notice when the train reached the depot. The remains, which were fearfully mangled, were picked up and taken to the dead house at the depot and Coroner Porter was notified of the circumstance.

In the pockets of the deceased's clothes was found a pocket book with a small sum of money and several blank checks of "Central Banking Co.," Port Royal, Juniata county, Pa., and some other papers, which led to the discovery that the man was Samuel Stem, aged about 72 years, a well known tanner residing near Waterford, Juniata county, Pa.

From one of the courteous employees of the Pennsylvania railroad company a Patriot reporter gleaned the following facts:

Mr. Stem was the owner and proprietor of a large tannery (which had not been running for some time past) located near the thriving town of Waterford in the Juniata valley, say eighteen or twenty miles from Port Royal, below Mifflintown. He left home last Tuesday for the purpose of attending the tanners' convention at Philadelphia on Wednesday. After the convention had adjourned Mr. Stem purchased a stock of hides and started for home the same night in company with a merchant from the village of Johnson, Juniata county, named Joseph Deering, on the Pacific express. He had stated to Mr. Deering that he intended remaining in Harrisburg over night, and taking the way train for home on Thursday.

The theory as to the cause of the shocking and mysterious accident seems to be this: When the train reached the point where the accident took place the man must have been awakened from a nap or sleep by the brakeman calling out "Harrisburg," that, probably, imagining the train was about passing through or had left the city, he leaped from the steps of the car in a half-awake condition, and that he was, most likely, struck by the fast line going east, (which passes the Pacific express frequently at, or near, this point.)

Cumberland County.—We copy the following from the Cumberland county papers of last week:

On Sunday last, we are informed, the large tannery of Mr. Kast, in Frankfort twp., was burned down. We have been unable to learn any particulars. Mr. Kast has been marketing leather in Carlisle for many years.—Mirror of the 5th Inst.

On Wednesday night the two men named George Henry Ulrich, alias Geo. the Bavarian, and Charles Heller, alias Frankfort the butcher, confined in the county prison, charged with robbing the McKeehan family, on the evening of the 20th of January last, came near making their escape.

About seven o'clock on Tuesday evening an alarm of fire called out the firemen, and in a short time two streams of water were being poured upon the fire, which was in the back building of Marion Hall, the fine property of J. W. Eby, Esq., on West Main street. The fire broke out in a room occupied by an invalid son, and had gained considerable headway when discovered. The damage was light.

Last Sunday evening a light was observed by a number of our citizens in the direction of Sample's bridge. Upon inquiring, we discovered the cause to be the burning of the large barn of Solomon Emsminger, on the opposite side of the Conodoguinet creek, on the road leading from Sample's bridge to the State road. The barn was entirely destroyed, together with a new clover seed huller (valued at $375) and hay, straw, feed and some farming implements.—The stock was saved. The opinion is that the fire was the work of an incendiary. The loss amounts to about $1,200, with an insurance of $365 in the Watertown company, of New York.—Mechanicsburg Journal.

Juniata County.—We copy the following from the Juniata county papers of last week.

The farm in Spruce Hill twp., known as the Patton place, was sold on Monday last a week at public sale for the sum of $2,000.50. Mr. Samuel Wharton was the purchaser.

Mrs. P. A. Crawford lost a pocket-book containing $75 last Thursday evening, on the pavement somewhere between Dr. Atkinson's residence, on Main street, and her place of residence on Third street.

The house occupied by Mr. Warner at Grahamville, caught fire from a defective flue, last Wednesday morning, and burned to the ground. There was no insurance. The house was owned by the Grahams.

Daniel Fisher, of Milford township, was moving last week, and to take extra care of the sewing machine, placed it in the carriage. Mrs. Fisher and Miss Mover got in to ride to the new place. The horse scared and threw the ladies out, hurting both of them, Mrs. Fisher badly, and smashing the machine all to pieces.

A few days ago a horse driven by Mr. Samuel Cleck, of Walker township, frightened at a Gypsy wagon, near Dan. Sieber's, in Fermanagh township. The horse turned suddenly around, upset the buggy, threw Samuel Cleck and his father out on the road, and collided with a buggy in which Commissioner Wilson was seated, driving, and nearly upset his vehicle. The collision brought Cleck's horse to a halt. No damage was done, which is quite a wonder, considering how lively an occasion it was.
