A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment and Badical cure of Seminal Weakness, or Spermator-rhoza, induced by Self-Abuse. Involuntary Emissions, Impotency, Nervous Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits: Mental and Physical Incapacity, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that that the awful consequences of Self-Abuse may be effectually removed without medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials; pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

23. This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

LEWIS POTTER, Attorney. April 1, 1879.

An editor, in speaking of a new book says, "It is bound to sell." Isn't that what they bind books for, generally.

A pretty girl won a musket in the French lottery. When they gave it to ber she asked, "Don't they give a soldler with it ?"

"Judge, what is the best substitute for wisdom?" asked a loquacious lawyer. "Suppose you try silence," responded the Judge.

The Ithaca Journal says a young lady gave her ticket to a rural swain to have her trunk checked to Rochester. and he immediately sought out the trunk and tacked the ticket on.

Miss Brown, I have been to learn how to tell fortune," said a fellow to a brunette; "give me your hand, if you please."

"La! Mr. White, how sudden you are! well go ask pa."

A little girl in St. Louis where a minister had been invited to dinner was privately placed on her good behavior. Finding a lull in the conversation at the tea table she folded her hands and said: "O God, please pass the butter."

Gen. Lee asked a straggler one day, whom he found eating green persimmons, if he did not know they were unfit for food. "I'm not eating them for food, General," replied the man. "I'm eating them to draw my stomach up to fit my rations."

Dean Stanley never gesticulates in the pulpit, and on one occasion his glove, which was left on his head when he removed his hat, remained there during the entire service, somewhat to the embarrassment of the decorous congregation.

"The widow lived on a limbacy left her by a relative." "What did you call that word?" asked the teacher; "the word is legacy, not limbacy." "But," said the little girl, "my sister says I must say limb, not leg." Drilling her class in poetry, the teacher quoted from familiar lines of

A little girl at school read thus:

"Now," she asked, "why did the girl want to be called early?" "Don't know," replied Tommy, "unless it was because that was her name." A jury in North Carolina, after being charged in the usual way by the judge, retired to their room, when a white juror ventured to ask a colored associate if he understood the charge of me early, call me early, mother, dear."

nuffin for dat does he? Why, I thought we was gwine to get pay!" Two men were looking at some persons stretching a rope across the street from one house top to another for the purpose of suspending a banner. Said one "shure an' what will they be afther a-do-in' at the top of thim houses there?"-The reply was: "Faith an' it's a submarin telegraph they're afther puttin' up, I suppose." A funny scene was witnessed a few days ago in the federal court at Danville, Va. A colored man named Gravely was indicted for selling liquor without license. When he saw the jury before which he was to be tried, about equally divided between white and black, he exclaimed, "For God's sake don't let them niggers try me." Efforts were made to pacify him, but he insisted that "niggers would hang a man just to see him kick."

A small boy in town had seen his mother's fur muff that had been badly eaten with moths. Shortly afterwards he was in his father's stable watching the process of currying his pet pony. The animal was shedding its coat, and consequently large bunches of hair came out with each application of the comb. With tears in his eyes the little fellow rushed into the house and exclaimed, "Oh, mamma! mamma! the moths have got into my pony, and I'm afraid he's ruined.

A young lady was sitting with a gallant captain in a charming decorated recess. On her knee was a diminutive niece, placed there pour les convenances. In the adjoining room, with the door open, were the rest of the company. Says the little niece, in a jealous and very audible voice, "Auntie kiss me too." I leave you to imagine what had just happened. "You should say twice, Ethel, dear; two is not grammar," was the immediate rejoinder. Clever girl
