PROF. HARRIS' RADICAL CURE FOR SPERMATORRHOEA. "SEMINAL PASTILLE" A Valuable Discovery and New Departure in Medical Science, an entirely New and positively effective Remedy for the speedy and permanent Cure of Seminal Emissions or Impotency by the only true way, viz: Direct Application to the principal seat of the Disease, acting by Absorption, and exerting its specific influence on the Seminal Vesicles, Ejaculatory Ducts, Prostate Gland, and Uterus. The use of the Remedy is attended with no pain or inconvenience, it is quickly dissolved and soon absorbed, producing an immediate cooling and restorative effect upon the sexual and nervous organizations wrecked from self-abuse and excess, restoring to the brain, nerves, and system, the vigour and sound memory, removing the Dimness of Sight, Nervous Debility, Confusion of Ideas, Aversion to Society, Etc., Etc., and the appearance of premature old age usually accompanying this trouble, and restoring perfect Sexual Vigor, where it has been lost for years. This mode of treatment has stood the trial in every severe case, and is now a pronounced success. Drugs are low priced, and the Remedy is put up, and, as many can bear witness to, with but little, if any pain or inconvenience. There is no Nausea about this Preparation, and it is not objectionable to the most delicate of females. It is sold by the Medical Profession to be the most rational means yet discovered, as to its value, and it is now conceded by the Medical Profession to be the cause of many of our troubles, that it is well known to be the cause of our troubles, and upon whom quackery prey with their various nostrums and big fees. The Remedy is put up in a neat box, enough to last a month, and sent in a plain wrapper by mail sealed for $3—Two boxes, sufficient to effect permanent cure unless in severe cases $5—Three boxes, being three full months' supply, sent by mail, and return of freight, in the worst cases, $7—Full DIRECTIONS for using will accompany EACH BOX. (Send for a Descriptive Pamphlet giving Anatomical Illustrations, which will convince the most sceptical that they can be restored to perfect manhood, and fitted for the duties of life, same as if never affected. "Corn bread," said the Irish waiter, "we haven't got; an' isn't it corn bafe ye mane."

When a man puts an innocent hen to work over a porcelain egg, is he setting that hen a good egg-sample.

"This bread is sour," said Jones at the table, recently. "Yes," rejoined Smith; "it's our bread if we pay for it; and the landlady looked relieved.

"Ma, lend me a pencil; I want to draw some ladies." "Draw some ladies! Why, Johnny, this is Sunday." "Well, I'll draw them in their Sunday clothes." Proposition declined, with spansks.

"Are you building air-castles in Spain, Mr. Jones?" said a landlady to a boarder, who was thoughtfully regarding his coffee-cup. "No, madame; only looking over my grounds in Java," replied Jones.

At a recent performance in the New Haven Opera House, as a number of students left their seats between acts, a good lady was heard to observe: "Ain't it too bad those fellows have to go home and go to studying?"

A bright boy was walking along the street with his mother, and, observing a man with a peculiar hitch in his gait approaching, he drolly exclaimed, "Look there, mamma! See how that poor man stutters with his feet."

A lady remarked to a popular divine that his sermons were a little too long. "Don't you think so?" said she—"Just a little?"

"Ah, dear madame," replied the divine. "I am afraid you don't like the sincere milk of the word."

"Yes, I do," said she; but you know the fashion, now-a-days, is condensed milk."

A lightning-rod peddler was struck by lightning in Indiana, while seated on his wagon during a thunder storm, talking through the window of a farmer's residence trying to induce the farmer to let him rod the barn. It was the largest funeral ever seen in Indiana. People went miles to see the deceased. They couldn't believe it until they saw it with their own eyes.

At the battle of Shiloh a German officer rushed up to Gen. Grant and said: "Sheneral Shwartz's battery is took," "Well, sir," said Grant, "you spiked the guns before they were taken?"

"Vat! spikie dem new guns? No, Sheneral, it would schpall 'em."

"Well, then, what did you do?" "Do? vy we went right in and took 'em pack again."

"My little seven-year-old girl," writes a friend, "was in the sitting-room alone with her uncle, and dreamily looking from the window. Without turning her head, she said 'Uncle Horace, eight and seven make fifteen, don't they?' He replied that she was right. 'Then,' said she, in half soliloquy, 'it is only eight years before I shall have a beau, and, oh! I dread it.' Can't Get Enough.

"Young man," said a stern old professor to a student who had been charged with kissing one of his daughters—"young man, don't get into that habit. You'll find that kissing is like eating soup with a fork." "How so, Sir?" asked the student. "Because," answered the old professor, "you can't get enough of it."

A countryman, seating himself in a fashionable restaurant with the intention of eating a hearty dinner, summoned a waiter and made known his purpose. The waiter skipped briskly away, and finally returned with a handsomely bound bill of fare, which he opened and placed before the guest, who pushing it away, scornfully observed: "O, come, now, you can't cram no literature down me; vittals is what I want—vittals, and purty durned quick, too."

Hard on the Drummer. In connection with drummers, the ex-purser of one of our rival steamers, who is now engaged as a traveling salesman, tells a good anecdote at his own expense. He, with some other gentlemen, recently stopped for the night at the old brick hotel in Centerville, Md. While snugly seated in the sitting room, the voice of the landlord was heard addressing the colored porter: "Any arrivals, John?"

"Yes, sah."

"How many?"

"Three, sah."

"Who are they?"

"Two gemmens an' a drummer, sah."
