"Father, what is an Israelite?" "My son, an Israelite is a rich Jew." "And what is a Jew, father?" "A poor Israelite."

Shakspeare says that "use strengthens habit." Somebody states that he tried the experiment on a coat, but it did not answer at all.

er Irish Drill-Sergeant (to a squad of militia-men). " Prisint arms!" (Astonishing result.) "Hivens! what a 'prisint!' Just stip out here now and look at yersilves!"

"is a very useful article to a woman. It serves the purpose of a toothpick, buttonhook and hair-fastener; but all this is no excuse for having one in your vest pocket when your wife don't know where it comes from."

"Ma, has sister Floy ever traveled any?" "No, child, no." "Then, when I was a lyin under the sofa Sunday night and sister and Mr. John came in from church and was a sittin' in the big rockin' cheer, how come her to say that the nicest land she ever was in was Lapland ?"

a "I dreamt about you last night, Bob," said Fred.

"I hope it was pleasant," said Bob. "Oh! yes," replied Fred; "very pleasant while it lasted. I dreamt that you paid the ten dollars you owe me."

"Johnnie, what is a noun?"

"Name of a person, place or thing." "Very good, Johnnie, give us an example." "Hand-organ grinder."

noun ?"

"And why is 'hand-organ grinder' a

"Because he's a person plays a thing." A Kentucky father and his little daughter had bad colds. The family physician said that "rock candy and whisky equally divided" would be good for the colds. The father got a supply of these articles, and divided them equally, giving his little daughter all the candy and taking all the whisky himself. George," said a schoolmistress to one of her unruly scholars, "why is it you behave so badly? When you first came to school you were obedient, submissive, and willing to learn; now you are just the contrary." "Well, to tell the truth, marm," said George, "I was not much acquainted then." Little Billy was told, "Never ask for a thing at the table. Little boys should wait until they are served." The other day little Billy was forgotten in the distribution, and was not served at all. What could be do? Presently, after reflecting seriously, he asked, "Mamma, when little boys starve to death do they go to heaven ?"

A Sly Old Joker.

A victim of omnibus pickpockets determined to get even with them, so he put into his pocket another pocketbook, containing only a slip of paper, on which were written the words, "This time, you rascal, you've lost the rewards of your labor!" He got into the same omnibus and waited, resolved to have the first pickpocket that meddled with him arrested. Twenty minutes passed and nothing happened, and, tired of waiting, he got out, having first assured himself that his pocketbook was safe. He opened it, and, in place of his piece of white paper, there was a blue one, which he unfolded, and read as follows -" What a sly joker you are!"

A Satisfactory Excuse.

A clergyman once rebuked an eccentric old fellow for sleeping during divine service.

"I never sleep while at church," returned the accused.

"But you sit with your head back and your eyes closed." "One does not necessarily sleep when one closes one's eyes, else I might accuse the cunning old chap. "Then pray tell me why you sit with closed eyes throughout the entire sermon," asked the preacher with great earnestness.

you of praying in your sleep," rejoined

"Well, replied the other, since you press me so closely I must tell you. You see I have a scolding wife who lectures me soundly for the merest trifle, and she somewhat resembles you when she scolds. So when you become excited I can almost imagine it is my wife lecturing me, and I close my eyes to shut out the sight."

The minister questioned no further, and the eccentric chap was permitted to take his Sunday nap unquestioned.
