The Newport " Ledger" says : A deeplaid plot was recently reported to have been laid to rob the house of Jos. Hammaker, in Watts twp., by the friends of Sam. Albright, on Wednesday night. But the plans were frustrated by Ham-maker's boys getting wind of the plot, and watching the house.

somehow or other when the party reached the place the dead man had disappeared. What had become of him was a mystery. The gentleman reporting the matter is a perfect temperance man and of course never troubled with the jim jams" or anything of the kind. The box was brought home empty, and the gentlemen looked as if they would rather not be questioned about the matter.

The Miller Murder .- During the past week some new developments have been made in regard to the Albright-Miller murder. Although Maria Hammaker swore at the coroner's inquest that she was the wife of Miller, it appears such was not the case. They were however to be married either the day of the murder or the day following. Miss H. accompanied the body of Miller back to the residence of his mother, where she remained till Friday when Mrs. Miller asked her if she was married to her son and if so demanded to see her marriage certificate. The girl left her house with the promise to get it, but did not return. She however went to the house of Mrs. Weeks, the mother of Miller's first wife where she staid till Saturday morning. Capt. Cummings the employer of Maria in Harrisburg gives to the " Telegraph" the following statement in regard to the affair:

allair: Miss Hammaker has resided with me for nearly a year. The statement that Albright had been seen at my house since the 14th of May is false. The person referred to is another individual. I consider Miss Hammaker perfectly respectable and honest. She left our place with the intention of going home, expecting to be married to Miller. Her action on Saturday I attribute to tem-porary insanity, and she is at present under a physician's charge. She has no friends or relatives here, and I intend to protect her. In answer to the question, "Why has she given such contradictory statements?" the captain said: "Her health was not good before she left for home, and the excitement incident to health was not good before she left for home, and the excitement incident to the murder, coming on top, has tempo-rarily unsettled her. She has often wished, as stated in the papers, to tell Mrs. C. something, meaning, of course, her having a child to Albright, which fact was also known to Miller. Last night she told my wife she was never married to Albright, but admitted hav-ing a child to him and that was all the claim he had to her as a wife. The only time she admits seeing Albright was at my house in May last. After she left Weeks' house on Saturday morning, she went to the river, and had not been on the cars as rumored. I think that she left for the purpose of committing suicide, as after she returned she remark-ed: "Oh, my God! I wish that I had done what I started to do." She also remarked previous to Mrs. Cummings: "There is only one way out of this;" meaning suicide. We knew she intend-ed to go home and Miller was to follow her. There was nothing clandestime about the meeting. She was to return on Saturday last to work at my house.

about the meeting. She was to return on Saturday last to work at my house. We were under the impression that they were to be married. Since giving these were to be married. Since giving these contradictory statements concerning her marriage, my wife asked her, "Mary, why did you make that statement, that you were married to Miller." She re-plied: "I will tell you something." I think she gave this story to keep Al-bright away, as he was bothering her. She did not want to see him in May. When she came back from Newport, she gave my wife a letter which she had received from Miller. It was addressed "Mrs. Maria C. Miller."

Mrs. Captain Cummings refuses to allow any one to see Miss Hammaker in her present distressed state of mind .-She states that " Mary," as the young woman is called in the family, always conducted herself properly, and her opinion is that injustice the been done her. Mrs. Cummings is of the opinion that Miss Hammaker will give a straight story at the proper time.

clothing knife and pistol, was identi-fied as the body of Albright, and the pistol wound showed that he committed suicide. The remains were taken in charge by his parents, and was buried in a field. Thus the county is saved the expense of a trial, and the community is rid of a criminal.

There are some people, however, who think the body found is not the body of Albright, but of some other person put there by his friends as a blind. It is not probable though that such is the case, and we have no doubt that the body found is that of the murderer.

Notice to Hunters .- We are again asked about the game laws. Here is the information in brief form :

A trap, net, snare or torchlight cannot be used in taking wild turkeys, ruffed grouse, pheasant, partridge or woodcock, or rail or reed bird or pinnated grouse under a penalty of $10 for each offense.

A Practical Joke .- For a good, crisp, fresh joke commend us to one of our gallant fire laddies, when he is in the vein of humor to perpetrate one. On Monday, at the picnic of the Friendship fire company, at Mont Alto, there was noticeable a large raw-boned woman, cleanly but commonly clad, standing on an eminence in the vicinity of the dancing platform observing the movements of the " trippers on the light fantastic toe." A wag belonging to the Friendship company stepped up to a pretty young lady of his acquaintance and whispered into her ear:

" D'ye see that person dressed in woman's clothes, with a child by his side ?"

"Yes, it's a woman, of course ?" " No !"

"What! do you pretend-"

"Sh-! It's a detective in female apparel-an officer here on the look out for Albright, the murderer !"

"G-o-o-d-n-e-s-s !-gra-!"

"Hush. Don't mention it to any one. It may spoil the man's plan of arrest," replied the fireman, highly pleased with the shape his ruse had taken, and to prevent a fit of laughter which he was trying to keep down in his mischievous breast, he slipped aside. Presently the curious woman began to call her lady friends : " Em, Sue, Kate, Jule ! Here, quick." The young ladies addressed appeared at the side of their friend in much less time than it takes to write

Cumberland County .- We copy the following from the Cumberland papers of last week :

Twelve acres of wheat, put out by George W. Stone, near Carlisle, pro-duced 586 bushels by measurement, or 400 by weight.

The children of Mrs. R. L. Sibbet were left alone in the house on East Main street on Wednesday evening and in some way a burning coal-oil lamp was thrown to the floor. The clothing of one of the little ones took fire. Her shrieks alarmed some of the neighbors and the floor were evidencibled with and the flames were extinguished with-out doing any serious damage.-Shippensburg Chronicle.

On Monday night the 11th Inst., the store of Mr. James Clendenin at Car-lisle Springs was entered and five pairs Itsle Springs was entered and five pairs of boots, some shoes, three revolvers, some callco, a lot of eggs, some tobacco and cigars, shirts, overalls, and some money stolen therefrom. The robbers effected an entrance by prying open the back door which was probably done by a carpenter's chisel which Mrs. Shearer a carpenter's chisel which Mrs. Shearer found the next morning in the road near the store. It is not known at what hour of the night the robbery oc-curred as nothing was heard or seen to awaken any suspicion until the store was opened next morning for business. It is supposed the parties committing this robbery live in Carlisle, as some suspicious characters were seen prowl-ing along the road in the direction of town, about two o'clock the next morntown, about two o'clock the next morning.

A Course of Study for Ungraded Schools.

[BY S. D. FARNESTOCK.]

It is a well established fact that in order to give system to school room work and to render teaching most efficacions, there must be a fixed or the system to school room work and to render the system of statistic and counties in this state, and several State in the West have adopted a course of study for ungraded schools, and the result generally has been quite satisfactory. The years ago a committee of teachers was amiliar course for the schools of Perry county,— This committee performed its work, but nothing there is been attempted. The consulting with teachers and school of focurse, somewhat modified, to the directors of the county, trusting is meet their approval, and that it may be adopted in every district in the county.

On Friday, Mr. Chas. E. Pugh, the General Superintendent of the P. R. R., Mr. Prevost, Sup't of the Middle Divis-ion, and Mr. Petit, the General Assistant Engineer, came to Duncannon and rode over the proposed line of the D. & B. R. R. They expressed them-selves well pleased with the route se-lected, except the point of connection with the P. R. R., which they think will have to be changed.

There will be a pic-nic held in the grove of William Lindsay, in Wild Cat Valley, about 14 miles east of Liverpool, valley, about 14 miles east of Liverpool, on the road leading to Centreville, on SATURDAY, August 23rd, 1879. There will be accommodations to suit the pub-lic. Able addresses will be delivered,— Bring your baskets along. By Order of the Committee.

A Remarkable Little Man .- Ellis Rhinehart, of Goldsboro, whose age is 22 years, height 3 feet and weight 48 pounds, was in the city a day or two ago, in charge of a resident of Goldsboro. The little fellow creates quite as much curiosity as Admiral Dot or Tom Thumb, and should be in the hands of Mr. Barnum by all means .- Harrisburg Patriot.

A False Report .-- On Sunday morning quite an excitement was raised by the report that Albright had been arrested on a freight train at Huntingdon. The train hands saw some man get into a box car at Baily's Station which they were certain was the murderer. It was a through freight that stopped next at Huntingdon to which point they telegraphed, and on their arrival had the man arrested, they in the meantime having locked him in the car. It proved however to be some other person.

A Mystery .- The Duncannon Record says: On Thursday last a gentleman who had been fishing in the Cove reported to 'Squire Vanfossen that he had seen a man in the river dead and partly decayed. A jury was summoned, a box got ready by the undertaker and all hands started for the dead man. But

The conflicting stories told by the girl make many persons think she had knowledge that the deed was to be committed.

Although Albright has been twice seen since the murder by persons who know him well, he has not been arrested. A number of persons in that vicinity are known to sympathize with him and to give him ald. On Wednesday Deputy Sheriff Gray, with a posse, went to scour the mountains where there is no doubt Albright is concealed, but after two days' search, returned without seeing anything of him, although he arrested Jesse Johnson, who is charged with concealing and aiding the murderer. Other persons will probably be arrested on the same charge.

The case as it now stands presents some curious features, and should the arrest and trial of Albright take place it is possible some singular developments will be made.

Later-Found Dead.

Since the above is in type we learn that the body of Albright was found on Sunday in a small cave called "Gerty's Cave." Some young men passing near smelled a peculiar smell, and it occurred to them that perhaps A. had committed suicide, and was concealed in the cave. Getting a pine torch they found a dead body which they succeeded in dragging out, though it was already badly decomposed, having evidently been dead several days. Esquire Howe held an inquest over the body, which by the

this movement of theirs.

"Girls! here, now, keep quiet. Want to tell you something queer."

"Yes, yes-go on."

"D'ye see that man up there, little girl at his side dressed in woman's clothes ?"

" Man, did you say ?"

"Yes; Sh-e! It's a man, a detective sent out here to catch the murderer Albright !"

The news now spread-although when the report started every one was enjoined to keep it a secret. Knowing ones, who had "gone up to the little hill to see the detective dressed in woman's clothes," winked at their friends when they came back, and said: "Oh, yes, it's a man in woman's clothes-bold, daring fellow ! might get shot for his rashness," etc.

The innocent cause of all this excitement began to feel uneasy, and asked one of the ladies: "Why do you all come up here to stare at me? Did you come up here to stare at me? Did you never see a plain country woman?" The truth soon became known, and every one who had seen the "detective in woman's clothes" was provokingly busy afterwards annoying his friend or neighbor who had seen him—how he looked, what he said and how he acted." It was a practical joke, well conceived and admirably carried out, with no in-convenience to anybody save the unsophisticated country woman who was annoyed with many questions for a time, which seemed all Greek to the innocent cause of a practical joke.— Harrisburg Patriot.
