"What becomes of dogs when they die?" was what a juvenile in Burlington asked his pa. "They go to the happy land of canine," his parent quickly replied.

A Chicago man has published a book telling how to be plump at pleasure. You don't need a book to tell you how to be plump. All that is requisite is to get fat.

"Landlady," said he, "the coffee is not settled." "No," she replied, "but it comes as near it as your last month's board bill does;" and that man never spoke again during the meal.

The man who goes fishing and sits in a cramp-inviting posture on a narrow thwart from early morning to dewy eve, and calls it fun, is the same chap that never goes to church because the pews are not comfortable.

"What's the matter, sonny," said a man to a youngster, who was tearfully rubbing his pantaloons as he walked along. "What is the matter? Got on the wrong track?" "Yes," was the reply. "Guess I did, way the old man switched me jes now."

An uncle recently found his nephew playing a violin, and the following hits took place: "I fear, nephew, you lose a great deal of time with this fiddling." "Sir, I endeavor to keep time." "You, mean, rather, to kill time?" "No, I only beat time."

An old bachelor being ill, his sister presented him with a cup of medicine. "What is it?" he asked. "It is an elixir asthmatic." Said she, "It is very aromatic and will make you feel ecstatic." "Nancy," he replied, with a smile, "you are very sister-matic."

A lady not accustomed to raising poultry, set a hen on some eggs, and in due course of time a brood of chickens were hatched. A friend coming in four days afterward, noticing that the little things looked weak and puny, asked how often they were fed. "Fed," was the reply, "why, I thought the hen nursed them."

A little boy had been visiting at the house of a relative, where he took some primary lessons in the history of American revolution, and how the Americans whipped the Britishers. The lad returned home full of the new subject, and at the tea-table said to his father; "Pa, be you a Britisher?" "Yes, my son. I was born in England."

"Well, we whipped you!" retorted the youngster.

A Sunday school teacher has a boy in her class who has not failed in his penny contribution for more than a year, and when he was found empty handed last Sabbath the teacher observed:

"Why, Johnny, did you forget your penny to-day?" "No, ma'am," he humbly replied, "but father says the Wabash Road will do this town more good than any fourteen Sunday schools, and I'm going to chuck my coppers into that enterprise for the next few weeks."

"Won't the heathen mias your penines?" she asked. "I 'spose they will, but we've all got to come right down or this town is busted."

Woman's Strategy. "Jack," said a pretty girl to her brother the other day, "I want you to do something for me—that's a good fellow."

"What is it?" growled Jack, who is the brother of the period. "Why, you know that wig and mustache you used in the theatricals?" "Well?"

"Well, won't you put them on and go to the concert to-night. Augustus and I will be there, and I want you to stare at me the whole evening through your glass."

"What?—you want me to do that?" "Yes; and as you come out you must stand in the door and try to slip me a note—take care that Gus sees you, too."

"Well, I declare!" "Because, you see, Jack, Gus likes me, I know, but he is awful slow, and he's well off, and lots of other girls are after him, and—he's got to be hurried up a little, as it were."
