THE GOVERNOR has appointed Mon. Henry Green, of Easton, to fill the vacaney on the Supreme bench caused by the death of Judge Woodward.

STILL no tidings from John Wise, though six days have gone since he sailed away from St. Louis in his air-ship, "Path-finder," amid the plaudits of a great-multitude of spectators. The balloon went up into the upper currents of the atmosphere and drifted toward the north-east. When last seen it was approaching Lake Michigan. It may have come down in the pine forests on the Canada side, which would account for the long delay of the aeronaut in communicating with his friends, but the belief is gaining ground that the veteran aeronaut has met the fate of his younger and more adventurous rival, W. A. Donaldson, who made his one hundred and thirty-ninth ascension from Chicago on the 15th of July, 1875. and never was seen again. Wise made four hundred and sixty-two balloon voyages without incurring any serious accident, although he made many narrow eacapes.

An Insult to the Presidential Party.

According to the Hannibal (Mo.) Courier, the presidential party, on arriving in that city fast Wednesday night. was rudely assailed by a few irresponsible persons with jeers and abusive shouts. The President, it is further stated, appeared on the platform of the car, but retired on this uncivil demonstration. Gen. Sherman, however, according to the Courier, responded to a call for a speech, and said :

"Boys, I em General Sherman. My home is in St. Louis, and I expect to live and die in your State. This is a glorious State, rich in everything that goes to make communities happy and prosperous, but I tell you that as sure as there is a God in heaven the day will come, and ere long, too, when Missouri will be peopled by dadies and gentlemen who will not insult the President of the United States when he comes within your borders."

Pennsylvania R. R. Enterprise.

To make good the promise that passenger trains will be running over the elevated rallroad of the Pennsylvania company from Fifteenth and Market streets, Philadelphia, by the 4th of July next it will be necessary to begin work Messrs. Keller & Goll, of Lanat once. caster, who have the contract for the masonry work for the bridge over the Schuylkill, will proceed at once and labor night and day, and Sundays also, to prepare for the superstructure. The bridge is to be what is known as the double intersection Warren girder, wrought iron, an old English style of bridge, improved somewhat by the Pennsylvania railroad and similar to the bridge over the Susquehanna river at Rockville and the one over the Delaware at Trenton. The superstructure will be 30 feet wide, to accommodate three tracks, two for passenger and one for freight traffic. The west span will be 144 feet long, and the other two each 160 feet, making the entire length of the bridge 464 feet. Concerning the elevated railroad itself, for the present or a few years at least but three tracks will be constructed. In after years the number of tracks will be increased. An official of the Pennsylvania railroad was recently asked whether a depressed road would not be better. The railroad man replied :

and comfortable riding, and perfectly safe."

It was also learned that the railroad company contemplates the erection of a monster hotel at the eastern terminus.-This is to occupy the plot of ground on the west side of Broad street, from Market to Filbert Sts. It will front on Broad street, and be set back fifty feet from the line of the street, so as to allow a wide pavement and to better show off the architectural features. It is to connected with the company's depot by light bridges thrown across Fifteenth street. Everything about the hotel is to be firstclass, and of course it will capture a large proportion of the travelers, being so convenient to trains and so situated, within five or six blocks of all the places of amusement and being directly opposite the City Hall. It is probable the Keystone Hotel Company will lease and run this house. As soon as Councils give their assert to the plans of the company the work will be commenced, and not less than two thousand men will be employed during this winter, if the consent of the city authorities can be secured in time.

An American Scare In London.

Owing to alarming rumors in the locality and also, it would seem, to direct complaints on the part of some of the neighbors, the premises occupied by the firm of H. K. & F. B. Thurber & Co., 115 and 117 Cannon street, city, were yesterday afternoon visited officially by Superintendent Foster and Inspector Carter, of the Metropolitan Police. It would appear, as far as particulars of the rumors and complaints are traceable to reliable sources, that many of the passers-by in this busy thoroughfare on Friday afternoon last were selzed with something approaching panic by observing in prominent letters the word "dynamite" on a large number of wooden cases then in course of unloading from a van. As may be readily supposed from the well-known fearfully destructive qualities of the article in question the passers-by did not linger on the way and the matter came to the ears of the police. Hence the official visit to the premises yesterday afternoon. The boxes in question, so far from containing dynamite, really contained comb honey, the entire lable running, "Handle gently as dynamite, as a drop of one inch will cause certain destruction to the contents." Such was the method taken by the American firm to direct special attention to the necessity of care in handling the boxes.-London Echo.

Farm Wages in Great Britain.

Lamentable as is the position of the agricultural laborer in Great Britain, says an exchange, there is a tendency toward improvement, thanks to the action of Joseph Arch and his coadjutors, and the gradual extension of the co-operative spirit to the farming population. On the whole, the remuneration of the farm hand in Great Britain has increased some thirty-five per cent. during the past thirty years, but his carnings in the southern shires are still thirty per cent. lower than the wages paid for the same work in the northern counties of

A Disastrous Fair.

ADRIAN, Oct. S .- Sixteen persons were killed by the fall of the grand stand at the County Fair yesterday. It is reported that about ten others will die from the effects of their injuries. Seventy-five persons were badly hurt and about fifty others slightly wounded.

The architect of the grand stand structure is the person blamed for the fatal casualty. The stand was built unusualy light, to admit of space for the exhibition of carriages underneath, and the timbers were simply spiked together instead of being morticed and braced.

A Dangerous Baby.*

There is a three-year-old boy in Lancaster county who may some day rival Jesse Pomeroy. On Tuesday he attempted to amputate the arm of an infant with a penknife, but fortunately its screams brought other members of the family to the rescue. He was not able to get through the bone with his pocketknife, but the arm was sadly mutilated, and if a surgeon had not been near by, the baby would have bled to death.

A Husband Explains.

A family at Solon, Ill., were astonished the other day by the receipt of a box containing the body of their daughter, who had not long before married in Missouri and had died there. Her husband afterward explained that she wanted to be buried at home, and he thought the family would know enough to bury her if they received her.

Coffee Thirty Years Old.

A Lexington, Ky., item says : When the inventory of the personal effects of Martin Smith was being made on last Monday a large quantity of the best Java coffee was found in a sack suspended from the rafters in the garret. It is the opinion of some of the neighbors that the coffee was secreted there over thirty years ago.

Cost of Putting up the Wrong Prescription.

BOSTON, Mass., September 30. - The jury in the supreme judicial court this morning, in the case of Emeline W. Wardell against E. C. Boyden and another for putting up the wrong prescription, gave the plaintiff $5,208 damages.

EF A poultry fiend which has for some time been operating disastrously among the Montgomery-county coops has at last been detected. A few days since the farmers formed a posse comitatus, thoroughly scoured the surrounding thoroughly scoured the surrounding country, and finally found the object of their search in a kind of lair in a neigh-boring woods. The victim of their hunt proved to be a she dog, which was preforming her motherly duties to a lot of pups. All around her lair was found innumerable chicken bones and feathers, which at once laid the guilt on the unlucky canne, and she was shot accordingly. accordingly.

"We considered that subject in all its bearings. An underground road, like the New York Central's approach to New York city, is always dirty and dusty."

"That may be true," was the reply, "but the speed with which the trains run through that half tunnel is great." "That is very true, but they do not run any faster than we will on the elevated road," retorted the official. "From the moment the train leaves the depot at Fifteenth street they will be running at the rate of forty miles an hour. The time to be consumed from the station to our present depot in West Philadelphia will be but one minute and a half. How is that for elevated ? Now it requires about fifteen minutes, if not more, in the horse cars to reach Broad street from Thirty-second street. It will be clean | and walked.

England and in Scotland.

Precisely an opposite state of things prevailed in the last century. In the southern districts of England the cottages formerly occupied by laborers under the system prevailing one hundred years ago have, in recent times, been pulled down by landlords and tenant farmers in order to lessen their share of the poor rates. The farm hands have thus been forced to crowd the adjoining towns and villages, and to pay extravagant prices for wretched accommodations.

In the north of England and southeastern countles of Scotland a converse policy is carried out. The majority of farms are provided with as many cottages as will lodge all the work people, who are thus secured in their situations against slack times, bad weather and casual sickness. As might be expected, those districts where this system of housing obtains possess an agricultural population superior for industry, intelligence, and general well-being to any in Great Britain.

What a Tramp Did.

The Dillsburg Bulletin says : The other day a tramp who has so far evaded the meshes of the recently enacted tramp law, was peacefully reelining by a straw stack in the barn-yard at Mr. Adam Emig's, on the Urich farm, near the State road bridge. Several young cattle, seeing their strange visitor, slyly approached and endeavored to form an acquaintance by smelling at him. Mr. Tramp, not liking this, sprang to his feet and gave chase to the young bovines, chasing them one by one and with a keen jack knife in hand, deprived them of a great portion of that member so useful to them in fly time. Having thus vented his spleen upon the innocent cattle, the itinerant took up his bed nearly frightened to death.

Thieves entered the house of M Van Nest, merchant at North Branch Sunday night, and got two suits of clothe and $80 in money. Mr. V. had $160 under his pillow, which he was going New York with the next morning, and ha taken from his pocket that night, when the thieves got the $30. Two or three other houses were entered, and sever articles of value taken.

A young man Floyd Brink, emplo ed by J. H. Ballard, of Huntley, McHe ry county, Ill., has been missing since th night of the 16th ult. Mrs. Ballar thought there were burglars in the house and aroused Brink, who searched th house without finding any trace of then He then took a lantern and went to th barn to search, and has not since bee seen, nor can any trace of him be disco ered.
